STREETS WILL BE PAVED.

Portions of Fifth, Seventh and Jackson Streets and Swamp Alley Provided For with Possibility of More.

Within the next six months a large sum of money will be expended by the town council and citizens of Reynoldsville in paving portions of some of the most used streets and alleys of the borough. At the last meeting of council an ordinance was passed, and has received the signature of Burgess S. M. McCroight, authorizing the grading, paving and curbing of Swamp alley from the west side of Grant street to the east side of Gordon alley. This is the alley running between the Peoples National bank and Reynoldsville Hardware building on one side of Main street, and between the National hotel and Syndicate building on the other, and on it is located the municipal building. Council has already passed the ordinances providing for the paving of Jackson street from the end of the present paving at Seventh street down to Fifth street, and ordinances are being prepared, and will be put through as soon as possible, which will provide for the paving of that part of Fifth street between Main and Jackson streets and the section of Seventh street connecting Main and Jackson streets. All of these highways are heavily used and their improvement is a practical necessity.

It is through no fault of the local officials that the proposed paving of East Main street has been delayed. They had everything ready to push the work to completion, but the department at Harrisburg, through which comes the bulk of the appropriation, seems to be in a comatose condition just now and insinuations of graft, incompetencies and jobbery are rather numerous. But it is possible that the appropriation may even yet be received in time to allow some work to be done before next winter.

Last Friday the school board of Big Run let the contract for the erection of a $17,000 public school building. The board and architect after examining brick submitted by four different companies, selected the product of the Reynoldsville Brick and Tile Co.

Last Thursday evening a dozen members of the Washington camp P. O. S. of A., part of them belonging to the degree team, and four members of the Sykesville camp visited Washington Camp No. 206 in Reynoldsville and helped along the work of initiating a number of new members. The local camp of this order is growing rapidly, and its membership now totals about 125 persons.

Ed. Gray, of this place, has taken the contract to swing a six foot steel wire suspension bridge across the Sandy Lick creek at the foot of Fourth street, near the B. & P. station. The bridge is being constructed by the Point View Land Company and is primarily designed to bring Point View dwelling lots within a five minute walk of the business section of town. The traveling public will find it a very convenient thing in many other ways.

A new public road is to be opened by the Winslow township supervisors from the silk mill to a point near the Reynoldsville Brick and Tile Co. plant, thence over the Sandy Lick creek and over the hill to connect with another public road running past what was formerly known as Gourley's farm. At a meeting held in Reynoldsville Saturday the supervisors decided that only the portion of the road between silk mill and brick plant should be constructed immediately. A private bridge over the creek and road over the hill has been in use several years.

During the past two weeks Reynoldsville has been visited several times by inspectors of the State Board of Health whose mission was to make a survey of the Allegheny water shed, report upon the condition of the streams and upon the methods of disposing of sewage. Commissioner S. G. Dixon, head of the state health department, has under way plans of far-reaching importance for the purifying of the public waterways and prevention of pollution in the future. From present appearances it will be but a matter of a few years until it will be made imperative for all communities, tanneries, mills or industries to provide some method of destroying sewage or poisonous matter other than by emptying into some convenient stream.

G. M. Rea, who resides on a farm near the Kline school house, has arranged to start a new dairy and will make his first trip through Reynoldsville about the first of the coming month.

Tuesday of this week the Italian bank in Evans building, of which Carmine Marinaro is proprietor, was moved to the macaroni factory office. This move was made necessary by the growth of the macaroni business, which now requires nearly the whole of Mr. Marinaro's time and presence at the plant.

John Tompkins Fox.

John Tompkins Fox died at his home in Sykesville Friday, June 7, 1907, after an illness of five days from apoplexy caused by cerebral hemorrhage. He was born in New York October 18, 1844, making him 57 years, 6 months, and 19 days old. He is survived by a wife, and five children. Funeral services were held in the Sykesville M. E. church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial was made in Sykesville cemetery. Hughes & Fleming had charge of the funeral.

Fractured his Skull.

