NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given to whomsoever it may concern, that the Board of Directors of the School District of the Borough of Sykesville, County of Jefferson and State of Pennsylvania, will present their petition to the Court of Common Pleas of Jefferson county, on Monday, August 10th, 1908, praying for a decree authorizing them to borrow $14,000, and increase the indebtedness of said School District by such an amount, for the purpose of erecting and equipping a new school house adequate to accommodate the schools to be held and maintained in, and for the use of the School District of the Borough of Sykesville, by issuing coupon bonds of the denomination of One Hundred Dollars each, said bonds to bear interest at the rate of 5.5 per cent per annum, payable semi annually, and said bonds to be redeemed within thirty years from the date thereof, with the option and right reserved to said School District to redeem any number or amount of said bonds, on any interest date after the expiration of five years, and also for leave to file their statement as required by the Act of Assembly approved April 20, 1874, and its supplements.
By order of the Board of School Directors of the School District of Sykesville Borough, Jefferson county, Pennsylvania.
L. S. SADDLER, President.
I. G. MASSFIELD, Secretary.

PETITION FOR DISCHARGE.
In the Orphans' Court of Jefferson County, No. 88, April term, 1908.
May 18th, 1908, petition of A. B. Wood, guardian of the estate of Ethel E. Hepburn, a minor child of Nancy Hepburn, late of the city of Salem, state of Oregon, praying that he be forever discharged from his said office of guardian, presented in open court, whereupon the said Court made an order that notice be given according to Rule of Court, returnable Monday, August 10th, 1908, at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., when and where all parties interested can be heard to show cause, if any, why the said Court should not make an order discharging the said A. B. Wood as guardian.
JOSEPH B. MEANS,
Clerk of the Orphans' Court.

THE MAD DUCHESS.
Lady Catherine Hyde and Her Eccentricities of Dress.
Lady Catherine Hyde was the third daughter of Henry, second earl of Rochester and fourth earl of Clarendon, and a great-granddaughter of Edward, the first and famous earl of Clarendon. * * * One of the strongest of her caprices was to be unlike other people, and she succeeded admirably in the attempt. Bolingbroke nicknamed her "La Singularite;" Horace Walpole, more bluntly, "the Mad Duchess." This oddity was specially displayed in her dress. In 1747, after a good deal of intriguing, she had obtained permission to appear again at court, and in 1763 Horace Walpole tells Lord Hertford that she presented herself there in a gown and petticoat of red flannel. Making all allowance for male ignorance on such a subject and Walpole's tendency to embroider a story, it is beyond doubt that she deliberately courted the peculiar in her costume. She was fond of wearing an apron and appeared in one at court after this garment had been forbidden at the royal drawing rooms. Her entrance being opposed by one of the lords in waiting, she tore it off, threw it in his face and walked on. Beau Nash on a similar occasion took the law into his own hands, for when she attempted to enter the ballroom at Bath wearing an apron he promptly stripped it off and threw it among the ladies' maids, observing that none but Abigail appeared in white aprons. It was her fancy as she grew older to disregard the changes of fashion and to adhere obstinately to the dress of her younger days. Her attire at times was so weird that Lord Cornbury wrote, "She has been called 'sir' upon the road above twenty times."—Nineteenth Century.

THE MARINER'S COMPASS.
Influences That Draw It From Its Allegiance to the Pole.
Nothing in the navigational equipment of a ship has been the subject of more anxious research or receives more jealous care than the mariner's compass.
The popular notion of the compass needle always pointing north and south is—well, more inaccurate than even popular notions usually are. Even under the most favorable conditions there are only certain places upon the surface of the earth where the compass needle does point north and south, and it is quite safe to say that such conditions are never found on board of any ship.
But we must go further and say that no more unfavorable position could be found for a compass than on board of a modern steamship, which is a complicated mass of steel, all tending to draw the compass needle from its allegiance to the magnetic pole of the earth, warring influences which must needs be counteracted by all sorts of devices which hedge round the instrument by an invisible wall of conflicting currents of magnetism.
And as if this were not enough there are now huge dynamos to be reckoned with, producing electric currents for all sorts of purposes on board. In the midst of these mystic currents the poor little compass needle, upon which the mariner depends for his guide across the trackless deep, hangs suspended like one shrinking saint surrounded by legions of devils.—Windsor Magazine.

