Entire Edition Held Up.

The entire edition of the Kittanning Weekly Times was held up in the Kittanning postoffice recently because the postmaster claimed that an item in the paper was advertising a lottery. The postoffice department sustained the Kittanning postmaster and that edition of the Times was not allowed to go through the postoffice. The postal laws are very strict about this matter, and a newspaper cannot publish a notice of anything that has chance in it and send the papers through the mails. It is not even allowable to publish the name of a person who has won a prize in a game of chance or a lottery of any kind. A shooting match or any kind of contest where skill or ability is required, does not come under this postal law.

To Retailers and Consumers of Ice Cream.

On June 1st, 1907, the Dairy and Pure Food Commissioners passed a law regulating the manufacture of ice cream. It provides that it must be made in conformity with their law, and also that all dealers handling ice cream must have a written agreement from the manufacturer that the cream is made to comply with the late Pure Food Act, and in case of a failure on the part of the retailer to secure the agreement from the wholesaler the retailer throws himself liable to arrest and fine, which is $50.00 and cost.

We wish to add to the above that Christie's ice cream factory has printed guarantees which go with each bill of ice cream we sell, guaranteeing it to conform with the late Pure Food Act. This will relieve you from the strong arm of the law, and a failure on your part to secure this guarantee makes you liable. So beware and buy your ice cream from a factory that can guarantee it. W. S. CHRISTIE.

P. R. R. ENGINE SMASHED.

Train Due Here at 9.40 p. m. Ran Into Box Car Last Night.

The P. R. R. eastbound passenger train due here at 9.40 p. m. ran into a box car in the yards at this place last night and badly smashed one side of the engine. Fortunately the train was on time and was not running at the usual speed or the entire train would have likely gone down the embankment into the creek. Had the engine run a few feet farther it would have toppled over into creek. Engineer Charles Montgomery, of DuBois, and Fireman John D. Patterson, of Reynoldsville, had very narrow escape. The fireman jumped off the engine, but the engineer did not have time to jump after he reversed his engine and applied the emergency brakes. The passengers were shaken up considerably.

A freight train had pulled in on siding to let the passenger train pass and they had a box car to switch onto the back siding, and to be ready to pull out as soon as the passenger train got by the crew was shifting the box car, but the brakeman made a mistake and threw the switch for main track instead of back track and then signaled the engineer to back up and the box car was backed out onto main track just as the passenger train came along. The mistake was discovered too late to get the car in again before passenger train struck it. The engineer and fireman on passenger did not see the car on main track until they were almost on it. The engine and front trucks of baggage car jumped the track, but balance of train was not off. The box car was thrown over on its side.

The wrecking crew soon cleared the side track and trains ran through the siding and traffic was not delayed long on account of the wreck.
