CARR SOLIDA NUPTIALS

G. E. Carr and Miss Maggie Solida Married in Brookville Monday.

G. E. Carr, who was a resident in this section a number of years ago, and Miss Maggie Solida, a well known and respected lady of Reynoldsville, were married in Brookville Monday forenoon, August 31, 1908, by Rev. J. A. McJamey, pastor of the Brookville M. E. church. They passed through Reynoldsville on the 11.42 a.m. train Monday on a wedding trip to Buffalo, N. Y., and Toronto, Canada. From Toronto they will go to Sheridan, Mich., where they will reside. Mr. Carr, who resided at New Helena, Neb., about thirty-five years, and has been a very successful business man, sold his possessions in Bryan's state and will locate at Sheridan. Mr. and Mrs. Carr have been acquainted with each other since early in life, in fact there is a little romance concerning this love affair, as Mr. Carr was Miss Solida's first beau. The many friends of Mrs. Carr wish her an abundance of happiness in her new home in Michigan.

Tuesday of next week. Labor Day, the Tyler team will play two games with the Reynoldsville team at this place. One game in the forenoon and the other in the afternoon. Reynoldsville and Tyler teams have played two games, Reynoldsville winning the first in an eleven inning game, score 3 to 2, and Tyler won second game, score 3 to 0. This shows that Reynoldsville and Tyler are pretty evenly matched and two botly contested games can be expected next Tuesday.

Old Folks' Day Service.

The annual old folks' day service, under direction of the Epworth League, was held in the Methodist Episcopal church last Sunday morning and there was a large crowd present. The church was nicely decorated, committees met the old folks in the vestibules and pinned a flower on them and ushers took charge of them. Rocking chairs were provided for the real old ladies

POOR ACCOMMODATIONS.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company Should Put in Toilet Rooms at Least.

One of our contemporaries made mention last week of the fact that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company should build a new passenger station at Reynoldsville or make some necessary improvements at least. This has been mentioned in THE STAR several times within the past few years, and at one time the railroad company shipped tiling to Reynoldsville for sewerage for closets in the passenger depot, but for some reason the clofets were not put in and the tiling was shipped away. There is enough travel over the P. R. R. from Reynoldsville to entitle the town to a larger and more modern passenger station, but if that is not built, tollet rooms should be put in the old station. and it could be done at comparatively small expense. The room now used for ticket office is large enough for two tollet rooms and the room formerly used for telegraph office, now vacant, could be used for a ticket office. The company has a water system of their own and water for the toilet rooms could be supplied without extra expense to the rairoad company. It is hoped that the proper officials will take this matter up at once and see that tcilet rooms are provided for the accommodation of the patrons of the P. R. R.

Quick Work Prevented Conflagration.

Quick work on the part of Samuel Ressler and others prevented a disastrous conflagration at the mill of the Reynoldsville Woolen Co. early Monday morning. Mr. Ressler was oiling up machizery in the engine room and carried an open torch to see by. The celling overhead was low and in some way caught fire from the torch. The boards were soaked with grease and oil and the flames spread with alarming rapidity, a sixty-five gallon can of kerosene sitting very close adding to the danger. Mr. Ressler gave the fire alarm and then attached a small hose and commenced fighting the fire himself. Men living close hurried to the scene and by their united efforts heavy property loss was prevented.

An odd little side incident of the fire was that James Wray, one of the citizens who helped extinguish the flames. got thoroughly drenched with water while in the mill and after returning to his home on First street hung up some of his wet clothing near a gas jet to dry. It dried so thoroughly that in a half hour the apparel had been reduced to ashes and his home nearly caught fire. Later in the day Superintendent J. T. Evans learned of Wray's work in saying the mill and promptly sent the best wool shirt in the mill down to First street.

Now Agent at Kennerdell.

Robert Fergus, formerly baggage master at the Pennsylvania railroad station in Reynoldsville, who has been located at Brookville for several months past, has been appointed agent for the Pennsylvania railroad at Kennerdell, Venango county, and will shortly move his household goods to that place. Mr. Fergus assumed his new duties at Kennerdell yesterday but Mrs. Fergus will remain in town eight or ten days

DIED SUNDAY EVENING.

Miss Margaret Reynolds Had Been in Poor Health Several Years, But Death Came Unexpected.

Miss Margaret Reynolds died at the Reynolds homestead in Paradise at 8 45 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 30, 1908. While she had been suffering several years from heart trouble, yet her death came rather sudden and unexpected. Saturday morning she had a bad spell with her heart, from which she did not recover. Funeral service was held at the family residence at 200 p. m. yesterday, conducted by Rev. W. Selner. Interment was made in the Mc-Creight cemetery. Henry Priester was funeral director.

Margaret Reynolds was born in Paradise, in house where she died, June 15, 1874, and was 34 years old last June. She was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Reynolds, Jr. Her father died seven years ago last March. Margaret was kind hearted and had a sweet disposition; was a noble young lacy and was highly esteemed by all of her acquaintances. She had been a member of the Reformed Lutheran church a number of years and had lived an exemplary life. Margaret is survived by her mother, four brothers and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Mulhollan, of near Panic, Mrs. Anna McClarren, of Pittsburg, T. H. Reynolds, of Frampton, W. D. Reynolds, at home, Mrs. Minnie McDonald, of Turtle Creek, J. E. Reynolds, at home, S. Park Reynolds, of Frampton. All the brothers and sisters attended the funeral.

Death of Mrs. C. C. Myers.

Mrs. Mary Myers departed this life Aug. 18, 1908, after an illness of a few months with typhoid fever. She was born May 23, 1865. She leaves to mourn her loss a loving husband, five children, an aged mother and two brothers.

She was an active worker in the church. Her place was seldom vacant only when sickness was in the home. Her labors of love were many. She was highly respected by all her friends. The casket in which she lay would not contain the floral wreaths and bouquets brought by her friends. Class No. 4 in Sunday School of which she was a member showed their esteem for her by a beautiful bouquet which adorned the head of her casket. The broken circle was made from the flowers she had raised. A beautiful bouquet was presented by Miss Esther Carl, of Reynoldsville, Mrs. Alice Spare, Mrs. Sadie Martz Mrs. Bertha Guthrie, Mrs. L. C. Guthrie, Mrs. Olie Guthrie, Mrs. Anna Foster, Miss Nell Foster, of Heathville. Mrs. Edith Enterline, and Mrs. Martha Funk, of Summerville.

We sincerely hope the dear sister is over on the evergreen shore basking in the sunlight of God's love where pain and suffering are no more. Dearest Mary thou hast left us Dearest Mary thou hast left us And thy loss we deeply feel: But 'tis God who has berft us, EHe can all our sorrows heal. Gone to dwell with saints and angels In the brighter world above; in the brighter world above; one to be forever with the Savior And bask forever in his love. A FRIEND. Resolutions.

Rev. W. Frank Reber and wife, of Hutchinson, Kan., visited friends in town from Saturday until yesterday. Rev. Reber was a former pastor of the Reynoldsville Presbyterian church. He went from here to Urbana, Ohio, and two months ago took up the pastorate of the Presbyterian church at Hutchinson and Mrs. Reber went to her home in Franklin Co., Pa., and was on her way to Hutchinson for the first time when they stopped off here.

County Will Build Bridge

The supervisors of Winslow township netitioned the court for an order for Jefferson county to build the new bridge across the Sandy Lick Creek at Hopkins and the order was granted and county will build the bridge, which will cost about $7,000.00. This new bridge would have increased the tax in the township considerably.

Buried Fourth Child
