Hon. Robert H. Longwell, of Brookwayville, Republican candidate for the nomination for Assembly, who has been endorsed by the Jefferson County Local Option executive committee, was in Reynoldsville yesterday. He is a strenuous advocate of local option, and bases his argument on the fact that a majority must and will rule in all matters in which the people are the governing power.

Junior basket ball team from DuBois played a junior team at this place Saturday afternoon and was defeated by the Reynoldsville boys, although the DuBois Courier reported the score 19 to 16 in favor of the DuBois boys. Return game will be played in DuBois Saturday.

Since the organization of Jefferson county Warsaw township has never been recognized by the Republican party in the selection of county officers and now that it presents a worthy aspirant for sheriff in the person of Thomas A. Mayes it would seem buy a fair recognition of its claims if the voters should turn in a good sized majority for its candidate. Mayes has the support of his home district and has found encouragement in all sections of the county.

MAJ BEALE STRONG CANDIDATE. Number of Jefferson County Voters Think He Should Have Second Term.

In the congressional campaign in this district it is pretty generally conceded that Major Joseph G. Beale, who is now serving his first term as congressman, is the leading candidate for the Republican nomination at the April primary election. From expressions we hear at home and reports from various parts of the district Major Beale will get a large vote and will be the winner. And why not? He is an old soldier, is faithfully representing this district, is entitled to a second term according to an old established custom, and for those reasons he is a strong candidate. Some people, for whom the second term custom has been a good thing in the past, are now advocating the abolition of the rotation custom because it would keep them too long away from the "public crib." But there are many voters in the district who do not see it that way and will rally to the support of Major Beale.

Solomon Berkhouse and Mrs. Catherine Klepfer, both of West Reynoldsville, were united in marriage at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage at 8:00 p. m. Monday, March 23, 1908, by Dr. J. A. Parsons, pastor.

The nineteenth annual convention of District No. 2, United Mine Workers of America, is being held in DuBois this week. The convention was called to order at 10:00 a. m. yesterday and it is expected that adjournment will be made Friday noon. A large number of delegates are present.

Andrew Jacobs, of Gaskill township, who announced as a candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff, has withdrawn from the race for this campaign. Mr. Jacobs received many promises of support for which he is grateful and in leaving the field suggests that he may re-appear next campaign to ask their aid to the finish.

An application was made to the Board of Pardons for commutation of the death sentence of Dominic Ramunno, but the Board refused to commute the sentence last week. Ramunno was found guilty of murder in the first degree in Jefferson county for killing a man at Sykesville a couple of years ago, and was sentenced to be hanged. It is probable the date of execution will soon be fixed.

LaMarr Ritchie, of Soldier, was given a birthday surprise party last Friday evening, March 20th, that being his sixteenth birthday. It was so arranged as to make the party a complete surprise for him. There were about sixty present from Reynoldsville, Prescottville, Clarkstown and Soldier. He received a number of beautiful presents and a purse of money. Light refreshments were served.

There are three Republican candidates from Reynoldsville for treasurer, three Democrats for county commissioner, one Republican for county commissioner and one Republican in West Reynoldsville for sheriff. Candidates are: Treasurer, W. C. Murray, W. H. Bell and Grant Scheaflocker; county commissioners, Charles M. Dinger, E. T. McGaw, M. C. Coleman, Democrat, Frank McClure, Republican; for sheriff, Samuel Brillhart.

The present year is a record breaker for numerous candidates in the primary election campaign in Pennsylvania, but in one respect, at least, we think Jefferson county takes the lead and that is in having the oldest candidate in the field for a county office. One of our present county commissioners, John S. Barr, who is a candidate for re-election, is in his 84th year. He is one of the old Republican war horses in the county. During his political career Mr. Barr has served one term as sheriff, two terms as register and recorder, is now serving a term as county commissioner, and thinks he is young enough and active enough to serve another term as county commissioner. It is doubtful if there is another county in the state that has a candidate as old as Ex-Sheriff Barr.

Last Issue Before New Rule Goes Into Effect.

The time for payment of arrearages on subscription accounts is now limited to one week. If you are one year, or more, in arrears for subscription and desire THE STAR continued after April 1st, it is important that you remit before that date the amount specified on statement recently mailed you. We do not usually make a business of advertising our desires to have our patrons pay up, but this is an extraordinary occasion and we call the matter repeatedly to your attention because we will be forced to take your name from our list before next issue unless the account is settled by cash or note before April 1st. This does not mean that a subscriber must pay in advance, but must not be over one year in arrears. The office will be open until eight o'clock every evening this week to give subscribers a chance to call and make settlement.

This is the third week of the evangelistic meetings in the Baptist church conducted by Dr. A. J. Meek and Evangelist J. B. McClure. The meetings will continue all this week. Twenty have been converted since the meetings began. The all-day meeting Thursday was well attended throughout the day and was very interesting and profitable. The ladies served light lunch in the church at noon and in the evening. The following out of town pastors were present to assist in and enjoy the all day meeting: Rev. A. C. Lathrop, of Clearfield, Rev. J. Booth, of Curwensville, Rev. M. E. Hare, of DuBois, Rev. J. W. Crawford, of Sykesville, Rev. Henry Mates, of Punxsutawney, and Rev. Dr. W. Quay Roselle, of Williamsport, an old time friend of Dr. Meek.

Unique Entertainment.

On Tuesday evening of last week, March 17--St. Patrick's Day--Misses Margaret Butler and Elizabeth Baughman entertained the members of the A. F. F. Club and all the teachers of the public school at the home of Miss Butler on Grant street. It was a unique and enjoyable social function. The invitations were on green paper, cut shape of a shamrock, the decorations were green, score cards had picture of St. Patrick on them, in fact everything, even the music, was appropriate for a St. Patrick day event. The most fastidious son of the Emerald Isle could not have requested anything more appropriate for the occasion. Excellent refreshments were served.

Service in Presbyterian Church.

Evangelistic services will be continued in the Presbyterian church all of this week. Rev. J. W. Melves, of Pittsburg, has been assisting Rev. McKay this week and will preach to-night. On Thursday evening, Friday 2:30 p. m., and Friday evening Rev. J. B. Eakins, D. D., of St. Clairsville, Ohio, will preach. Communion service and public reception of new members Sunday morning. MRS. MARY YOUNG DEAD.

Funeral Service at Home of Her Son, J. V. Young--Interment at Summerville.

Mrs. Mary Young died at her home on Second street Wednesday, March 18, 1908, after an illness of two weeks. Funeral service was held at home of her son, James V. Young, at 7:30 p. m. When 18 years old she was united in marriage to Solomon Young, who died with cholera while going down the Ohio river on a fleet during the cholera epidemic in 1866. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Young six children were born, three sons and three daughters, five of whom survive the mother. Eight years ago Mrs. Young moved to Reynoldsville, and during that time made a number of warm friends here. She was a kind mother and a good woman. Her surviving sons and daughters are: J. V. and D. D., a noted Chautauqua and pulpit orator. His subject will be, "The Marble Waiteth," a study of the development of character and retaining of individuality. Dr. Cartwright comes with the highest endorsement from many of the state Chautauquans, being described as "a lecturer who is coming with giant strides to the front."

The Daily Patriot, Lisbon, Ohio, says: "Rev. Cartwright is surely one of the true orators of the American platform. His genial humor and the high moral purpose running through his lecture, won for him many admirers. He is wanted again and will be gladly welcomed."
