Former Resident Passed Away. Samuel Robert Miles, son of Mrs. Robert L. Miles, of this place, died at his home in Albion, Erie county, Pa., Sunday morning, March 28th, 1909, from heart trouble. He had been ill for almost three years. Tuesday evening his body was brought to Reynoldsville and taken to home of his mother on Main street. Funeral services will be held this Wednesday afternoon, at the residence, conducted by Rev. John F. Black, of the Methodist Episcopal church, under whom the deceased was converted, assisted by Rev. A. J. Meek, of the Baptist church. Burial will be made in the Reynoldsville cemetery beside the body of the deceased's father, Robert L. Miles.

Samuel R. Miles was born in Clearfield county, Pa., February 13th, 1863, making him 46 years old last month. Twenty-three years ago, at Ansonville, he was united in marriage to Miss Emma McNeil, who, with one daughter, survives. In his youthful days Mr. Miles was a resident of Reynoldsville and is known to many of our people. For the past quarter of a century, until illness unfitted him for actual work, he had been an engineer on the railroad.

Lewis Wagner Died Friday. Lewis Wagner, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed citizens of Rathmel, died at his home in that village Friday, March 26th, 1909, at the age of 76 years. Decease was caused by liver trouble from which he had suffered a long time.

The funeral services were held at his late residence at 2:00 p. m. Monday, conducted by Dr. A. J. Meek, of the Reynoldsville Baptist church, and burial was made in Beulah cemetery under direction of Undertaker Henry Priester. Mr. Wagner was born in Germany January 1, 1833. After coming to America in young manhood he traveled through the west for a time and finally settled in Rathmel. For the past 28 years, excepting one short period spent at Rural Valley, Pa., he had resided at Rathmel and was known to all as a man of absolute integrity and upright character.

Sued for Libel. Matt Savage, editor of the Clearfield Public Spirit, was arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of criminal libel, and has furnished $500 bail for his appearance at the coming session of criminal court. John Short, editor of the Republic, is the prosecutor. The charge grows out of an article published recently in the Spirit in which that paper stated that John Short had "scalped" tickets for the recent Bryan lecture held in Clearfield. While the warrant for the arrest of Savage was sworn out Friday, it was not served until Saturday, when he was taken before Squire Barclay, who placed Savage under $500 bail for his appearance at court.

the soul of fellowship. Those who knew him best most love to contemplate him. He believed in the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. Doctor believed that the man who scatters flowers in the pathway of his fellow men, who lets into the dark places of life the sunshine of human sympathy and human happiness, is following in the footsteps of his Master. His helpful life, his devotion to his wife and family and kindness to everybody will linger as a fragrant memory in the home which his presence brightened and which death has now darkened. His life was gentle, but like the still waters it was deep. In his heart of hearts he carried those he loved, and his hand was never weary, his step never failed in caring for and ministering to those who were in any way dependent upon him.

He is not dead, he is only asleep—resting after a long and well spent life here. Behind the storm clouds always lurks the rainbow and when the storm is past it weeps upon the flowers of the land and the pearls of the sea. Darkness precedes the dawning and out of the blackness of the night comes the sunshine and joy of the day. And so from the beauty of his life his kinsfolk and friends should take an inspiration and go forth to live as he lived, so that when the summons comes they may be as ready as was Doctor Reynolds to enter into the Heavenly Land.

Notice to Contractors.

Death of Taylor Roush.

Zachary Taylor Roush, a citizen of W. at Reynoldsville, died at his home about 5:00 o'clock Friday morning, March 26, 1909, after less than an hour's illness. Cerebral apoplexy caused his demise. Thursday he was in his usual good health and retired without thought of illness. At four in the morning his wife heard a peculiar choking sound, called and received no answer. A physician was hastily summoned but aid was useless.

The funeral was held at the home at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, conducted by Dr. A. J. Meek, of the Baptist church, of which denomination Mr. Roush was a member, and burial was made in the Reynoldsville cemetery, under direction of Hughes & Fleming. Mr. Roush was a member in good standing of the local lodge of Knights of Malta and members of that order attended his funeral in a body.

Taylor Roush was born March 27, 1860, and had lived one day longer would have rounded out his 49th year of life. A carpenter by trade, he came to Reynoldsville from Georgetown eleven years ago and with his genial disposition made many friends. A wife, nine sons and two daughters survive him as follows: Henry Roush, of West Reynoldsville, James Roush, of Homer City, Scott, Harry, John, Clinson, Curt, Howard and George, at home, and Misses Bertha and Carrie, at home.

Impressive Address.

That one touch of sorrow "makes the whole world kin" was strikingly illustrated by the large audience drawn to the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening by the announcement that the minister would take as his theme, "Kidnaping." The sorrow in a Sharon home when a child was stolen from it touched a sympathetic chord in every home throughout the land and even an indirect reference to it commands immediate attention.

The sermon of Rev. John F. Black was in many ways one of the most remarkable and impressive ever delivered from that pulpit. The human interest of the subject was so intense and its application to spiritual matters so apt that it has since been the subject of much public comment. Drawing a word picture of the sorrow caused by the abduction of the Whitla lad and of the enormity of the crime, the speaker portrayed its likeness to the attempts of the Prince of Darkness to ensnare the soul of man; and the ransom paid for the lost boy was compared to the ransom paid for the soul of man on Calvary. Rev. Black used as a basis for his sermon the famous cantos of Milton's Paradise Lost, in which is depicted the council of the powers of evil to plot the destruction of human happiness.

Blackleg.

Owners of livestock in Jefferson county whose cattle are exposed to the infection of blackleg or black-quarter, may have their cattle vaccinated against this disease by the State Livestock Sanitary Board without cost to the owner of the cattle by complying with the following rules:

1. Application for vaccination shall be mailed to Dr. Leonard Pearson, Secretary of the State Livestock Sanitary Board, Harrisburg, before April 15th, 1909.

2. The application shall contain the name and address of the owner of the cattle, a statement as to the location of the farm upon which the animals are kept and the number of animals in the herd.

Vaccinations cannot be made at the expense of the State Livestock Sanitary Board upon application received after April 17th. For such cases vaccine will be furnished free of charge, but the owner will be required to defray the expense of employing the veterinarian to administer it.

LEONARD PEARSON, State Veterinarian
