ESTEEMED CITIZEN HAS PASSED AWAY

C. N. Lewis Suffered Second Stroke of Paralysis and Expired.

LIVED LONG IN THIS PLACE

C. N. Lewis, a well known and highly esteemed citizen of Reynoldsville, died at his home on Grant street at 10.52 p. m. Monday, July 27, 1908. While a number of his friends knew that he was lying at the point of death a couple of days, yet the announcement of his death was a shock to the citizens in general. Saturday morning, July 18, while sitting on his front porch, Mr. Lewis was stricken with paralysis, his entire right side being effected. During the latter part of the following week there were favorable signs of recovery. He was able to talk and could raise his right hand up to his head and his kinsfolk were encouraged, but Saturday evening a second stroke paralized his entire body. He could not talk and was only able to move his right hand a little, yet he was perfectly conscious until Monday, but did not regain the power of speech. On account of the muscles of his throat and tongue being paralized, his breathing was so loud he could be heard all over the house, but when the last moments came he departed this life peacefully.

Calvin N. Lewis was born in Indiana county, Pa., July 31, 1848, and would have been sixty years old the 31st of this month. He was the son of John and Maria Lewis. His mother died when he was fifteen years old. Before he was out of his teens he was united in marriage to a Miss Means, of Frostburg, who only lived a few years. them two daughters were Maude and Jennie. Maude, who was married to Henry A. Reed, of Reynoldsville, died in 1893. Jennie, now Mrs. Lewis Gourley, resides at Grange, Pa.

Early in life Mr. Lewis taught school. In 1878 he was elected to teach in the public schools in Reynoldsville and he taught here four or five terms. December 24, 1878, during his first term here, he was united in marriage to Miss Ella E. Zetler, daughter of Mrs, Hettie Zetler, of Emerickville. Rev. L. Wilkins, then pastor of the Emerickville M. E. church, performed the wedding ceremony. They began housekeeping in Reynoldsyille, and always resided here. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Lewis three children were born, Edna, Walter and Ronald. Walter died in 1889. Deceased is survived by his wife, Harvey Lewis, of Porter township, Jefferson county, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Work, of Indiana Co. Early in life Mr. Lewis united with the Methodist Episcopal church and had been a trustee in the church at this place for a number of years.

When the Sr. O. U. A. M. was organized in Reynoldsville some years ago Mr. Lewis was a charter member and he was one of the few who continued to be a faithful member of the order, and retained his membership after the order here consolidated with the Sr. O. U. A. M. in Punxsutawney. He was also a member of the Heptasoph

After he quit teaching, Mr. Lewis was in the insurance business a number of years. In 1891 he accepted a position in the office of the J. & C. C. & I. Co. at this place and remained with that company until 1904, when he was transferred to the R. & P. Company's office in Punxsutawney. In October, 1907, on account of failing health, he resigned from the coal company and took up insurance work again.

C. N. Lewis was a model husband, kind father, good citizen and neighbor. He took an active part in politics. He had a genial disposition and, consequently, won many friends. He will be greatly missed in the home circle and in the town.

Funeral service will be held at the family residence at 8.30 a. m. to-morrow, Thursday, and interment will be made in the M. E. cemetery at merickville. Hughes & Fleming have charge of the funeral.

THE MAIL ORDER BUSINESS

How the Patron Puts up the Capital for it to do Business On.

"I wonder," said an official of the Reynoldsville Business Men's Association the other day, "if the people around here who are patronizing Chicago mail order houses realize that they are furnishing capital for these concerns to do business on? Almost all of them require money in advance, many will not even ship C. O. D. but require cash before the goods leave their store. In this way they have hundreds of thousands of dollars of their patrons' money on hand at all times for goods not yet shipped. That is, the people are actually loaning the city houses money without interest to enable them to compete with home merchants. Just suppose that the people of Reynoldsville and farmers in the vicinity furnish our home business men with large sums of money at all times without interest, cannot they also afford to sell much cheaper than they can when so many farmers and others get, the local dealer to carry them from spring to fall, or even over winter, without paying interest? Suppose Reynoldsville dealers insisted on cash in advance for their goods and the mail order houses carried their patrons for four to six months and see what-prices the stores in Chicago must ask to get a living."