Luigi Lorenzo, an Austrian employed in one of the coal mines at Wishaw, was riding out of the mine on motor last Wednesday and happening to lean over to one side, was hit on the head by a projection and suffered a fracture of the skull. He died Thursday morning. Friday the funeral was held in the Reynoldsville Catholic church, the mass being celebrated by Rev. Father P. J. Lynch. There were over twenty-five four and five-seated rigs in the procession to the Catholic cemetery and they moved down Main street to the slow and solemn strains of a funeral dirge by the Keystone band, employed for the occasion. At the cemetery between two and three hundred friends of the dead man stood around the open grave as his remains were lowered from sight. Henry Priester had charge of the funeral.

Mrs. Cecilia Siff Dead

Mrs. Cecilia Siff, wife of William Siff, merchant at Desire, died at her home in that village at 10:00 a. m. Wednesday, June 5, 1907, after a long and painful illness caused by cancer. Twenty years ago she came to America and five years later was united in marriage to William Siff. In 1899 she came with her husband, to Desire and had ever since resided there. Her husband, with four children, the youngest but 10 weeks old, survive her, as follows: Samuel, Ralph, Gertrude and Deborah. The funeral was held at the residence in Desire Thursday, conducted by Rabbi A. Cohn, of Punksutawney, and burial was made in the Jewish cemetery at Punksutawney. The attendance of friends from Reynoldsville and Punksutawney was very large, attesting the high esteem in which the deceased lady was held.

Republican County Convention

The Republican County convention met in the court house at 2 o'clock p. m., and was organized by the election of C. Z. Gordon, Esq., as chairman and Thomas V. Hendricks, of Brookville, and W. A. Mr. Henderson answering to an imperative demand for a speech, made a fine address and thanked the delegates for their manifestations of continued confidence in him.

VETERAN OF TWO WARS IS NO MORE

Major Levi Epler Died Sunday at Age of 91 Years.—Had Fought in the Mexican and Civil Wars.

Major Levi Epler, aged 91 years, a veteran of the Mexican war, and of the Civil war, and one of Reynoldsville's most honored citizens, died Sunday June 9, 1907, at the home of his son, Charles H. Epler, on Main street. Burial was made in the Baptist cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

Levi Epler's life covered a wonderful span of American history, and it fell to his lot to share in the glory of two of the nation's greatest wars, and live to witness the nation's victory in a third. In the year James Monroe was inaugurated president of the United States, Mr. Epler was born on a farm in Snyder county, Pennsylvania. Left an orphan in mere childhood he was bound out and in his youth learned the trade of cabinet making and painting, learned habits of industry that stayed with him even to the last days of feeble old age. When he was 25 Polk became president, the Mexican war was declared and the young man, eager for adventure enlisted for service under General Winfield Scott. With Scott he made the memorable landing at Vera Cruz and was one of the gallant little band of veterans that fought their way over two hundred miles of hostile country, against overwhelming odds, to the ancient city of Mexico. The heroic names of Vera Cruz, Cerro Gordo, San Antonio and Churubusco, at each of which warm battles were fought, were familiar in every del-tel to Mr. Epler, who often told in after years the tale of how the gallant army wasted away to scarcely 6,000 men, finally fought their way foot by foot into the very palace of the ancient Montezumas.

Returning from the adventurous scenes of war, Mr. Epler went to Snyder county again, but in 1849 spent some time in Ohio, being married that year at Circleville, Pickaway county, to Miss Rebecca Wilbain. With her he lived happily for 28 years, until her death in Dec. 1877. Nine sons and daughters were born unto them, all but one of whom lived to survive Mr. Epler.

