Four years ago we started in to manufacture high grade macaroni, and we have been kept busy delivering the goods ever since. Twice within the above period we have been compelled to enlarge our factory in order to supply our growing trade, until at present we have the best equipped plant for the manufacture of macaroni, noodles, etc., in this part of the country. We have been urged by our many friends in the trade to manufacture an extra fine brand of macaroni for the fancy grocery trade. We have just added this department to our already large factory and are now in position to supply the trade with a superior article along these lines. This new kind of macaroni we call our "Jefferson Brand" and comes packed in one pound paper cartons, 24 cartons to the case. We also wish to call your attention to our "Jefferson Brand" Double Egg Noodles, so called on account of us using two eggs to the pound of noodles, whereas other manufacturers use only one egg to the pound, or at best three eggs to two pounds of noodles. These noodles come in two styles: Broad style, which is termed "Ribbon Noodles," and fine style, which we call "Fedelina Amatasse." These noodles can be used in a variety of ways: Prepared the same as macaroni, or with meat broth, or in any style that you use the home made article. The fine kind can be prepared the same as oat meal or any breakfast food and served with sugar and milk, and makes a very appetizing breakfast food. These noodles are packed in the same manner as the macaroni, only there are 20 cartons to the case. We cannot speak too highly of the above brand of noodles and macaroni as they are the result of years of experiment along these lines. Heretofore we have packed our output in bulk, which, while our output is easily sold to the foreign trade, did not suit our many friends in the American trade on account of the large sized package. Now is your chance to get the finest article in its line in this or any other country.

ALSO

Through our representatives in Italy, we have just secured an extra fine assortment of pure Olive Oil, we import and pack under the following brands:—"Purity," "Jefferson Brand" and "Marrinero Brand." These goods are second to none in purity and quality. Few American people, outside of the medical profession, know the value of Olive Oil, which is so extensively used by the Italians in this and other countries. Did you ever hear of an Italian having appendicitis? No. Why? Because they use Olive Oil for culinary purposes instead of the heavier animal fats. It is also very beneficial to the preservation of the gums and teeth. Have you noticed it? In fact it has more soothing and healing qualities than any other food known. It can be used for frying all kinds of food, especially fish, game, potatoes and meats of all kinds, also in dressing all kinds of green stuff, and in making salads. Do not risk your health and life by using a mixture of cotton seed and peanut oil packed and sold as Olive Oil and more often appearing under the name of "Salad Oil." Insist on getting the genuine article from a reliable dealer. All of the goods that are packed and manufactured by us are guaranteed to conform with the existing Pure Food Laws in their strictest sense. Dealers, write us for prices. We can interest you.

MAN SHOULD NOT DIE

There Is No Physiological Reason For Death.

THE BODY IS SELF RENEWING

Perfect Diet and Mode of Living Would Insure Exact Balance Between Bodily Waste and Renewal and Would Mean Physical Immortality.

"The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death," said the Scriptures, yet if some man attempted seriously to reassert this ancient truth today we would look upon him as a mad prophet indeed. Yet the time will come when men will be able to believe this promise of the Bible, although they may never see it literally fulfilled.

Death some day will be acknowledged to be unnatural in the economy of the creative plant as are sin and suffering. But whether or not in some millennium period mortal man will be able to forego the gross process of physical dissolution in becoming a spiritual body is a purely metaphysical question that does not enter here. What does interest us is the question, occupying the greatest scientific minds today, whether the body as such cannot be retained in perfect condition indefinitely.

William A. Hammond, one of the great authorities, answers it by saying, "There is no physiological reason why man should die."

Thomas J. Allen, M. A., LL. D., writing in a similar strain, says: "The human body is not like a machine which must wear out by constant disintegration, for it is self renewing. It is a simple, scientific fact that we get an entirely new body every few years, estimated at from three to seven. Every day is a birthday, for the process of waste and renewal never ceases. Perfect balance between elimination and renewal would avoid permanent waste."

There is no doubt that when we become more enlightened and understand perfectly the laws that govern and determine our physical lives and when we conform to these religiously life will be immeasurably prolonged.

The decay of the body as evidenced in old age is unnatural. The aesthetic within us recoils in merely contemplating its approach. We feel that there must be something self-perpetrating in the change when the strong color in a healthy man and the fresh beauty in a pure woman take their departure, when the bloom on the cheeks fade, when the brilliant light within the eyes grows dim and the full, red lips become pale and fallen.

Medical science has pointed out the physiological cause of these conditions. Probably the time will come when it will be able to point out the manner of avoiding them.

We know that the body grows old because of the existence of an imperfect balance between the waste which the body accumulates and the amount it is able to throw off. During youth the balance is perfect, because the body has more than its normal vitality and strength to throw off the waste matter, but as we grow older this perfect balance becomes destroyed from one cause or another.

The strength that should go to eliminating impurities from the body is not husbanded, but rather squandered in different ways. Then, too, we eat and drink those things that cause excessive waste. An impure diet composed of foods containing uric acid, such as meat, or of drinks containing poisons, such as tea and coffee, taxes the eliminative powers, and when the time comes when these give way a state of imperfect elimination has set in, and the wastes in part are deposited in the system, settling in the arteries and joints of the body and accumulating until they become obstructive elements.