Glass Plant Stock Almost Subscribed

Need but a Few Thousand Dollars More to Insure Installation of Machines.

In the issue of THE STAR of June 24 mention was made of the fact that an effort was being made to sell some of the stock of the Star Glass Company for the purpose of equipping the plant with modern machines for manufacturing glass. On account of the dull times and money stringency the committee has had a strenuous time in selling the stock, but it looks now as if the effort will be successful and that the machines will be installed. The committee, however, has some stock to sell yet. If the stock is not sold and machines not installed the glass plant at Reynoldsville will never resume operation, as it would be impossible to compete, under the old manner of production, with the modern achine production. If the machine is installed the glass plant would give employment to about sixty men almost continuously, and if the machine is not installed the glass plant will remain idle. Take your choice? Would it not be better to install the machines?

C. L. S. C. Work at Chautauqua,

The Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle is experiencing a new impulse through the extension work being carried on in the middle West at the present time by seven traveling lecturers, besides many stationary representatives. At Chautauqua, N. Y., the campaign for 1908-09 has already been started and two C. L. S. C. Round Tables conducted. Thursday, July 30, marks as it were, the official opening of the new year, with Rallying Day and Rallying Day exercises, which comes at 11 o'clock in the morning. The coming year will be devoted to the study of Modern Europe and a most interesting program has been mapped out.

An Old Soldier Killed by Two Wishaw Italians

Joseph Tozier, of Baxter, the Victim of a Cowardly Attack in the Rear.

ASSAILANTS IN INDIANA JAIL

Joseph Tozier, an old soldier who resided near Baxter, Jefferson county, was murdered in a berry patch near Logans mines, not far from Glen Camebell, Indiana Co., on Saturday, July 18 His body was not found until Monday. Mr. Tozier was in Reynoldsville on Friday, 17th inst., and took trolley from here to Punxsutawney. Joseph Veltra and Bruno Carborlto, of Wishaw, got on same car with Tozier and were also going over into Indiana Co. They all stayed all night in Punxsutawney and Saturday morning were seen to take a drink out of a bottle that Tozier was carrying in his pocket. The two Italians found out that Tozier had a large sum of money in his pockets and they succeeded in getting him into a berry patch after getting off train at Glen Campbell, and one of them shot him in the back and when he fell forward on his face the assassin shot him through the head. Veltro and Carborito were arrested at Glen Campbell Monday night. The men confessed to the crime but each one blamed the other with having done the shooting.

Under the bed in which the two men were sleeping when arrested, was found a 32-calibre revolver, same size which had been used by the slayer of Tozler. The murdered man's watch was also found under bed. It is claimed that Mr. Tozier had $900.00 or $1,000.00 in his pocket when he left-home, but only $60.00 was found on the Italians. Both men are now in the Indiana county jail.

CROPS IN WARSAW.

D. C. Gillespie Believes It to be the Banner Potato Township,

D. C. Gillespie, who yesterday returned from a two weeks' visit with friends in Warsaw township, Jefferson county, has the following to say of the crop prospects in that section: "While on a visit in East Warsaw lately I discovered it to be the banner potato township of the county. No farmer has less than an acre and from that up to fifteen scree.

"Mr. Mayes, of Hazen, has fifteen acres planted and expects his yield to be about 3,000 bushels. All other crops

"The yield of oats and hay will be heavier than for many years.

"A. M. Wilson, at whose hospitable home I was visiting, will have about 1,000 bushels of corn, 500 bushels of potatoes, and over 100 tons of hay, while other farmers will have as much or more."-Punxsutawney Spirit,

Just a Little Bit Taller.

