PROGRAM FOR OLD HOME WEEK

AUGUST 19 TO 24, 1907.

So much has been said about the amusement features of Old Home Week that some may forget that the finest feature of the reunion will be the meeting again of old time friends of the early days of the village; the meeting of old schoolmates of the time of Bovaird, Pattison, Stamey and Hillard; the renewing of social and church friendships formed in the ministerial days of MacDonald, Peters and Bunce, of Furbay, Johnston and Reber, of Prescott, Williams and Dean and many others. A gentleman now well on in life is contributing liberally to help make Old Home Week a success because he attended a similar celebration at his old home in Marion Center last year and met a number of friends he had not seen or heard of since he was a school boy of fourteen. These are the things which make it worth while taking a trip over the continent to be present at an Old Home Week reunion.

The following program is not official. It is a general outline of what may be expected, though many features may be added in the next two weeks and some re-arrangement thus be made necessary. It should also be noted that this is mainly a program of the amusements. The reunion features and events, which will form the most enjoyable part of Reynoldsville's Old Home Week, are all to be arranged yet.

During the past week signed contracts were received from Harry Bretton, the manipulator of the flying automobile, and from Freddie Cunningham, the high wire walker. Both these gentlemen are on the program for two free performances daily.

An effort is being made to secure Hon. W. T. Creasy, the famed legislator from Columbia county, for a speech on Farmers' and Grangers' day.

Beside the committees previously appointed, the following, to superintend street decorating, was selected Friday: Harvey Deter, Frank Sutter, Roscoe Deible, Charles M. Dinger and Luther Harris. Among other things they were instructed to purchase large American flags sufficient to wave at short intervals on both sides of Main street from the bridge to the east end.

Business men of town should begin to plan for floats in the great parade on Merchants' and Manufacturers' Day. Some have already expressed their intention of having their business represented by unique and striking floats.
