WOMEN REVIVE PANAMA HAT.

strong inclination to revive the craze for Panama hats, and the Fifth avenue milliners are sending orders for big supplies of the fine weave. Mrs. Roosevelt was responsible for the first move. When she returned from a genuine Panama, and her first appearance in it the other day was a signal to the do-likewise clan. Hers is trimmed with a sash of yellow brown silk with fringed edges and a stiff algrette of grass ends. Mrs. Longworth is wearing one that carries a band of plaid ribbon and a quill, while Miss Ethel Roosevelt may be seen almost any day riding in a Panama, quilled like her sister's and veil. WOMAN'S INDEPENDENCE.

With the household as it is now made up, it is not psychologically a good thing for one person to be dependent upon the will of another and solely attached to his interests. No matter how perfectly a woman is educated in the schools, she will not keep pace with men unless she has some concerns for which she is primarily responsible. This does not amount to saying that she must be financially independent, or a bread winner, though there is no objection to that. But her life demands some first-hand reaction to the world for the sake of her character and intelligence. Under the pressure of natural selection man made a tardy alliance with woman and the home in primitive times. He If you find your elbows getting rough has used woman as a plaything, as a lay figure on which to hang his day give them a special treatment. wealth; has bought her cheap and bought her dear; but he has really basin into which you have put equal never associated with her.-Professor Thomas, in Leslie's Weekly.

The Constitutional Convention of that State in 1898 granted taxpaying women a vote on questions of local taxation, and gave them the choice of casting it themselves or by rule the women prefer to cast their votes themselves.

THE PRETTY ELBOW.

The poper manipulation of the elbows is an art, and, so, too, is the the isthmus last summer she brought proper care of them. It is said that woman with a young back is always young. Similarly, the woman with old elbows is an old woman. In these days of short sleaves it is imperative to keep the arms and elbows from being hairy, bony or rough.

In the first place, don't use the elbows as props. This pose is fatal to the dimples, which are the chief beauty of a woman's elbow. Any held in place with a long winding self-respectig elbow will lose flesh and get callous spots if it is constantly being planted on a hard table. Furthermore, this attitude puts the back out of drawing, injures the expression of the eyes and places the head at a bad angle. The pressure of the hot hand on the cheek or under the chin, too, wrinkles the flesh and makes the flesh bag at the clows.

The pose in which artists delight is the one that lets the elbows rest at the sides, while the arms lie easily along the lap. If a woman wants to be particularly fetching and yet restful to the eye let her teach her palms to lie upward and her fingers to curl just a little. One woman who has made a study of elbows asserts that they are an index to the character. Bumpy, body clbows mean a fidgety nature. Smooth, soft elbows indicate calmness and polse.