Five feet, five and one-half inches is now the tallest hay yet reported to this office and was brought by Fred Sheesley on Monday morning. This hay grew on the John H. Lott farm in Paradise. A bunch of hay that measured five feet, five inches, was left at the office, while other stocks measured one-half inch more. This outstrips the report brought to us by Mr. Holman in our issue of two weeks ago.-Sykesville Post-Dispatch.

SILK MILL TO RESUME WORK

MRS. MARY MUTH

Died at Her Home in Paradise Friday of Last Week.

Mrs. Mary Muth, of Paradise Settlement, aged 56 years, died on last Fri day from a complication of diseases which had afflicted her for some time. She had been away for treatment but returned about a week before her death, which occurred rather suddenly at the last. She leaves ten children living. There is one dead. Their are eight grandchildren. Fred Reiter is a half brother. There was a large funeral. Rev. H. N. Smith, of Troutville, conducted the services. Burial in Reformed church cemetery, Paradise.

Mrs. Muth was a woman of fine Christian character and highly csteemed in the community in which she lived. Her husband died about 15 years ago leaving her with a large family. But she set to work in a truly heroic manner to provide for them and rear them, and has succeeded well. She was a life long and devoted member of the Paradise church, as are also her children.

For more than a year she has been in falling health. Her condition gradually grew worse. A few weeks ago she went to a sanitarium at Jamestown, N. Y., only to return without having been materially benefitted.-Big Run Tribune.

Deceased was the mother of Willis Muth, of this place, conductor on the Sykesville branch of the Jefferson Traction company line.

Physicians Perform Cæsarean Operation

Brookville Infant Delivered by Aperture Made in Abdominal Wall.

What is known as the caesarean section was performed by four Brookville physicians when on Saturday they delivered a womrn of a son by cutting through the walls of the abdomen and other tissues.

About noon Saturday Dr. J. K. Brown, of Brookville, was summoned to the home of Mrs. Cad Hutchins, of Port Barnett, to officiate at a baby matinee, when he discovered that it would be a physical impossibility for the child to be born as nature had intended. Drs. J. A. DeHaven, Lawson and Snyder, were called into consultation, and it was determined to adopt the only course by which the lives of both the mother and child could

The operation was successfully performed, the physicians delivering a fully developed child through an aperture made by the surgeons knife.

The youngster is a fully developed, robust, offspring whose strange debut apparently brought no handicap, while mother is said to be recovering satisfactory under the circumstances. Since the Great Julius Caesar, over 2000 years ago, was brought into the world by a similiar operation comparatively few babies have thus been delivered successfully. - Punxsutawney Spirit.

Elk's New Emblem.

It will be of interest to local Elks to learn that at the closing session of the Grand Lodge at Dallas recently a new official emblem was adopted. As described, it consists of "a combination of the dial, showing the hour of 11, with a white face and red Roman numerals, circumscribed by a blue circle containing the initials B. P. O. E., on which dial and circle shall rest an eik's head and antiers which shall be surmounted by a five pointed star." The elk's head and antler's are to be in gold; the dial, star and border in enamel.

The Lock Haven State Normal School closed the most successful school year in its history last June. Its student body represented three-fourths of the countles of Pennsylvania and a number of foreign states. The prestige of this well known school draws to it a large body of superior young men and women. It is a thorough home school and appeals to parents who are seeking the best influences for their children. Its illustrated catalogue is now ready for distribution and will be sent upon application to the principal.

RECKLESS AARON BURR.

The Dramatic Story of His Marriage In Old Age.

