W. A. McConnell, who was one of Beechwood's highly esteemed farmers for a number of years, died at his home in Falls Creek at 3.00 a. m. Sunday, March 17, 1907. He had been in poor health for sometime. Four years ago he retired from farm life and moved to Falls Creek, but retained his farm. He is survived by his wife, four sons and three daughters. Funeral service was held in the Presbyterian church at Falls Creek yesterday and interment was made in the Beechwoods cemetery. Deceased was born Dec. 6, 1846, and was in his 61st year.

One for the Athletics.

The first basketball game in the championship series between the Reynoldsville Athletics and High School team was played in Park theatre last night and developed into one of the most exciting contests ever held there. The Athletics won 20 to 13, but had to play the game of their lives to do it. The high school boys were strengthened by Prof. Marsh and he proved to be a Tartar for opponents. There was plenty of ginger in the game and it was close enough throughout to lend uncertainty to the outcome of the remaining contests of the series.

Sykesville to be Incorporated.

Judge John W. Reed has granted Sykesville petitioners a decree of incorporation and that town will soon be a borough. All the exceptions in the case were dismissed at the cost of the exceptants. The first borough election in Sykesville for the election of borough officers, provided by law, will be held in the basement of the Knights of Pythias building in Sykesville on Tuesday, April 30, 1907, from 7.00 a. m. until 7.00 p. m. Judge Reed appointed Frank A. Moore judge of the election and William H. Stahl and David A. Smith inspectors.

A Concert that Pleased.

Few concerts held in Assembly hall have received more sincere words of praise than has been accorded the entertainers in the concert given Friday evening last. The program consisted of vocal numbers by Miss Anna Elizabeth Hughes, of Chicago, and instrumental music by Prof. W. W. Kiple, the violinist, with Miss Elva Coleman as accompanist. Miss Hughes possesses a fine soprano voice of wonderful tone and sweetness and the numerous encores attested the appreciation of her auditors. Two numbers, "Spring Flowers" and "Parla," were of exceptional merit. Prof. Kiple's ability is well known to Reynoldsville audiences, which never tire of listening to the melody of his violin, and the generous applause which greeted his appearance on the stage Friday evening is evidence of his growing popularity in musical circles.

Humorist Coming.

Mr. Gillilan, the humorist, a remarkable attraction, will be the fifth and last number of the high school lecture course this season. Mr. Gillilan will appear in Assembly hall Monday evening, April 1st. Seats will be on sale at Stoke & Feicht Drug Co. store at 8.00 a. m. Friday, March 29.

Thunder, lightning and heavy rain storm about six o'clock last evening.

DEAD AT AGE OF NINETY YEARS

D. W. Riston, a Resident of Reynoldsville Twenty-Nine Years, Died Last Wednesday Evening.

One of our highly esteemed and aged citizens, D. W. Riston, who had almost reached the four score and ten mark in life's journey, died at his home on Grant street at 8.30 p. m. Wednesday, March 13, 1907. His death was not unexpected, as he had been hovering near the gates of death for two weeks before his spirit took its flight. He had not been able to work for a year, but had been going to the cigar factory regularly every morning at eight o'clock, as had been his custom for so many years, until about five weeks ago, when he had a hard attack of the grip which finally ended his earthly career. He was conscious up until a half hour before he died, and was not afraid to answer to the summons of the death messenger.

Mr. Riston was born in Alexandria, Maryland, December 20, 1817, and was in his 90th year. April 4, 1842, sixty-five years ago the 4th of next month, he was married to Miss Nancy Cupples at Pittsburg, whom, with nine children survive him. In 1853 Mr. and Mrs. Riston moved to East Brady where they resided a quarter of a century and moved to Reynoldsville in 1878, residing here about twenty-nine years.

Mr. Riston was a man of good habits, excellent character and sturdy constitution, and, as stated above, he continued to be active in his accustomed pursuit, cigar making, long past the age at which men ordinarily drop out of the ranks of workers. He was a practical, matter-of-fact man, lived a quiet and unassuming life, but had his own peculiar way of extracting enjoyment from life as it went along, and he was not disposed to worry about things of an unpleasant nature that crossed his pathway.

He enjoyed his home life and it was very rarely that he was seen down town after supper. His spare time was usually spent at home instead of loafing in stores or on the streets.

