High School Commencement Exercises Will Be Very Enjoyable-Contest Will Be Close.

The high school commencement xercises this year will be very enjoyable. The junior contest will be unusually good. Out of a class of twentyone juniors ten will be selected to enter the contest. The selections are fine and the contest will be close, as their is more of a spirit of rivalry this year than there was last year. The essays and orations for the class exercises have been corrected, learned and are ready for the occasion. The program for commencement is as follows: Juniors will give seniors a reception in I. O. O. F. hall on Friday evening of Baccalaureate sermon in the M. E. church at 8.00 p. m. next Sunday by Mr. Camden M. Cobern, Ph. D., D. D., of Allegheny College, Meadville. Junior elecutionary contest in Assembly hall Tuesday evening, May 7. Senior class play, "Esmeralda," in Assembly hall Wednesday evening, Punxs'y High School Too Busy.

What arrangements, may we ask, have been made for holding the annual literary contest between pupils of the High School departments of Punxsutawney, Reynoldsville and Brookville?-Punxsutawney Spirit.

Prof. C. J. Scott, superintendent of Reynoldsville schools, made a special effort to get Prof. Hammers, of Punxsutawney, and Praf. Downs, of Brookville, interested in an interscholastic contest, but they would not get interested. Their reasons (?) for not getting into the contest was that it required so much time and labor and that they are busy. Failing in getting the contest Prof. Scott tried to get up debating teams from Brookville, Punxsutawney, Reynoldsville and DuBois high schools but failed in that and gave it up. That is what arrangements Reynoldsville attempted to make for a contest.

Spirited Debate.

The debate between Dr. Henneigh, Dr. Raine, Thomas Enterline and Phineas Reed in the Sykesville M. E. church Friday evening last, on the question of the relative merits of the Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and McKinley administrations, drew out a good sized audience and proved a very spirited affair. The debaters were pretty evenly matched and kept the audience guessing at the outcome until the "learned judges" with painful deliberation handed in their decision in favor of Dr. Henneigh, champion of Linco'n for first honors and Dr. Raine, who pre-

BOILER EXPLODED.

Silas Dickey Killed and Three Others Scalded and Otherwise Injured.

A boher explosion which resulted in the instant death of Silas Dickey and the scalding and injury of three others, occurred at the saw mill of H. J. Case at Marshburg, Bradford Co., Pa., about 4.45 p m. on Wednesday, April 24, 1907. Silas Dickey, who was what was called the log-jacker, was at work in the boiler house when the explosion occurred and he was struck in the abdomen by a piece of iron and instantly killed. His body was terribly scalded from head to foot by hot water and steam. The saw mill where the accident occurred is located about thirteen miles from Bradford. The mill was badly wrecked by the explosion, which is described as being terrifie

Silas Dickey was the son of Alexander and Nancy Dickey, of Paradise, both deceased. He was about thirty-five years of age. He leaves a widow and one daughter, Hattie, who is about 11 years old. Deceased is also survived by one brother, Alexander Dickey, of Luthersburg, and three sisters, Mrs. Wm. F Schultze, of Reynoldsville, Mrs. M. D. McGee, of Eleanor, and Mrs. Ella Hilbig, of Panie.

Funeral was held at Marshburg Friday and interment was made at Lafayette cemetery. Rev. Moore, of Mt. Alton, officiated.

Mrs. Wm. F. Schultze, of this place. Mrs. M. D. McGee, of Eleanor, sisters of deceased, and L. R. Hilbig, of Panic, a nephew, attended the funeral.

Yes It Would.

The following anonymous communication was received last week, and while it is customary to consign such communications to the waste basket, yet on account of the nature of this one we publish it:

"If there is any possibility of a monument being erected in Reynoldsville in honor of the dead soldiers, as mentioned in THE STAR last week, would it not be wise to consider where this monument should be crected? If a conspicuous place on one of our main streets could be procured for this purpose, would it not add an attractive spot to our town as well as remind us more frequently of their endurance and hardships, than if erected in the suburbs of our town in the cemetery?"

If we had a public square or park or suitable place in the town for such a monument, THE STAR would advocate the erection of the monument thereon Will the author of the anonymous communication please suggest a suitable place for a monument? Please sign name if you have any more articles for publication. It is not necessary that name should be published but we must know author of communication.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a regular Council of Mazomania Tribe No 341, Improved Order of Red Men, held April 20, 1907, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: WHEREAS, It has pleased the Great Spirit to call from the hunting grounds of our fathers by hand of death our brother, Alfred G. Draucker, therefore, be it Resolved, That while we humbly submit to the Divine degree we fully realize the loss we sustain in the death of our brother.

APPOINTED TO STATE POSITION.

County Supt. R. B. Teitrick to be Deputy State Superintendent.

Twelve years ago a young man named R. B. Teitrick, who was then principal of the Brockwayville schools, concluded he would like to be superintendent of the schools of Jefferson county and he got after the office and was elected. At the time of his first candidacy the editor of THE STAR was favorably impressed with him and stated then that the directors of the county would make no mistake in electing Prof. Teitrick to county superinte seemed to possess the snap and ability to make a progressive man for the office he was seeking. Since his first election we have never had any reason to think we advised the directors wrongly in that election. The advancement in the school work in Jefferson county during his superintendency of eleven years, is proof positive that he was the right man for the position, and now his appointment to the state position is not only a recognition of Prof. Teitrick's capabilities, but it is a compliment for and endorsement of the good judgment of the school directors
