

WHAT IS LIFE?

"What is Life?" I ask the child who romps through all the happy days;

"What is Life?" I ask the youth who looks up at the sky above.

"What is Life?" I ask the man in whose brave face no shadows lurk.

"What is Life?" I ask the sage whose days are gliding like a stream.

To join the ocean near at hand; his life is all behind him now.

TIN CAN BUTTS FOR PADDY

THUS THE SMALL POINTER GETS HUNK WITH THE CREEKERS.....

(A Tale of New York's Seamy Side.)

Tin Can, a look of sweet contentment in his eye, was munching a delicious colored supplement of a Sunday newspaper that he had unearthed from an ashpile on the east bank of Gowanus Canal.

But there was nothing doing. Tin Can was here, there and everywhere.

When Chuck fell to the sidewalk a limp, helpless figure and cried "Nuff!" Paddy went after Mugg Murphy, shot a left drive into his belly and a right swing on the jaw and put him on his feet.

Then Policeman Flynn, who had been told by a little girl that there was a terrible fight outside the school, came on the scene.

"I'll give up," said Paddy, when he saw that it was all off, "but don't yuh holt me goat."

"Come here, Tin Can, I tells yuh!" roared Paddy. "Come here an' listen tuh wot I has tuh say tuh yuh."

Tin Can retraced his steps to the sidewalk and listened meditatively.

"Yuh knows, Tin Can, dat yuh an' me is from de Point—Red Hook Point—a long ways from dis place."

Down in the Children's Court the story came out. Paddy told it in a straightforward manner, how he got Tin Can to help him get hunk and how the goat was always with him in a scrap.

"Always be kind to Tin Can," said the Justice, as he discharged Paddy.

The Danish government is backing a movement and perfecting plans which, if carried out, will embroil the whole civilized world in war.

when Paddy and Tin Can took up a position outside the school gate and waited for the enemy to come out.

"Here dey comes," whispered Paddy, clenching his little fists and gritting his teeth.

It appears that Tin Can has been educated to interfere whenever Paddy gets into a fight.

Chuck Downes, leader of the Creekers, surrounded by his cohorts, came tripping through the gate.

"Lem'me handle dis geezer, Tin Can," he said, "an' yuh see dat de orders doesn't butt in."

Policeman Flynn had walked up to the car crossing at Fifth avenue to guide the girls across the street.

It was during recess in the yard at Public School 133, on Douglass street, Brooklyn, yesterday, that the Creekers decided to put it to Paddy Sweeney, and they put it to him very properly.

Then he beat it over the fence and went in quest of Tin Can to enlist his aid in getting hunk.

RECIPES. Cream of Celery Soup.—Two cups of boiling water, two cups of chicken stock, three cups of celery cut up small, one slice of onion, one tablespoon of butter, one quart of rich milk, three tablespoons of flour, salt and pepper to taste. Serve with cubes of toast.

Clam Chowder.—Two slices of pork cut in small pieces, fried, two medium sized onions, fried, 1 pint of sliced potatoes, 1 pint of cracker crumbs, 1 pint of shelled clams. Cover with water and let boil until the potatoes are cooked, then add 1 quart of milk or more if desired; season to taste with salt and pepper.

Prune Jelly.—Soak 1 pound of prunes in 1 quart of water for three hours, drain them and strain the water in which they have been soaked, to which add 1 pound of sugar; put on stove and let this come to boil; now add prunes which have been stewed and cut in small pieces and boil about 15 minutes; stir into this 1/2 bottle of gelatine which has been soaked in a little cold water, add the juice of 1 lemon and pour in a mould. Serve with whipped cream.

Salmon Chowder.—Cut in small pieces 1/2 pound of salt pork and fry until a light brown; add six onions, six potatoes and one-half can salmon. Cover with water and cook until vegetables are done. When ready to serve add one pint milk, salt and pepper to taste.

Oyster le Tartare.—Pick over and drain the oysters; put them in a saucepan, put on the stove for a few minutes until they are plump, cool and cut into quarters; heap them on lettuce leaves laid on oyster shells and garnish with sauce tartare. This is the regular mayonnaise dressing made quite green and acid with chopped green pickles, olives, parsley and capers. Serve as a salad. Black Cap Cake.—One cup of butter creamed, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons molasses, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup sour milk, 2 1/2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon of soda, 1/2 teaspoon each cinnamon and cloves, 1 cup each raisins and walnuts.

Grip was first recognized as a disease in 1859. This was in Europe and it has been vexing mankind ever since, remarks the Birmingham Age-Herald. It can leap further and alight harder than any other known disease.
