Elizabeth Coxe, who entered the Senior class of R. H. S. at the beginning of the term, was suddenly called home Friday on account of the serious illness of her mother. Her vacant seat fills all the Seniors with regret. We hope that in the near future she may return and take up the studies with the class of 1909.

The debate Friday on, "Resolved, That the jury has outlived its usefulness," was very good and those who took part put forth great effort. The debate was weakened somewhat by one of the debaters refusing to debate. The judges' decision was in favor of the affirmative.

Just think—FOUR Seniors.

Messrs. Moyer, Edleblute and Westcoat were visitors at literary society of R. H. S. Friday.

The following officers were elected in the Literary Society Friday: Pres., Fonda King; Vice-President, Hazel McCreight; Secretary, Ruth Johnson; Assistant Secretary, Marion Harris; Critic, Miss Millren; Marshals, Messrs. Humphrey and Hartman.

Miss Elvae Coleman instructor in music of the lower grades, attended chapel last Thursday morning and taught the high school some new songs. Also favored them with a vocal solo, which was highly appreciated by all.

Teacher in Cicero—"Barclay at the bat."

The high school did not have chapel Monday morning on account of Miss Coleman's absence.

Patrons' Day for the Reynoldsville public schools will be observed on February 15 and 16. This change of date is with the knowledge and consent of the county superintendent.

Last month fourteen Freshmen passed and this month twenty-one. Freshies, keep up the good work.

The following pupils won the spelling contest in their respective rooms: Kathleen Neale, room 12; Eula Eisenhuth, room 11; Georgia Newberry, room 10; Cora Horn, room 9; Philippa Jennings, room 8; Bertha Neale, room 7; Martha Froehlich, room 6; LaRue Patterson, room 5; Malcolm McDonald's name was reported last week from the eighth grade.

Mr. Evans was a visitor on Thursday forenoon.

The past week was a record week for punctuality, six out of the twelve grades having had no pupil tardy. There were only eight cases of tardiness in the grades during the whole week. The complete record follows: Room 1, Miss Dempsey, tardy 0; room 2, Miss Myers, 1; room 3, Miss Framp-ton, 0; room 5, Miss Lewis, 0; room 6, Miss Butler, 1; room 7, Miss Schultze, 0; room 8, Miss McEntee, 0; room 9, Miss Clark, 1; room 10, Miss Meek, 0; room 11, Miss Morgert, 2; room 12, Miss Black, 1; room 12½, Miss Robinson, 2; room 13, Miss Millren, 3; room 14, Mr. Dillman, 4; room 15, Mr. Wilson, 6.

The eighth grade defeated the seventh grade in a spelling contest on Friday afternoon.

The Seniors are taking dictation lessons in German.

Prof. Rife accompanied Miss Coxe as far as Driftwood Saturday on her journey to Philadelphia.

Several of the H. S. teachers went to the local institute at Rathmel Saturday.

Some of the H. S. boys played a game of basket ball at Wishaw last evening.

"Please be quiet, I'm speaking!"

Teacher in Virgil—"Do you remember in the time of Abraham—?"
 Senior—"Yes, sir."

The Seniors have completed Wilhelm Tell. All enjoyed it very much and are sorry it ended so soon.

The Seniors now recite Virgil in chapel.

Life 100,000 Years Ago.

Scientists have found in a cave in Switzerland bones of men who lived 100,000 years ago, when life was in constant danger from wild beasts. To-day, the danger, as shown by A. W. Brown, of Alexander, Me., is largely from deadly disease. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, which cured me, I could not have lived," he writes, "suffering as I did from a severe lung trouble and stubborn cough." To cure sore lungs, colds, obstinate coughs, and prevent pneumonia, its the best medicine on earth. 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by Stoke & Felcht Drug Co. Trial bottle free.

Carload of new sleighs, second hand sleighs and bob-sleds for sale at Burns' livery stable.

Communication.

The comments in the Herald a few weeks ago with reference to the selection of the architect by the West Reynoldsville school board for the work on their proposed school building, was, no doubt, made without any knowledge of the true state of affairs, or the writer must have been one of those who, when they have a few dollars to spend for the appearance of the town, would prefer to give it to some foreigner rather than stimulate home industry, and then walk the streets and howl "poverty."

It is an undisputed fact that there were plans submitted to the West Reynoldsville school board by home talent for their new school building that were superior, complied with all state laws, and were acknowledged to meet the requirements of the board, and no real justification can be shown for the action in engaging a foreign architect.

The writer does not question the right of the school board to engage a foreign architect, only the real principal of such action does not show interest by the school board in the welfare of the town. Such action, practiced by others as well, is one of the real causes of our town being in the state of poverty that it is. If the citizens will take notice, people from other towns do not come here to patronize any business of any description within the limits of our town, but there are always people with loose scruples (or without any at all) who get themselves into positions where discretion should be the better part of valor, but the trust is betrayed for the sake of some personal advantage they might gain. A CITIZEN.

"When Knighthood Was in Flower"

Paul Kester in arranging Charles Major's novel, "When Knighthood was in Flower," for dramatic use, has succeeded remarkably well in preserving the spirit of the book. Variations from the story as Mr. Major told it have necessarily been made, but they are slight and their only effect is to compress and vivify the tale. The result of Mr. Kester's efforts has been the most stirring romantic drama produced in years, and it affords Miss Grace Merritt, who appears as "Mary Tudor," an opportunity to display some of the most subtle and elusive points of her skill as a comedienne, as well as gives ample scope for a demonstration of her ability to portray emotional scenes, which at times strike a note of genuine tragedy. The production with Miss Merritt and a specially selected cast of twenty people will be the attraction at the Jefferson Theatre, Punxsutawney, Friday evening, January 29th. Special return car to Reynoldsville after the play. Seat sale at McEntire's drug store.

AS TO REAL ESTATE

—Yes, we are in the business. Not for health, but for wealth, and if we succeed we must hustle. We do not want your property for the sake of listing it up to look at, but to sell, and we will do our level best (assisted by a copious spread of printer's ink) to sell it for you. We will not add anything to price you put on your property, (thus driving prospective customers away) but will handle it on strictly commission basis. We bring the buyer and seller together and—"Presto, change!" the thing is done. Come in and see us.
