Nyal's Worm Wafers. Often a child's general health is good, and yet the mother knows there is something wrong with him—just what, she may be unable to determine. How old is your child? Is he peevish and irritable? Does he grind his teeth? Does his nose itch? Is his breath offensive? Is his appetite abnormal? If the child is four to twelve years old, and has those symptoms it is safe to assume that he is troubled with worms. Nyal's Worm Wafers kill and remove worms. Pleasant to take. Only 25 cents. Would so many people becoming this drug store if it were not above the average? Stoke & Feicht Drug Company

ANOTHER VACANT CHAIR. Mrs. Richard Reddecliff Died May 13—Funeral Friday Afternoon. At 1.30 a. m. Wednesday, May 13, 1908, Mrs. Richard Reddecliff died at home of her son-in-law, John Tucker, at Rathmel, after an illness of eighteen months. Stomach trouble was cause of her death. Her suffering was intense most of those long and weary months, but she bore the suffering very patiently. She knew that she was going into the valley of death, yet she was not afraid to go. She assured her loved ones that she was ready and only waiting for the Master to call her home. Martha Mary Crab was born in Cornwall, England, July 25, 1837, and would have been 71 years old next July. February 19, 1856, over fifty-two years ago, she was united in marriage to Richard Reddecliff in England. In September, 1885, over twenty-two years ago, they came to Reynoldsville direct from England. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Reddecliff eleven children were born, three of whom preceded the mother into the Great Beyond. Those who, with the husband and father, survive are: Mrs. Helen Mitchell, of Rathmel, James Reddecliff, of Soldier, Mrs. Bessie Hoare, of Rathmel, Richard Reddecliff, Jr., of England, Mrs. Georgianna Smith, of Sagamore, William Reddecliff, of Rathmel, John Reddecliff, of Bitumen, Mrs. Jane Tucker, of Rathmel. Mrs. Reddecliff united with the M. E. church early in life and ever remained a faithful member of same. She was a good wife and kind mother. Funeral service was held at the Tucker residence in Rathmel at 2.00 p. m. Friday, conducted by Dr. J. A. Parsons, and interment was made in the Reynoldsville cemetery. Members of Mt. Cliff Castle, Knights of Golden Eagle, attended the funeral in a body. Mr. Reddecliff is a member of the Castle. The floral tributes were beautiful. Hughes & Fleming were funeral directors. Two Paid Fines. Several days ago two persons paid fines to "Uncle Sam" for mailing packages of merchandise in the Reynoldsville postoffice in which their was writing. Every person that mails a package is asked if there is any writing in it and if there is it must be mailed as first-class matter. To avoid the extra postage people say there is not any writing in a package when there is and the sender runs the risk of being fined. Besides the two that paid their fine last week there are other cases pending. People had better pay two cents for a letter than put writing in a merchandise package and pay $10.00 fine. Three-Quarter Centennial Celebration. June 17, 1833, seventy-five years ago next month, the Presbyterian church was organized in the Beechwoods Settlement, then a vast and howling wilderness, and the pastor and congregation are now arranging to celebrate the three-quarter centennial on the seventeenth of June. Kervin was hit on the head by a piece of pipe and had his skull fractured. He died at Brookville Sunday morning. The rush of gas caught Covel and tossed him like a feather.