The blood stream circulates imperfectly, and when once this condition exists had functioning of every organ of the body results, and old age and death gradually ensue.

Mind, too, has a great deal to do in hastening or retarding the unpleasant signs of physical decay. Mental science has satisfactorily demonstrated that mean, narrow, selfish and unpleasant thoughts act destructively on the tissues of the body, while thoughts of a wholesome and positive character act constructively.

And when the curtains of "the windows of the soul" are drawn, when the temple's door is closed and a final silence is within, when the spirit passes the threshold to take up a newer and finer edifice of its own creation, science assures us that the body lives on. Here at least physical immortality is an assured fact.

Theology has irreligiously taught us that the body returns to inanimate dust. The religious answer of science is that it returns to God. The latest word in the field of biology is that all nature, including the all mother soil, is animated and hallowed with the divine principle of life.

More than this, matter is indestructible and eternal. There is not an atom that can be lost in all the universe. For this reason our bodies do not really die. They are in the care of the angels of the elements.

The peculiar cellular arrangement that formed them into a beautiful body may be caused to disintegrate through the action of the oxygen upon it, time may change the position of the atoms composing it, but the latter still contain within themselves the sacred and eternal principle of life as much as does the soul, and they exist only to enter into new and perhaps more beautiful combinations of life.—Health.

PITTSBURG EXPOSITION NOW IN FULL SWING

Exhibits and Entertainments Are Better Than Ever

The Pittsburg exposition is now in full swing and the big industrial and amusement show is daily the scene of large and brilliant gatherings. This is the twentieth annual season of the exposition and the attendance up to date is far in excess of that of previous years.

The sesqui-centennial celebration of Pittsburg will be the biggest event in the history of the city and will attract immense crowds from the outlying districts. Sesqui-centennial day at the exposition will be on Tuesday, Sept. 29, instead of 28, as erroneously announced previously. Special preparations have been made for the occasion in the way of decorations and amusements. This will be one of the biggest days of the celebration, and there are ample facilities for the care and comfort of the thousands who will be in attendance.

The exhibits and entertainments are larger and more varied than they were in previous seasons and are creating the most laudatory comment. The big armor plate display is attracting a great deal of attention and is particularly interesting to those who are not familiar with the construction of warships. It shows the ponderous armor plates, weighing many tons, that protect the ships from deadly shells of the enemy. The conning tower of the battleship "Delaware" is in the exhibition, as is a model of "Fighting Bob Evans's" flagship "Connecticut." A model fleet of over sixty barges of coal towed by the Sprague, the largest tugboat on the river, is an instructive exhibit, while the "House Electrical," in which electricity as a household commodity is shown, is an interesting feature. Electrical devices performing such duties as washing dishes, dusting, lighting, heating, ironing and sewing are demonstrated. The big department stores have exhibits in which the latest fashions in dress are displayed and, in fact, if there is anything new under the sun it is to be found at the exposition.

The military spectacle of the Spanish-American war, which is a reproduction of all the big battles, including the destruction of the "Maine," with gorgeous scenic effects, is drawing large and delighted audiences. Hartz and his band furnish the incidental music, while illustrated songs contribute to the novelty of this entertainment, which was given its first production at the exposition. "A Day in Japan," a unique electrical exhibit, and the Theatorium, presenting the latest moving pictures, together with the merry-go-round, toboggan slide, Ferris wheel and numerous other amusement features furnish fun and enjoyment for both young and old. The steamer Sunshine makes hourly trips to Davis Island dam for the benefit of the patrons.

The musical program for this season eclipses all previous efforts and the music hall is packed daily with large and fashionable audiences. Sousa, the world-famous "March King," and his incomparable band will close a brilliantly successful engagement Sept. 19. The programs of this organization are up to the minute and all the reigning New York successes, as well as the works of music masters of revered memory, are being played.

Sousa will be followed Sept. 21 by the Russian Symphony orchestra, while Arthur Pryor's band, Bostonia Women's orchestra, Creators and Dammrosch will appear in turn, completing one of the largest and best musical festivals in history.

A Maori Name.

A seaside resort in the Hawke's bay district of New Zealand is called by the charming Maori name Tamataukangahangaouau. But this is only an abbreviation. The full name is Tamataukangahangaouaouataneurarakitanaatahu. The translation is, "The hill on which Taneaurarangi (the husband of heaven) played his flute to his beloved."—Auckland Letter.

Marital Persiflage.

"I must confess," remarked Mrs. Crabbe, "I don't believe there ever was a really perfect man."

"Well," replied Mr. Crabbe, "I suppose that's because Eve wasn't made first."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, if Eve had been made first she would have bossed the job of making Adam."—Philadelphia Press.

In Sore Straits.

"I tell you I must have some money!" roared the king of Maritania, who was in sore financial straits. "Somebody will have to cough up."

"Alas," sighed the guardian of the treasury, who was formerly court jester, "all our coffers are empty!"—Judge.

Turn About.

"Some people," grumbled Groucher, "make me sick."

"I should think nearly everybody would make you sick," replied Diggs.

"Indeed! Why?"

"Reciprocity, you know."—Catholic Standard and Times.