When the great civil war was precipitated by the firing on Fort Sumpter in April, 1861, all the loyalty in the Mexican veteran's heart awoke afresh and once more he rushed to the nation's capital to defend the old flag. At Washington, D. C., May 6, 1861, he enlisted as a private, in Company B, 6th Regiment Penn's Reserves, Volunteer Infantry, but was immediately promoted to first lieutenant and shortly after, January 11, 1862, was made captain. Under Col. W. W. Ricketts he fought with his regiment throughout the war and gave a gallant account of himself in some of the greatest battles in the world's history. Among others, Gaines Mills June 27, 1862; Groveton August 28-29, 1862; Second Bull Run August 30, 1862; South Mountain September 17, 1862; Fredericksburg Dec. 13, 1862; Danville Dec. 20, 1862; Bristol Station Oct. 14, 1862; Antietam Sept. 17, 1862; Gettysburg July 1-3, 1863; New Hope Church Nov. 28, 1863; and finally in the terrible Battle of the Wilderness under Grant where he received a severe wound and was confined in the Army Square hospital in Washington, D. C., for a time. After recovering he rejoined his regiment and fought with Grant in the famous attacks on Richmond until June 11, 1864, when he was honorably discharged at Harrisburg, Pa., by reason of expiration of his term of service.

The most distinguished service of his life was rendered in the Wilderness battles and on the 10th day of May, 1865, he was made Major by brevet. The order for his promotion, a parchment scroll bearing the signatures of President Andrew Johnston and Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war, is yet preserved in the home of his son, Charles H. Epler and is one of the most treasured relics of the military days of the old hero.

After the close of the war Major Epler returned to the quiet pursuits of industrial life. In Dec. 1879, he was married to Sarah Mumford and thereafter resided in Reynoldsville, following his trade. On March 19, 1902, he was left a widower and spent the remainder of his days with his son, Charles. Of a strong and vigorous constitution by nature, he retained great activity even to the passing of the ninety-fourth milestone in life's journey. He was the oldest veteran in Reynoldsville, probably in the county. His record was known to all and this, with his absolute integrity and upright character, gained the highest esteem of the community in which he lived so long.

The surviving sons and daughters are: William Epler, of Baltimore; Mrs. James McArthur, of Shamokin, Pa.; Samuel Epler, of Reynoldsville; Mrs. Orvil Harvey, of Shamokin, Pa.; Mrs. Lilly Moore, of Rathmel, Elmer Epler, of Baltimore; Charles H. Epler, of Reynoldsville; Mrs. Lewis Bassler, of Tanquet, Pa. Major Epler lived to see his descendants until the fourth generation.

The funeral of this gallant old soldier was held in the Reynoldsville Baptist church Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, conducted by Dr. A. J. Meek, and interment was made in the Baptist cemetery. The procession was led by the Keystone band, playing in muffled tones a solemn dead march and following them came the John C. Conser Post No. 192, G. A. R., of which the deceased was a charter member. A detachment of the Sons of Veterans walked by the hearse and military honors were paid the dead veteran as he was lowered into the grave. Six comrades of the war acted as pall bearers, as follows: E. Neff, John Griffin, Jacob Honninger, Simon Showers, Samuel Sutter, Francis Groves.

AMUSEMENT ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Queen of Arenic Exhibitions.

The fascination for the circus which begins in childhood and matures in old age is perhaps more pronounced in this vicinity than in many other equally populace communities. Hence whether it be the "Greatest show on earth" or the "Only show on earth" no matter what the atmospheric conditions are they are generally assured the most liberal patronage. As the managers of the different travelling organizations have gotten together and divided territory for their respective shows Reynoldsville will get the John H. Sparks Famous Shows on Thursday, June 20. With plenty of experience and ample capital Mr. Sparks has been enabled to perfect an exhibition that is satisfying to his pride and cherished idea. The proof of the above can be appreciated only by attending a Sparks performance. There is a flavor of novelty, freshness, dash, vim and ginger that stirs the audience to enthusiasm. The gorgeous free street parade will take place at noon over the principal streets and several free exhibitions will be given on the show grounds after the parade.

"The County Fair."

