THOMAS MAXWELL DEAD.

Well Known Resident of the Beechwoods Succumbed to Old Age Infirmities.

Thomas Maxwell, one of the oldest and best known residents of the Beech-woods district, and who was one of the reliable and leading citizens of north Jefferson county, died at his pleasant country home above Westville at eleven o'clock on Tuesday night, Sept. 3, after a lingering illness, brought on by the infirmities of old age. Mr. Maxwell was always a rugged man, and despite the fact that he had reached the remarkable old age of four score and six, he was well preserved and enjoyed fairly good health until a few months ago when his last illness came upon him. Gradually the distance between life and death grew shorter and the end came not unexpectedly to those who lingered about the home and bedside of their aged father. Mr. Maxwell had spent a useful and honorable career, being permitted to live and enjoy the fruits of years of labors and toil after having been a potent factor in the development of the Beechwoods country from a virgin forest to a beautiful farming community, and he realized that the end of life's journey was near, and was ready to go when the summons from the Great Beyond beckoned him home.—Brockwayville Record.

Frequently Heard.

Frequently you pick up a local paper and, after glancing at it, wearily throw it aside, remarking, "Nothing in the old paper." Did you ever stop to think what that means? It means that no misfortune has befallen any one in our city; that no fire has wiped out a neighbor's worldly goods; that the grim angel of death has not crossed the threshold of a friend; that no man, driven by hatred or fear has taken the life of a fellow being; that no poor devil, haunted by the past or misdeeds of some other, has crossed the great divide by his own hand, and many other things that might have happened have not occurred. So, the next time you pick up any paper and its head-lines do not announce a tragedy, give a little thanks instead of grumbling because there is no news.—Exchange.