The story of Aaron Burr's marriage in his old age to the widow of Stephen Jumel, who was well known in the early history of New York city, is a dramatic one

Conceive, if you will, the picture of Burr, gifted adventurer that he was, broken in health, branded in the popular mind as the murderer of Alexander Hamilton and returning from a long exile to find himself an outcast in the city where he had once been the politleal monarch of all he surveyed and a distinguished figure in society and at the bar. Conceive, if you can, this lamentable old man, smirking through his wrinkles, bowing and prancing rather stiffly because of his rheumatic joints and with his mouth full of pretty platitudes, paying court to the widow of Stephen Jumel, berself in the prime of years and health. Remove from the picture its surface incongruities, and you have a bit of pure pathos unequaled in the annals of foolish great

But something of his old time pow er to charm the gentler sex must have stood by him in his years of mental and physical misery, for in his sult for the widow Jumel's hand and fortune he won gloriously, dramatically. Re-buffed repeatedly, Burr finally declared in passionate rage that on a given day he would arrive at the Jumel mansion accompanied by a clergyman. who should marry them on the spot. He would give his prospective bride no quarter, no chance of escape from the Inevitable.

She was amused at the threat and dismissed the old man with more than her usual coldness of demeanor. Burr stuck to his avowal and one July day rolled up in a carriage, and with him was a minister, the same who fifty years before performed the marriage ceremony for Burr and the mother of his daughter, the beautiful Theodosia. There was something of a scene in the old house on this day. There were tears of anger on the part of Burr. Relatives remonstrated; Burr remained immovable. All feared a scandal. The minister, book in hand, stood unobtrusively in the background. There were more tears, more declarations of undying love, and the widow Jumel became Mrs. Aaron Burr.

They were married in the great drawing room of the Jumel mansion. Burr squandered with reckless hand the wealth acquired by Stephen Jumel and left for the enjoyment of his marital partner. There were many bitter quarrels between the Ill mated pair, and they were soon divorced. died in 1836, but madam lived until 1865, dying a recluse and a miser, the money received from the Jumel estate hoarded in an unused chamber,

Stones and Glass Houses,

The origin of the saying, "Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones," is as follows: At the time of the union of England and Scotland London was inundated with Scotchmen, and the London roughs used to go about at night breaking their windows. Buckingham being considered the chief instigator of the mischief, a party of Scotchmen smashed the windows of the duke's mansion, known as the Glass House. The court favorite appealed to the king, who replied, Steenle, Steenle, those who live in glass houses should be careful how they fling stones!"-New York Ameri-

Mathematics at Oxford.

There is an interesting story which shows the disposition of Oxford toward mathematics. A venerable don who had bought half a dozen books at 3s. 6d. each requested the bookseller to give him a piece of paper for the purpose of arriving at the amount. He then wrote down 3s. 6d. six times, one under the other, and was slowly adding them up when the shopman ventured to point out the shorter method of multiplying one 3s. 6d. by 6. "Dear mel" exclaimed the don. "Really, that is most ingenious, most ingenious."

Night after night the exceedingly quiet and backward youth had called on a neighboring farmer's daughter, sitting perfectly mute beside her while night, however, the youth, wishing for a glass of water, suddenly surprised her by blurting out, "Say, Sal, will

For several months the citizens of our town have been expecting the silk mill to resume operations, and have been anxiously waiting to hear that orders had been issued for starting the mill, but such orders failed to come. Last Friday Asst. Supt. George O. Lutz received word from the company that the mill would be in operation inside of three or four weeks. This is certainly good news, as the silk mill, when in full operation, is one of our best paying industries. A number of young people, who do not have other employment, make good wages when the silk mill is in operation.

Rattler is Forsaking h's Habits.

According to newspaper reports a great many more than the usual number of persons were bitten by rattlesnakes this year. And what is more strange most of those who have been bitten claim that the snakes gave no warning whirr of their rattles, but just proceeded to use the hypodermic without saying a word. The common belief is that rattlesnakes always play a little tamborine solo before striking, and if this is nothing but idle gossip it behooves us to be very careful when in pursuit of the festive huckleberry .- Punksutawney Spirit.
