Frank Wagner, who was arrested at same time and found guilty of being implicated in the robbery, has not been sentenced. His sentence was held over until September 10.

The arrest of this trio was a clever piece of detective work by Constable W. I. Waugerman, of Soidier, assisted by Constable Perry B. Love, of Reynoldsville.

Alexander, cashier of The Peoples National bank, had been taken to the Mercy Hospital Tuesday night to be operated on for appendicitis. The operation was performed Wednesday noon and it was found to be a very serious case. Had the operation been delayed a day William would not have lived. He got along as nicely after the operation as could be expected, considering the seriousness of the case, until Sunday forenoon when his condition became alarming, and he remained in that condition until Monday night when the pus, or poison, began to localize and yesterday his condition was not considered so serious as it was Sunday and Monday. At noon to-day a second operation will be performed on William.

The coal is located about four miles from McGees Mills and is in a five-foot vein. When mines are opened to develop the property it is probable that a new town will be laid out.—Punxsutawney News.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

No Special Celebration at Reynoldsville, Yet Fire Crackers, Skyrockets &c., were in Evidence.

Notwithstanding the fact that there was no special effort made to hold a celebration at Reynoldsville July Fourth, yet there was a large number of people on the streets the preceding evening and forenoon of the Fourth, but the people were well scattered in the afternoon at family picnics, "neighborhood" picnics and neighboring towns. There was a boom, bang and whiz on the evening of 2nd and all forenoon of the Fourth and in evening of Fourth. The stock of fireworks was well exhausted in town before closing time on evening of the national holiday.

Reynoldsville has allowed two national holidays to pass by without holding a celebration. Surely such a thing will not occur next year. Let us begin early to make arrangements for a big Fourth of July celebration in 1908.

Stimulates Spirit of Improvement.
 In an interesting article on the advantages of street paving, the Scranton Tribune says: "The paving of a street stimulates the spirit of improvement on the part of the occupants of dwellings in that vicinity. When a good road is unpaved and in a disorderly or filthy condition there is little incentive on the part of the persons residing in that neighborhood to take pride in their surroundings. But when the street is paved and kept clean the people are invariably prompted by a desire to beautify their property. The laws are clipped and other evidences of civic pride are apparent almost immediately."