Mr. Riston was a member of the Presbyterian church but was not a member of any secret societies. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Riston ten children were born, nine of whom with the mother, survive the deceased. They are: Mrs. J. E. Kirchartz, of Beaver Falls, Mrs. J. R. Young, of Wilkingsburg, Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, of Greensburg, Alex. C. Riston and Agnes J. Riston, of Reynoldsville, Mrs. L. C. McGaw, of Punsutawney, Mrs. M. E. Hayden, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. M. M. Cribbs, of Pittsburg, Mrs. H. W. Truitt, of Indiana, Pa., and one daughter-in-law, Mrs. Virginia Riston, of Braddock, widow of J. C. Riston, the son who died several years ago.

Funeral service was held at the family residence at 2.00 p. m. Saturday, conducted by Rev. A. D. McKay, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and interment was made in the Reynoldsville cemetery.

All the daughters attended the funeral and the following other relatives and friends: Mrs. Sarah Stewart, sister of Mrs. Riston, Mrs. D. C. McCombs, A. J. Cupples and daughter, of Pittsburg, Mrs. Virginia Riston and J. S. Riston, of Braddock, J. C. Hamilton, of Greensburg, J. E. Kirchartz, of Beaver Falls, sons-in-law of deceased, Miss Kittie Heldrick, of Brookville.

Mrs. Charles Arnold Dead.

At 11.00 a. m. Friday, March 15, 1907, Mrs. Charles J. Arnold died at her home on Brown street, West Reynoldsville, after six weeks' illness from heart trouble. Her maiden name was Catherine Steff. She was born at Summer-ville, Pa., August 21, 1856, and was in her fifty-first year at time of death. Was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Steff, both deceased. November 6, 1883, she was united in marriage to Charles J. Arnold, of Reynoldsville and resided here from that time until she died. She was Mr. Arnold's second wife and no children were born unto them, but she was a kind and good mother to Mr. Arnold's three children, first wife. Deceased was a good wife, kind neighbor and devout christian. The body was taken to Brookville Saturday evening, funeral service was held in the Brookville Catholic church at 9.00 a. m. Monday and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery at that place. Deceased is survived by her husband, three step-children, Misses Carrie and Marie and John Arnold, and five brothers and three sisters.

The following out of town relatives and friends attended the funeral: L. J. Arnold and wife, Lewis Brody and wife, Andrew Sander, of Dillswood, Mrs. Charles Hender, of Pittsburg, Andrew Byer, of St. Marys, Mrs. Catherine Smithbower and son, Peter Smithbower, of Patton, Pa.

Pomona Grange Meeting.

A meeting of Jefferson County Pomona Grange was held in the P. O. S. of A. hall at Reynoldsville last Wednesday. There were two sessions, forenoon and afternoon, and were both well attended, although the weather was unpleasant. There was an open session in the afternoon which was interesting. "Is woman's work on the farm harder, according to her strength than that of the man," was warmly discussed by both sexes, and the ladies put up good arguments in their favor.

We depended on the secretary for a report of the meeting and not having received it we cannot publish a full report of the meeting.

Dentists Association.

A number of Jefferson and Clearfield county dentists met at the Commercial Hotel at DuBois Saturday night and organized a dentists association. It is expected that the dentists of Elk county will join the association. Following officers elected: President, Dr. G. G. Lowry, of Brookville; vice-president, Dr. C. G. Hughes, of Punsutawney; secretary, Dr. F. B. Bell, of DuBois; treasurer, Dr. J. C. Boner, of Falls Creek; chairman executive committee, Dr. R. De Vere King, of Reynoldsville. Charles A. Kelley, of Buffalo, N. Y., president of the national association of dental salesmen, was present and gave an address.

Dr. Gibson is a graduate, (Doctor of Optics) from one of the best colleges, with long experience, and will be able to do good work. See dates.

Sevengala's Wonderful Feats Mystify an Ironton Audience Monday Night.

Sevengala, the hypnotist, opened a week's engagement at the Opera House, Monday night to a large audience. Sevengala's feats border on the sensational and his ready work last night stamped him as a hypnotist of power and ability. In securing subjects he was remarkably successful, thereby doing away with the exasperating preliminaries usually accompanying an entertainment of this kind. Many and varied were the feats of the hypnotist keeping the audience in the best of humor throughout the evening.

The transmission by telepathy, a feature of the entertainment, was successfully executed and was, in fact, mystifying. Sevengala's hypnotic feats are as good, if not better than any ever shown on the local stage.—The Daily Irontonian, Ironton, Ohio.

