Funeral was held Sunday forenoon and interment was made in Circle Hill cemetery at Puncxsutawney. Dr. J. B. Neale and daughter, Miss Nulu Neale, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hillis attended the funeral.

Adelsperger Lands a Trio.

July 17th Samuel and C. H. Cochran, two well known characters from Indiana county, had four young men of Reynoldsville arrested on a charge of highway robbery, but when the case was called in Brookville court failed to appear against the defendants. The Judge issued a warrant for them and officials followed their trail until Wednesday of last week when information came that they were in Clearfield. Chief-of-Police Adelsperger went to that city Thursday and nabbed the recreant gentlemen, taking them to Brookville. While there Adelsperger saw James Fox, wanted for a small offense in Reynoldsville, and brought him back for trial.

Gibson has visited so long and his optical work has been so successful that you will do well to see him if your eyes need care. Brookville Sept. 22 and 23, Reynoldsville Sept. 24.

Death of Mary Hunter.

Miss Mary Hunter, an aged lady and a member of one of the pioneer families of Beechwoods, died at the home of her brother, Robert, on the Hunter farm at 4.30 Wednesday morning, Sept. 2, 1908. Death was caused by dropsy and cancer of the stomach with which she has been suffering for several years.

She is survived by Mrs. Emanuel Kilgenschmidt, of Beechwoods, and three brothers, Joseph and Robert, who live on the homestead at Beechwoods, and McCurdy, of Coal Glen. Funeral service was held in the Beechwoods Presbyterian church at 10.30 a. m. Friday, conducted by Rev. G. H. Hill, and interment was made in Beechwoods cemetery. Deceased was an aunt of J. W. and E. W. Hunter, of Reynoldsville.

Sixth Anniversary as Pastor.

Last Sunday was the sixth anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. J. W. Myers in the Reynoldsville Lutheran charge and in commemoration of the event he delivered a sermon Sunday morning showing in detail the work accomplished in that time in the three divisions of the field: Trinity Lutheran in Reynoldsville, Emoricville and Chestnut Grove. Mr. Myers has been one of the most earnest members of the local ministry and in quiet, unostentatious manner has labored devotedly for the good of his charge and people. He has won the good will and esteem not alone of his congregation but of the community.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN MURDER.

One Man Shot in Arm and Others Heard Bullets Whistle.

Monday evening some Reynoldsville fellows were playing cards and drinking beer in the lime shed near the railroad crossing just east of the P. R. R. cut below town, and among the number were George Phillips and Joseph Tyler, two glassworkers. Phillips and Tyler got into a dispute and Phillips pulled a revolver out of his pocket and shot Tyler. The bullet struck Tyler on right arm, about half way between elbow and shoulder, and the bullet went through his arm. Tyler started to run and two others, who were in the game, also made haste to get away from Phillips and he fired two shots at them as they ran. Tyler's arm was dressed by a physician and no serious results are anticipated. It was certainly a close call for Tyler and a narrow escape from a murder being committed. No arrests have been made.

Wolf River Beauties.

As a producer of real material wealth, a Deemer's Cross Roads farm has Standard Oil stock or Sykesville gold mines beaten to a frazzle. We have mentioned before a few instances of the extraordinary growing power of some of the farms in that region upon which our esteemed contemporary at Sykesville, with a lamentable lack of veneration for the superior age of THE STAR, has presumed to tack the Missouri sign. But that apples are grown there on the farm of Amos Deemer twelve inches or more in circumference, now and not yet fully grown, we can vouch for and produce the goods. Mr. Deemer on Saturday brought to the office a bag of magnificent Wolf River apples, hardly one of which measured less than a good long foot around. Mr. Deemer, with other enterprising farmers in the county, is proving that with proper care and cultivation fruit can be grown here equal to anything produced in more favored parts of the state.

How to Get Strong.

P. J. Daly, of 1247 W. Congress St., Chicago, tells of a way to become strong. He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, that I feel it's my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at Stoke & Feicht Drug Co. drug store. 50c.

AMOS MORGAN PASSED AWAY.

Prominent in Glass Business For Many Years—Buried at Glassboro, N. J.

Amos Morgan, father of Mrs. F. C. Westcott, died at the latter's home on Main street at 6.30 o'clock Thursday morning, September 3, 1908, from heart trouble and dropsy. He was born January 6, 1838, making him 70 years, 7 months and 27 days old at time of death. He was born at Glassboro, N. J., and spent all life in that city with the exception of the last two years, when advancing years made it necessary for him to retire from active work, and he lived thereafter with his daughter, Mrs. F. C. Westcott, in this place. In 1859 Mr. Morgan was united in marriage to Miss Emma Shoch, who died fifteen years ago. To the union sons and daughters were born, of whom the following survive: Lawrence Morgan, of Santa Rosa, Cal., Edward and Forest Morgan, of Philadelphia, David Morgan, of Port Alleghe, Pa., Mrs. William Crane, of Camden, N. J., Mrs. E. C. Linebaugh, of Butler, Pa., and Mrs. F. C. Westcott, of Reynoldsville.

Mr. Morgan had been connected with the glass business all his life, acting for many years before his retirement as manager of the Whitney Bottle Factory at Glassboro.

Friday evening the remains were taken to Glassboro on the 6.08 Pennsylvania passenger train and Saturday at 2.00 p. m. funeral services were held in the Methodist Protestant church of that city, conducted by Rev. L. D. Stultz, the pastor. Burial was made there beside the body of Mr. Morgan's wife.
