THE SILK MILL IN OPERATION

Number of Employees Taken On Monday Morning and Will be Increased.

WILL HELP REVIVE BUSINESS

It will be good news for the citizens of Reynoldsville and vicinity to know that a few girls began working at the silk mill on Monday morning and that the number will be increased as rapidly as possible, and in the course of time the mill will be running at full capacity.

About a year ago the silk mill, then under the management of the Enterprise Silk Co., shut down and threw several hundred young people out of employment, closing one of our best industries.

J. W. Emig is superintendent and Geo. Lutz assistant superintendent of the mill. Both young men, who came from York, Pa., are thoroughly familiar with the silk business, having had years of experience with the silk company at York.

The mill will be run on same hours as under the Enterprise Co., 6.45 a. m. to 12.00 and 12.45 to 6.00 p. m., quitting at 12.30 p. m. on Saturdays.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Series of Social Affairs Follow Announcement of Approaching Nuptials.

About ten days ago at a meeting of the Ingelo Club at home of S. S. Robinson, an informal announcement was made of the marriage of Miss Nelle Robinson and Raymond E. Brown, Esq., which takes place this month.

Thursday evening of last week Mrs. T. F. Adam and Miss Christine Brown gave a "Progressive Japino" party at home of Miss Brown in honor of the soon-to-be bride. A fine luncheon was served.

Last Saturday afternoon, from 2.00 to 5.00, Misses Kathryn King and Elvie Coleman gave a "linen shower" for Miss Robinson at home of Miss King. There were nineteen guests present, all members of the Ingelo Club excepting several married ladies. The decorations were red and white, hearts being the most conspicuous design.

The entertainment was "Heart Hunting" and "Game of Hearts." In the heart hunting contest Mrs. P. A. Cashman won the prize. Dainty luncheon was served.

Parsons; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. C. McEntire; treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Stephenson.

Mrs. Alferetta M. Devine, of Roife, Woman's Relief Corps inspector, was to have inspected the Corps at this place Monday night, but she failed to materialize. The ladies had arranged for ice cream, cake, coffee, etc., after the inspection and were somewhat disappointed because Mrs. Devine did not come, but the disappointment was not great enough to prevent them from "getting away" with the refreshments.

The westbound "fyer" on the P. & E. was wrecked near Johnsonburg Sunday morning, caused by spreading of rails. The engine and baggage car did not jump the track, but two day coaches and four Pullman cars were wrecked. Walter B. Reynolds, of Warren, who came to Reynoldsville Sunday and returned Monday, says the cars were badly damaged. None of the passengers were injured except one boy, whose face was cut by broken glass from a window.

DIED IN ALLEGHENY HOSPITAL.

Convalescing From Typhoid Fever was Operated on for Appendicitis.

Miss Maude Blanche Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Smith, of Pleasant avenue, died in the General Hospital, in Allegheny City Saturday forenoon, October 5, 1907. In May Miss Smith went to Pittsburg to accept a position, in June was stricken with typhoid fever and was taken to the General Hospital in Allegheny City. She was convalescing from the fever, but was not able to leave the hospital, when she began suffering from a bad case of appendicitis. An operation was performed Friday afternoon and she died the following forenoon. J. Morris Smith and Thomas Smith, brothers of deceased, went to Pittsburg Saturday and brought the body home on the 12.50 p. m. train on the P. R. R. Sunday. Funeral service took place at the family residence on Pleasant Avenue at 2.00 p. m. yesterday, conducted by Dr. A. J. Meek, pastor of the Baptist church, and interment was made in the Reynoldsville cemetery. Hughes & Fleming had charge of the funeral.

Maude B. Smith was born in Oliver township, Jefferson county, Pa., July 31, 1883, and was 24 years, 2 months and 6 days old at time of death. She had a sweet disposition and, consequently, had many friends. She will be greatly missed from the family circle.

Maude is survived by her parents, six sisters and six brothers, as follows: Mrs. W. N. Trussell, of Clarion, Mrs. Thomas McPherson, of Yatesboro, Mrs. Will Graham, of Allegheny, Mrs. Clint McPherson, (who starts for Panama on the 21st inst., where her husband is employed), Misses Emma and Anna Smith at home, Will Smith, of Big Run, J. Morris Smith, of Reynoldsville, Pilgrim Smith, of Wellsville, Ohio, Thomas Carl and Ralph Smith at home.

Martz Fleming.

Frank Martz and Miss Ida Fleming, of Emerickville, were married at the Presbyterian parsonage in this place on Wednesday evening, Oct. 2, 1907, by Rev. A. D. McKay. Mr. and Mrs. Martz went to Washington, D. C., and Jamestown Exposition on a wedding trip. The groom is son of John Martz and bride a daughter of Isaac Fleming, a sister of Mrs. Robert Z. Parrish, of Reynoldsville.

Miss Breakey to Wed.

Miss Mattie Breakey, who clerked several years in the store of her brother, D. H. Breakey, in this place, will be united in marriage at high noon to-morrow, Thursday, October 10, to Lewis Ellis, of Long Island, Kan. The wedding will take place at home of bride's brother, William Breakey, on the old homestead near Stanton. D. H. Breakey and wife, of this place, will attend the wedding and family reunion, which will be held at the same time.