TWO TRAINS COLLIDE

ONE MAN INSTANTLY KILLED AND EIGHT INJURED.

Several Miraculous Escapes—Collision Caused by an Operator Giving Wrong Number of Train to be Met.

At 4.52 Wednesday afternoon, March 13, a head-on collision occurred between two trains on the P. R. R. at east end of No. 4 bridge, a out three miles west of Reynoldsville. The east bound engine was halfway across the bridge when the two engines crashed together with terrific force. One man was killed and eight others injured. Some of the men had miraculous escapes. Both trains were running at high rate of speed and were within three or four car lengths of each other before the danger was seen and only one man had time to jump off, and that was Fireman G. W. Hughey of the westbound engine and he rolled over and over down a steep embankment into the creek and under some logs. He narrowly escaped being drowned. Sylvanus Gillett, of DuBois, fireman of the eastbound train, was instantly killed, and W. C. Polm, of DuBois, engineer of same train, was terribly scalded on face and neck. Wm. Taylor, of Penfield, brakeman on eastbound train, who was riding on the engine, was thrown into the creek and was so badly dazed that he would have drowned had he not been rescued by Fireman Hughey and a brakeman. E. S. Vosburg, of DuBois, engineer on westbound train, had right leg badly injured and left eye blackened. James A. Armagost, of East Brady, conductor on same train, was badly injured on head and back and there was doubts about his recovery until Friday morning. S. A. Hullings and G. M. Campbell, of DuBois, brakemen on the trains, were injured. Out of the twelve men on the two crews, only three escaped uninjured. J. J. Corle, conductor on eastbound, C. H. Hatrick and M. A. Burkhouse, brakemen.

As soon as possible after the collision a train was run down to wreck and the injured men were brought to Frank's Tavern in this place and Drs. Nesler, King, Bower, Murray and Reynolds dressed their wounds. Conductor Armagost was taken to home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Armagost, on Jackson street, where he is yet. The men were a sorry sight when taken off the relief train. The body of Fireman Gillett was taken to Prieters undertaking rooms and prepared for burial. Thursday evening Engineer Polm and the other injured men were taken to their respective homes.

The trains that collided were an engine and caboose running as second section of the 4.25 p. m. westbound passenger train and the DuBois shifter. The collision was caused by error of an operator giving the wrong number of train that was to be met at a certain passing point.

Mrs. Fred Reed Dead.

Mrs. Lilla Taylor Reed, wife of M. Fred Reed, an erstwhile Reynoldsville citizen, died at her home in Washington, D. C. at 12.30 noon on Wednesday, March 13, 1907. February 23, 1907, a son, weighing 11 pounds, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Reed. The baby only lived an hour or two. Four days after the birth symptoms of blood poison developed in Mrs. Reed's system, and although everything possible was done to save her life she died at time stated above from blood poisoning. The body of baby had been buried in Greenwood cemetery, Washington, D. C. Feb. 25, and the little body was lifted and brought to Reynoldsville Friday morning with body of Mrs. Reed. Funeral service was held at home of J. Van Reed, father of the bereaved husband and father, at 3.00 p. m. Friday, conducted by Dr. J. A. Parsons, pastor of the M. E. church, assisted by Rev. A. D. McKay, of the Presbyterian, and Dr. A. J. Meek, of the Baptist church. Mother and son were interred in same grave in Reynoldsville cemetery. Hughes & Fleming had charge of the funeral.

Mrs. Reed's maiden name was Lilla Taylor, of Detroit, Mich. She was married to Mr. Reed July 12, 1905. They moved to Washington, D. C., in April, 1906, where Mr. Reed holds a position in the office of the supervising architect for the government.

Deceased was a member of the Episcopal church. She was an excellent woman, highly educated and refined. She visited with her husband in Reynoldsville last September and won a large number of warm friends here during that visit.

The following out of town relatives and friends attended the funeral: Mrs. Joseph Taylor, mother of deceased, Mrs. Henry Bodman, Paul and Kirkland Taylor, of Detroit, Mich., George Taylor, of New York City, Miss Mary Ketcham, of Syracuse, N. Y., Mrs. Henry A. Reed, of Chicago, and a number from DuBois and other nearby places.

Mr. Fred Reed returns to Washington this evening. He has the sympathy of his numerous warm friends of Reynoldsville in this time of bereavement and deep sorrow.
