Run Trains to Fast.

Fast running is the cause of numerous railroad wrecks and the loss of many lives every year. The recent slaughter of thirty-two Shriners in the wreck on the Southern Pacific railroad at Honda, Cal., while on their way home from attending a conclave at Los Angeles, Cal., was caused by fast running. Who is to blame for fast trains, the travelling public or the railroad companies? We contend that it is because the people demand "flyers" that the railroad companies run them. We are living in an age when people become impatient riding in a train that only runs 30 to 35 miles an hour. They require a speed of 60 to 70 miles an hour. We don't believe that the people in general are any happier now than the people of half a century ago who did not travel half as fast as we do. If we insist on a speed of 50 to 60 miles an hour on the railroad we must expect frequent horrible wrecks. It is true that in some cases wrecks are caused by carelessness, yet were it not for the high speed of the trains the results would not so often be so horrible and loss of life so great.

TUBERCULOSIS OF BRAIN.

E. A. Gourley Died at His Home Last Night—Funeral Friday Afternoon.

Earl A. Gourley, blacksmith, died at his home on Grant street at 8.30 last night, May 21, 1907. Tuberculosis of the brain was cause of death. The last week in March Mr. Gourley went to the DuBois hospital to have an operation performed for a swelling on his neck, and the operation revealed the fact that tuberculosis was the cause of trouble. It finally reached his brain and soon ended his earthly career. Funeral service will be held in the M. E. church at this place at 1.30 p. m. Friday and interment will be made in the Falls Creek cemetery.

Earl A. Gourley was the youngest son of second family of Alexander Gourley, deceased. He was born at Valier, Jefferson county, thirty-three years ago, November 30, 1867, he was united in marriage to Miss Orpha Swartz, whom with two sons survive him. He is also survived by his mother, four or five brothers and several sisters. He was a half brother of Ex-Sheriff D. G. Gourley of Brookville.

Five years ago deceased moved to Falls Creek and went into the blacksmith business with a brother, W. G. Gourley. In the fall of 1905 they decided to open a branch shop in Reynoldsville and E. A. took charge of it. The partnership was dissolved several months ago and early in this year E. A. bought a property on Grant street and had a new shop built on rear of lot, preparing to carry on his work.

During Mr. Gourley's residence in Falls Creek he joined the Methodist Episcopal church and the Protected Home Circle, carrying $1,000 life insurance in the latter. When he moved to Reynoldsville he brought his letter to the M. E. church and was earnest and active in church work. A member of the Epworth League, member of the Brotherhood of St. Paul, teacher in Sunday school, and was faithful in his attendance at prayer meeting and the other church services.

Mr. Gourley was an upright and respected citizen. During his year and a half residence in Reynoldsville he and his estimable wife made many warm friends here.

STUMP BLOWER KILLED.

John Simmons, an Aged Beechwoods Citizen, Met His Fate While Heating Explosive.

John Simmons, aged sixty years, was killed by an explosion of dynamite Monday morning on the farm of John Prindle in the Beechwoods. Mr. Simmons was employed by Mr. Prindle to blow out some stumps. On account of the cold weather the old man found it necessary to take the chill out of the dynamite, so he built a fire and lay the sticks of explosive about it to thaw out. According to a little daughter of Mr. Prindle, the only person who witnessed the disaster, the fire began to spread and she saw the old man trying to put out the flames with his hat, when a terrible explosion occurred.

Mr. Simmons was killed instantly, his body, greatly mangled, being found about fifteen feet from the fire. One foot was torn from the body.—DuBois Courier.

Big Crowd Expected.

As has been the custom for several years the patriotic citizens of Beechwoods are making extensive preparations for the observance of Decoration Day. There is no other section of a country district where such a large number of people assemble on Decoration Day as they do in Beechwoods. When there was a call for soldier boys back in the sixties the Beechwoods settlement sent as large quota and as brave a lot of men as went forth from any other community, who on the battle field gave a good account of themselves. And now when Memorial Day comes around the people of Beechwoods surpass many larger places in paying tribute to the memory of the soldier dead. The Beechwoods Memorial Association has charge of the ceremonies for the day, and each year provides some able speaker to deliver an address in the afternoon. The people meet on the Association grounds at the Waite school house, near the cross roads, in the forenoon, form in line and march to the cemetery to decorate the graves of the dead soldiers. Then they return to the association grounds and group off in families and eat dinner. After dinner they assemble before a platform for the afternoon meeting of songs, prayer and speeches. Judge Harry Alvin Hall, of Ridgway, and Dr. A. J. Meek, of Reynoldsville, are the speakers for the afternoon meeting this year.

Headstones for the graves of old soldiers and sailors will be supplied free on application to the quartermaster general of the United States Army at Washington, D. C., and sent to any address. Heretofore the headstones were furnished free by the county commissioners, but the system was recently changed. The application must be made only on the first days of January, April, July and October.—Clarion Republican.

Not Much Coal in Beechwoods.

For a long term of years the farmers of the famous old Beechwoods of Jefferson county have been wondering whether or not there is coal, oil or gas, or something else buried beneath their lands which will some day be unearthed and make them rich. There have been several oil and gas excitements on in the Beechwoods dating from the time that the memorable well was drilled on the Ira Fuller farm, in the vicinity of Rockdale Mills, which was thought by many to be a paying gas proposition.

But all these years have been allowed to pass with nothing being done in the line of developing the field, so most of the people have given up the idea of either oil or gas in that community.

For the past three or four years, however, there has been more or less conjecture as to whether or not there is coal under the farming lands of this section, and there were a great many people who believed that the proper tests would result in finding of coal veins that would compare favorably with those in other sections of Jefferson county.

It is about three years ago that Samuel Crawford, who was formerly a resident of the Beechwoods, but now lives in Denver, Colorado, commenced leasing up the mineral rights of the Beechwoods in the hopes that coal in paying quantities might be found. It is understood that Mr. Crawford was successful in securing enough options on the properties of the Beechwoods to warrant the making of practical tests. These tests however, have developed the fact that there is no coal to be found in the Beechwoods, or at least not enough to make mining practical when there are so many other better and larger seams in the country, and the options on the property which were held by Crawford have been allowed to lapse.

With the prospects of oil, gas and coal gone, the farmers of the vicinity have commenced to content themselves with farming for a livelihood. Most of them have quit dreaming of the probable mineral wealth of their farms and satisfied that they have some of the best farming land to be found in the county.—Falls Creek Herald.
