

Death of J. M. Sutter.

J. J. Sutter and family, F. O. Sutter and wife and Lawyer C. W. Flynn and wife were at Punxsutawney Monday attending the funeral of John M. Sutter, brother of J. J. Sutter, who died at his home in Punxsutawney at 11.00 a. m. Saturday, October 19, 1907. Pneumonia was cause of his death. He was 59 years old. He was born near Covode, Indiana county, and moved to Punxsutawney about 45 years ago. Deceased was a blacksmith by trade and the past four years had been head blacksmith in the Punxsutawney Foundry and Machine shop. He was a consistent and faithful member of the M. E. church. Is survived by a widow, one daughter, four brothers and two sisters. The Punxsutawney Spirit, in giving a sketch of his life said:

"Mr. Sutter was not only a model and thorough workman, but these traits were carried out in all of his family and social relations. His relations with all with whom he came in contact were such that there are none to reproach or say aught against his character, integrity or manhood. Honorable, upright, just and irreproachable, J. M. Sutter departs this life leaving behind him a name and reputation that will endure as the most valued heirloom of his descendants."

Glendale.

Fred and Walter Moore are trying their new potato digger and think it a fine way of digging potatoes.

John Burtop raised his potatoes last week and there were a large number rotten. The potato crop is poor in most places around here.

Guy, Laura and Mary Newcome expect to attend the wedding of their cousin, Miss May Means, this week.

Mrs. Walter Moore spent part of last week with her parents at Rockdale.

Mrs. J. R. Moore is having a nice visit with her sister from Indiana. They had not seen each other for about fifteen years.

Mrs. Alice Moore is numbered among the sick. Hopes she will soon be able to be around.

The Merry Opera of "The Toymakers."

That celebrated company of merry-makers, "The Jollities," will be the attraction at the Park Theatre November 5 and it is predicted that no one in this town will miss "The Toymakers," that new side-splitting, musical absurdity which was written by Charles Felton Pidgin, the author of that famous book "Quincy Adams Sawyer" which was read and talked about as "the best New England story ever written." Mr. Pidgin has written both book and play and every one should read this amusing story if possible before seeing "The Toymakers." Years ago in Merry England "The Toymakers of Nuremberg" was adapted from the German and under the name of "Dolly" was sung by Mme. Rudersdorf, the gifted mother of Richard Mansfield, making a great success over there. Now Mr. Pidgin is Chief of the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics, he is simply brimming over with fun and dry humor which he knows how to serve up to the public in a most satisfying manner.

The HUB

Has it ever occurred to you that Reynoldsville is the natural center of a district thirteen miles in radius? And that within this territory is a population of nearly sixty thousand people?

Look at the map—the one above or any other—and draw your own conclusions. We are THE HUB and if we do not assume our natural position as a distributing center for the territory it will be through supine negligence of our citizens.

The town will be what we make it. Are you helping to boom it, helping to make the town greater and yourself richer? Or are you sulking in your home, cussing the mistakes of the past and caring not a continental whether the old town lives or dies?

Stop it. We have made some egregious blunders in the last few years, but there is an old Spanish proverb worth remembering:—

"We never get such good value for our money as when we are cheated, for at one stroke we purchase PRUDENCE."
Reynoldsville knows.

There is an organization in Reynoldsville composed of gentlemen with a hustle that never comes off. It is called the Business Men's Association—but it should have been called the Citizens' Club. It wants your assistance, the aid of every property owner and of every citizen who wants to see Reynoldsville grow.

It makes no extravagant claims—asks but little in the way of money. It's members simply propose to do all in their power to take advantage of every opportunity that presents to build up the town. After the organization is fully completed they will always have at their command a few hundred dollars for immediate use, and this reserve fund may be the means of landing many an enterprise in Reynoldsville.

As an instance of what a live organization of this kind can do, the case of Elmira may be cited. In the last few years about sixteen new industries have been located in that city through the efforts of their "Fifty Thousand Club."

The new association has every chance of surviving. It already has on its membership roll about twenty-five of the leading business and professional men of town and nearly as many more have expressed a willingness to sign if one objectionable feature in the by-laws is eliminated. The chances are that it will be changed and if so there is every probability that the membership will spring to two or even three hundred. If it does it will become the mightiest power for rebuilding the town that this generation has witnessed.

Citizens! Knowing the promise of the town, seeing an organization already more vigorous than any past attempt, knowing the wonders that may be accomplished by united effort—will you not join in this movement? Forget the mistakes and dreary failures of the past and just once more make an earnest, honest effort to push the town to the front.

The Association meets every Thursday evening in the Old Home Week headquarters over the Bing-Stoke Co. store. If there is any feature of the society you object to, state in good plain English and by the united council of the citizens we shall finally mould an association which will endure and grow in power and usefulness with each succeeding year.

For your own sake and the town's sake, join in.

Picture of Andersonville Prison.

During a few days of the past week there was a remarkable picture on exhibition in Hughes & Fleming's display window and hundreds of people stopped to examine it. It was a hand-drawn sketch of Andersonville Prison as it appeared during the awful period of 1863-4, representing in detail the exact appearance of the interior, crowded with half-famished men, and the surrounding country as well. There are several veterans in Reynoldsville who experienced the terrors of that prison and to them the picture must have been an exceedingly vivid reminder of their sufferings. Enough was visible even to the casual observer to inspire pity. The rude huts, the holes in the ground, and other devices the prisoners used for shelter, the single stream of water running through the valley, the high palisades and armed guards were all depicted. Outside the palisades appeared the nearby forest, the railroad and sentries of the Confederates. The picture, which is very large is the property of Joseph Shaffer. Since he has taken it to his home many people have expressed a desire to see it, and he will take pleasure in showing and explaining it to any who may call at his home in the evenings.

Do You Want to Make The Women Happy?

Shopping by Mail is vastly unsatisfactory to the Female.

There isn't a woman in Christendom—or in Islam—who doesn't prefer ten times over the trip through a store to the trip to the postoffice.

Why, Lord bless their hearts, the ladies love to shop! It's just as unsatisfying and artificial to shop by mail as to make love by mail—and that's the limit.

But, while the women love to walk through aisles of bargains, they love also to read about the bargains. When a newspaper comes to the house, which page does the woman peruse first? The page with the biggest shopping ads. Sure thing! Won't fail one time in ten. Test it and see.

In communities where the merchants don't advertise big enough to tempt the women, what happens? The Mail Order Catalogue comes along, full of attractive ads., with prices put down in black and white. The women read the catalogue; they are tempted by the bargains offered; they send their money by mail.

Thus they miss nine-tenths of the glory and joy of shopping. But what else can the poor ladies do?

Now, Mr. Merchant of Our Town, be good to the ladies. Give them some interesting reading matter. Print some of your bargains in your home paper. Put the prices there in black and white.

Isn't it really a pity to deprive the ladies of one of their supreme delights—shopping, seeing things, inspecting before taking?

BE GOOD TO THE LADIES AND YOU'LL BE PROSPEROUS.
