Don't Buy Cheap Shoes

CHEAP shoes are never really cheap; the price may be low, but the quality is usually lower.

We sell shoes at as low a price as quality goes. But if you want extra good quality, see what we'll do for you at $3.50, $4.00 or $5.00. At that price we'll show you a Selz Royal Blue Shoe that's certainly the best shoe value you'll ever see for the money.

We know it will fit and wear well. Ask us about the foot-form last.

Glory Enough for All.

The cub reporter who "did" the parade for the daily STAR yesterday overlooked L. J. McEntire, who acted as one of the marshals in a creditable manner. He evidently thought Postmaster Burns was big enough to shoulder credit for the whole affair. It was a big procession and there's glory enough to go around, so here's to Mr. McEntire.

Camping on Jackson St.

County Commissioner McGaw and family, of Brookville, are in Reynoldsville for the week and have combined the pleasure of a return to their old home with a little camping experience. Mr. McGaw has erected a tent at his residence, corner of Jackson and Fourth streets and is staying in it.

Visitor from North Dakota.

W. H. Hoyer, of Bisbee, North Dakota, and J. S. Hoyer, of Cosburg, Ohio, two former residents of Reynoldsville who have not been here for twenty-two years, came to town yesterday to attend the Old Home Week celebration. They are glad to get back to the old town once again.

Pioneer Merchant.

L. P. Seeley, one of the pioneer residents of Reynoldsville, now located in Pittsburg, came here Tuesday to meet his friends of the long ago. A quarter of a century ago or more Mr. Seeley was one of the leading merchants of Reynoldsville and was one of the founders of the banking house of Seeley, Alexander & Co., now the Peoples National Bank and is still a heavy stockholder and a director in the institution.

Tug of War.

The tug of war between merchants of the west and east sides of Main street after the parade Tuesday resulted in a victory for the east side, commanded by Postmaster Ed. Burns. Lawyer G. M. McDonald headed the west side and at one time had decidedly the best of the argument. It's a good thing to have a friend handy occasionally however and that's why the east side won. For further particulars ask "Jim" Gillespie.

A Little of Everything.

Charles Schultz and wife, of Leelin, are visiting in town this week.

Miss Blanche Hewitt, of Penfield, is visiting Miss Fonda King during Old Home Week.

John H. Thornton, of Pittsburg, has returned to his old home town for a week's celebration.

J. H. Ross, of Beaver Falls, Pa., is here for the week. He was once a resident in Reynoldsville.

The public school building will be opened from 9.30 a. m. until 12.00 noon on Thursday, Aug. 22, for visitors.

Miss A. J. Worden and Miss Florence Worden, of Ashtola, are visiting relatives in town during Old Home Week.

The first newspaper published in Reynoldsville was issued May 8, 1871. John A. Doyle was editor and publisher.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held in The M. E. church at 8.15 to morrow evening. Presiding Elder A. R. Rich will be present.

The members of the amusement and privilege committees are the busiest men in town these days and are having troubles of their own in managing the concessions.

Norman Chittester and wife, and M. W. Chittester, former residents of this place who moved to May, W. Va., a few years ago, are spending the week with friends here.

Thomas M. Jewell, of Camden-on-Gauley, West Va., is at home of Lester Guthrie in West Reynoldsville. Mr. Jewell has been absent from Reynoldsville about 38 years. In his day the greater part of Reynoldsville wasn't here.

Mrs. Alice Foust and children, De and Daniel, of Brookville, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hicks, of Marchand, Indiana county, Mrs. Oral Eaton, of Sykesville, and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Silver, of Juneau, Indiana county, are guests at the home of Dr. B. E. Hoover.

If you have any guests during Old Home Week, if you have any item which you would like to see in Reynoldsville's first daily, let the Star's editor or reporter know of it. Many local people are going to save a copy of each issue of this Old Home Week bulletin and file it away for the benefit of future generations. If you know of anything worthy of preservation, have it inserted.

Fell From Street Car.

Miss Mary Nugent, a resident of the east end, fell from the steps of a trolley car about 2 o'clock this afternoon while the car was passing Dr. J. B. Neale's office on Fifth street. She clung to the car and was dragged a short distance before it stopped. Beyond a few bruises she escaped injury.

Aa One Time an Editor.

Lawyer Bencoter and wife, of Brookville, who were citizens of Reynoldsville about twenty years ago, are among the visitors in town today. Mr. Bencoter was editor of the Eye, a newspaper published in Reynoldsville in 1878. The Eye didn't twinkle long, but it was a very spicy newspaper. Ye editor was "devil" in the Eye office for Mr. Bencoter.

Band Concert To-Night.

The famous Keystone band of this place, one of the best musical organizations in this section of the state, will give a concert to-night after Brenton, the flying automobilist, makes his high leap in mid-air. Lovers of music will be given a rare treat.

Some Advertisements Remind You

Of an empty wagon going down hill, the lighter the load the greater the noise. We are not smarter than other people. Our money won't buy goods cheaper than other peoples money. People don't buy our goods because we claim they are worth double what we ask for them. They buy them on their merits and they know that what they see in our store and ads is so.

Performance Follows Promise

In this store just as surely as night follows day. No haphazard advertising, but store news faithfully carried out. Our ads faithfully mirror our merchandise of Clothing, furnishings, hats caps and merchant tailoring.

What we say is so, and the people believe us. A store and public pulling thus together are found to be of mutual benefit to each other. Every department filled with good first class goods. We invite you to call and investigate our goods and convince yourself.

Trusting that Old Home Week will give you the best time of your life and to have the pleasure of meeting each one and all this week.