Martian Life Dying.
A sadder interest attaches to such existence—that it is, cosmically speaking, soon to pass away. To our eventual descendants life on Mars will no longer be something to scan and interpret. It will have lapsed beyond the hope of study or recall. Thus to us it takes on an added glamour from the fact that it has not long to last, for the process that brought it to its present pass must go on to the bitter end until the last spark of Martian life goes out. The drying up of the planet is certain to proceed until its surface can support no life at all. Slowly, but surely, time will snuff it out. When the last ember is thus extinguished the planet will roll a dead world through space, its evolutionary career forever ended.—Professor Lowell in Century.

Doctors' Bills.
Who, having obtained an honest bill for the medicine, will wish to have particulars of the doctor's "professional services?" Imagine a bill made up with such nicety as this: "To counting pulse, sixpence; to viewing tongue, threepence; to asking four questions (three irrelevant), fourpence; to telling patients to say 'ninety-nine,' eightpence; to medicine, 1s. 6d.; to bottle, twopence; to label, 1 penny; total, 3s. 6d."—Yorkshire Observer.

Advantage of Credit.
"My big sister has a beau."
"So's mine, but I don't like him."
"Know what my sister 'd do if I didn't like her beau?"
"No. What'd she do?"
"She'd send him back and get him changed, 'cause we've got a charge account at the store he comes from."—Newark Evening Star.

Different Opinions.
"I see a man intends to let a rattlesnake bite him and depend on prayer for a cure. I call that faith."
"I call it cruelty to animals unless somebody's going to pray for the snake after it's bitten such a fool as that."—Philadelphia Ledger.
The Mute.
"She has no friends to speak of."
"Good heavens! What does she talk about?"—Sporting Times.
Whenever a man commits a crime heaven finds a witness.—Bulwer.

Speakeasy Raid.
During the latter part of last week Brockwayville experienced quite a shock for a town of reputed strict prohibition. A representative of the anti-saloon league arrived in that place from Ridgway during the week, and after some investigation informed the police department of the town that liquor was being illegally sold within the confines of the city limits.
Naturally the officers became quite indignant and an investigation was immediately instituted and as a result a number of arrests were made. A large percentage of the population of the town was subpoenaed and the prosecution went on. One of the defendants, it is said, pleaded guilty and the balance were acquitted.—DuBois Courier.

Notice to Taxables.
Notice is hereby given that the several district assessments of taxes have been made and duplicates of the borough and school taxes for Reynoldsville borough have been delivered to me by the proper authorities for the collection of the same. Therefore, that in accordance with the requirements of the Act of Assembly approved June 25th, 1885, due notice is hereby given to all persons who are desirous, and who shall within sixty days from date of this notice make payment of any taxes charged against them in said duplicates, shall be entitled to a reduction of five per centum from the amount thereof, and any person who shall fail to pay such taxes charged against them within six months from date of this notice shall be charged five per centum additional on all such unpaid taxes. But it is expressly stipulated that positively no rebate or per centum will be allowed on partially paid taxes. That every afternoon and evening of each week during the last two weeks of said sixty days, between the hours of 1.00 p. m. and 9. I will be found at The City Hotel, on Main street, where payment of state and county (or any others) taxes may be made and five per cent saved.

Some person or persons, either for amusement or pure devilment, on Sunday evening greased the street car tracks on the steep grade going in to Wishaw from Reynoldsville. It is one of the steepest grades on the road and when one of the big suburban cars struck it about ten o'clock it immediately started backwards at a good rate. The motorman, however, was quick with his sand and the car was stopped on its flight.—Punxsutawney Spirit.