The local talent entertainment, Jefferson County Fair, to be given in the Reynolds Opera House June 20, for benefit of Helping Hand Society of the M. E. church will be the finest and most interesting entertainment ever given in Reynoldsville. This is a real County Fair with pumpkins, potatoes and cabbage on display and real bicycle races horse races and pig races. Plenty of fakirs will be there with their gold bricks and side shows. A real wild man and fat lady. In fact there will be attractions finer and greater than anything ever before seen in the county. Advertisements have been sent to all neighboring towns and counties and it is likely that there will be an unusual crowd in attendance. At any rate Jake Sprucey and his wife have sent word that they will be on hand and as they are related to half the people of Jefferson County the Sprucey family will likely have a reunion right in the fair grounds. Parson Briggs will be out to look after his flock and keep them away from the temptations which are bound to lie in their paths on an occasion of this kind.

Nolan Park.

The big harvest home picnic and carnival at Nolan Park on the Pittsburg, Summerville and Clarion Railroad, located between Summerville and Clarion, will be held August 14-15-16-17. Last year the carnival was a decided success, there being upwards of 14,000 people on the big day, which was Thursday. This year the attractions will be larger and better than ever and the train facilities will also be arranged to give first class service and at low rates. Look out for further announcements in columns of this paper.

Bids Wanted.

The supervisors of Winslow township will receive sealed bids for the construction of a public road from the end of Sixth street, near the Silk Mill, to a point where said road will cross the B. & P. Ry., near Brick and Tile Company's plant, until 9 o'clock a. m., Saturday, July 6th. Specifications can be seen at office of G. M. McDonald, Esq., in Reynoldsville. The supervisors reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

SILK MILL TO RESUME AUGUST 1

Provided Complete Transfer of Stock is Made by July 1. Guarantee Stock in Hands of The First National Bank.

M. G. Collins, head of the American Silk Company of New York, paid a visit to Reynoldsville Monday, met the holders of stock in the local silk mill in Centennial hall and among other things stated that if Reynoldsville shareholders take advantage of the offer made in the letter reprinted below, so that all transfers of stock, could be made by July 1, the mill at Reynoldsville will be put in operation August 1st.

The following letter, dated York, Pa., June 4, 1907, and signed by M. G. Collins, general manager of the American Silk Company of New York, has been sent to every holder of stock in the silk mill at Reynoldsville. "I have deposited at the bank of the First National Bank of Reynoldsville a sufficient number of shares of the 7 per cent preferred stock of The American Silk Company of New York to be exchanged for the stock which you hold in the American Silk Company of Reynoldsville. If you deposit your stock on or before July 1st, 1907, "When the holders of stock of the American Silk Company of Reynoldsville have deposited their shares, we will make arrangements to start up the mill at Reynoldsville, and operate it to its full capacity.

"The American Silk Company of New York is a corporation composed of men who are able to furnish all the money necessary to successfully operate all the mills which they have acquired, and their desire is not only to operate the Reynoldsville mill to its full capacity but to enlarge same if there is sufficient help.

"By exchanging your stock you not only receive a better security than you hold in a Reynoldsville company but you will help in an indirect way the entire city by making it possible to employ a large number of people in the mill at Reynoldsville.

"The dividend due the preferred stockholders of the American Silk Company of New Jersey, amounting to 3 1/2 per cent, will be declared and paid before July 1st, 1907. In addition to this 11 per cent, being three months' dividend from January 1st, 1907, to April 1st, 1907, will be paid in cash by the American Silk Company of New York. The American Silk Company of New York, preferred stock bears dividends at the rate of 7 per cent per annum from April 1st, 1907, payable October 1st.

"For terms and conditions as to the exchange, inquire at the First National Bank of Reynoldsville, Pa."

A certificate for 447 shares of stock in the American Silk Company of New York signed by Henry M. Haviland, president of the company, at a par value of $100 per share, is now in the hands of the First National Bank of Reynoldsville and will be held by the bank, as agent, until complete transfer of stock from the old company to the new is made. The bank is authorized to receive the old certificates, have them transferred and re-issued before surrendering the guarantee certificate, and thus perfect security is given the local share holders. Since receiving the above letter a large number of the local people have deposited their stock at the bank and it is hoped that all will do so by July 1.