Died Sunday Night.

Iva B. Walk died at home of her step-father, Joseph S. Johnson, at Rathmel Junction at 10.00 p. m. Sunday, October 6, 1907, from cancer of the womb. She had been a sufferer for a number of months. One year ago Sunday Mr. Johnston took her to the Mercy Hospital for an operation, but the doctors refused to perform an operation, claiming it would be no use. For nine months Mr. Johnston has spent his entire time in taking care of Iva. She was a patient sufferer. She was born in DuBois 26 years ago. Funeral service will be held at the Baptist church at 2.00 p. m. to-day, conducted by Dr. A. J. Meek, and interment will be made in the Reynoldsville cemetery.

Moved to Farm.

L. G. Lidle, who had been in the hardware business in Reynoldsville seven years, has sold out his entire stock, closing out last week by auction, to retire from the hardware business. Mr. Lidle moved onto a farm near Rathmel last spring and he expects to devote his time to farming for benefit of his health. The close confinement in the store did not agree with him. We hope that tilling of the soil may restore him to good health again.

Mrs. Levi Cable Dead.

Mrs. Frances Cable, wife of Levi Cable, died at her home near Emerickville Saturday morning, October 5, 1907, and was buried in the Lutheran cemetery at Emerickville Monday forenoon. Rev. J. W. Myers, of Reynoldsville, conducted the funeral service. Hughes & Fleming had charge of the funeral. Mrs. Cable was 74 years and 9 months old. She was ill six weeks. She is survived by her husband, three sons and one daughter.

Ladies!

You are invited to call at Flo Best's millinery store Wednesday, Oct. 9, and see a beautiful line of trimmed hats for fall.

On account of my leaving Reynoldsville I expect all parties indebted to me to call and make payment before Oct. 10th, 1907. All accounts not paid on that date will be left for collection. C. F. Hoffman.

CONSTITUTION WAS ADOPTED

"The Hub Club" Has a Busy Session and Outline Work for the Future.

WILLIAMS PRESIDENT PRO TEM

The Business Men's Association still survives. It has an official name, a constitution and set of by-laws and $18.42 in the treasury.

That is not so bad for a starter. In fact it is doing wonderfully well when you consider how the rain was coming down last Thursday evening. Most important of all, if the Punxsutawney Spirit may be believed, Omnipotence itself is taking a hand in the game by showing prodigies in the heavens for the town's special encouragement.

However that may be, there is no doubt whatever that the association is gaining strength and the work which it has laid out for itself becoming more definite in its scope. The members too are growing more familiar and the sessions sometimes resemble more the social gatherings of a club than the formal procedure of a business board. There is nothing under heaven that this restless bunch of boosters wouldn't tackle if they thought it worth while. For instance when they came to select a name for the newly organized board Thursday night there was some solicitude expressed lest the name might be longer than the life of the association. That led Jarvis Williams to remark that the name of the town was too long anyhow and ought to be shortened. Some one else noticed a rudely drawn map hanging back of the president's chair showing Reynoldsville to be the natural center of the wheel, the radiating spokes of which run to Punxsy, DuBois, Brookville and other towns, and he suggested that we rechristen the old town "The Hub." In that case the name of the club would have naturally been "The Hub Club," but not wishing to cause Uncle Sam's postal authorities and the Pennsylvania Railroad's schedule makers too much trouble, they finally decided to let the city worry along with its present name yet a little while.

But with all its fun and good spirits the association is in earnest in its purpose and the constitution adopted after much debate Thursday evening outlines a system of progressive town booming that will not only include the industrial development of the city, but try to enlist the ladies of the community in work for the town's betterment. In past years a number of excellent organizations have existed for a time among the women, and it is now hoped that with a central organization to direct and back up with sufficient funds, the plans, the societies can be revived and made to do an important work.

The constitution was presented and read by G. M. McDonald and had been originally prepared for the Board of Trade partly organized last winter. In the main it was adopted as read, the most important amendments being in regard to the initial membership fee, which was placed at three dollars, and in regard to an executive board of eleven, instead of seven, as at first planned. One thousand copies of the constitution and by-laws were ordered printed and will be distributed among the citizens of Reynoldsville, thus giving everyone the privilege of examining at leisure the aims and methods of the new organization. Afterwards a systematic effort will be made to secure the co-operation of all citizens.

Immediately after the adoption of these important articles, four gentlemen, G. M. McDonald, J. W. Emig, M. E. Weed and D. H. Breakey, paid to the secretary the initial membership fees of three dollars each and thus secured the honor of being the first paid members of the new organization. The association will meet again Thursday evening of this week in the Old Home Week rooms in the Big-Stoke building and if there is a business man or citizen in town who has not yet shown his interest in the town's welfare by his presence, drop in for a while that night.

In the absence of President Gillespie Thursday evening, the chair was filled by Joe Williams and C. R. Hall, successively.

Attention Firemen!

A meeting of the fire company will be held at the hose room at 8.30 this, Wednesday, evening. All members are requested to attend and take gum coats and helmets with them. Any persons in town having coats and helmets who do not belong to the fire company and do not expect to be active members, are requested to turn in the coats and helmets.
