

FOR COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT.

Prof. John F. Conrad Will be a Candidate for This Important Position.

Prof. John F. Conrad, a former teacher in the public schools of Brookville, now principal of the Punxsutawney High School, was among our callers during the past week. Prof. Conrad, although an exceedingly busy man, is finding a little time between school sessions in which to present himself to the directors and patrons of the schools of the county as a candidate for county superintendent to succeed the incumbent, Prof. L. Mayne Jones, who is now filling out Prof. R. B. Teitrick's unexpired term through appointment, and whose successor will be elected by the school directors of the county next June. Prof. Conrad was a candidate for this position two years ago, and although the decision at that time was against him, his address before the directors' convention was a graceful acceptance of the verdict, and a promise that he would again enter the contest at this time.

Since the directors' convention of two years ago Mr. Conrad's position as an educator has received a handsome indorsement in his election to the principalship of the Punxsutawney High School, this action following the consolidation of the boroughs of Punxsutawney and Clayville, in the schools of which latter town he had served as principal for a number of years, and he now comes before the directors of the county with a record of service second to none in the county. Personally, Prof. Conrad is too well known throughout the county to need extended introduction. He is a young man of character and ability who has devoted his entire life to the problems of school work and who is qualified by temperament and training to make a successful county superintendent, and should he be called to this important work the high standard of educational achievement in Jefferson county attained by his predecessors would in no wise deteriorate under his administration.—Brookville Republican.

WILL BE A CANDIDATE.

Mr. W. C. Murray Seeks Republican Nomination for County Treasurer.

Ex-County Commissioner W. C. Murray, of Reynoldsville, was in town on Friday, and while here he made the announcement to a number of his political friends that it was his intention to enter the contest for the Republican nomination for County Treasurer at the primary election next year. Mr. Murray is no stranger to the people of Jefferson county. His first appearance in public life in the county was in 1897, when he was appointed County Commissioner to fill a vacancy in the board caused by the death of his father, V. S. Murray, and he performed the exacting duties of the office so acceptably and well that he was nominated and elected as his own successor for the succeeding term. Since his retirement from the Commissioner's office four years ago, Mr. Murray has resided at Reynoldsville, where he has been giving close attention to and meeting with good success in various business enterprises. With the excellent reputation that Mr. Murray bears for efficiency and trustworthiness, together with his extended acquaintances and the influence of his many warm friends in all parts of the county, he will at once assume a leading position among the aspirants for the office he seeks, and promises to give his competitors a hard but honorable contest for the laurels.—Brookville Republican.

A GROWING SENTIMENT.

Disposition of the People is to Reward a Faithful Servant.

Just now there is a general feeling, that, in the public service, work faithfully and well performed should be rewarded. This spirit is manifest in the demand for the re-nomination of President Roosevelt for the third term—a demand which keeps the popular executive busy with his refusals to consider the proposition and which goes to show the desire on the part of the people to cling fast to that which they know is good. The idea that public office is a chatel, to be passed around to as many people as possible, is not as popular as it was some years ago, the voters having come to realize that but a small percentage of the population, at best, can ever serve in a public position, and that it is the part of wisdom in public service, as in private business, to hold fast to an employee who has proven himself capable, and who has demonstrated himself to be possessed of those principles and fairness and justice necessary to make him an ideal public servant. This observation is brought about at this time through the announcement by our popular Sheriff, Grant Scheafnocker, of his intention to seek the Republican nomination for county treasurer at the primary election next April. Mr. Scheafnocker is now serving in the position of Sheriff, by virtue of an election by the people, and in the conduct of the affairs of his office he has been uniformly able, courteous and obliging—a real servant of the people and anxious to do their bidding. There has been about him none of the arrogance of the perpetual office-holder and his ambition to be named as treasurer at this time will find many supporters among those who believe that faithful service should be rewarded. Mr. Scheafnocker proposes to make an active campaign in the presentation of his case to the voters and his marked personal popularity and official friendships will make him a formidable candidate for the position to which he aspires.—Brookville Republican.

A Candidate for Treasurer.

Mr. W. H. Bell, of Reynoldsville, one of the good Republicans of the county who is interested right particularly in what is going to be done with the Republican nomination for county treasurer, at the regular nominating election next April, his name having been quite generally used among those of the leading candidates for that nomination, was in town on Friday and favored the Republican with a friendly call. It is pleasing, indeed, to refer to our young Reynoldsville friend as being a Republican of the best sort, one of those royal good fellows who is bound to break away from his every day duties in order to do some thing for his party and his friends, and it is safe to say that should the nomination for county treasurer go to him next April, it will be but a fitting reward for his loyalty and devotion to the grand old Republican party, and his record as one of Reynoldsville's enterprising citizens.—Brookville Republican.

'I'm Married Now.'

"I'm Married Now," the new musical farce with the popular comedian, Geo. F. Hall, in the role of William Howdy, the millionaire hobo and gay old sport, in which he is credited with a notable hit, will be the attraction at the Park Theatre Tuesday evening, December 23. It is to the clever work of Mr. Hall and the specialties introduced by the capable company that "I'm Married Now" owes its popularity. The audience is kept in good humor over the complicated mix-ups of the play, which rests heaviest on the shoulders of William Howdy, played by George F. Hall, though the other characters of the play are much in evidence. There is enough humor in the lines and incidents to cause laughter for days afterwards.

J. S. Cooper for Commissioner.

J. S. Cooper, of Brookwayville, Republican candidate for nomination for county commissioner, was in town Monday and called at THE STAR office. Mr. Cooper, who was a candidate three years ago and got a large vote, but not sufficient to win the nomination, is a stronger candidate now than he was the other time, and he feels confident that he will be one of the nominees next April. He was well pleased with the encouragement he received at Reynoldsville Monday.

In order to have their names printed on the official ballots, persons desiring to be candidates for any borough or township office must file their petition, signed by ten qualified electors of the district, with the County Commissioners on or before Saturday, January 4th, 1908.
