Open Saturday Evenings.

He Obeyed.

Murat Halstead, the great Journalist of war times, went to General William T. Sherman's headquarters once for the "latest news from the front." Halstead was given with many fine introductory letters, but decided to rely mainly on one given him by Thomas Ewing, Sherman's brother-in-law. He found the general and presented Ewing's letter. The general opened it somewhat impatiently, read a few lines, folded it and said:

"Ah, you come from Ewing, and you desire to have 'all the latest news,' the 'next probable move' of our army, eh? Well, there's a train leaving this town for Cincinnati at 2 o'clock. Here, take this ticket and step over there and get your dinner and then get on that train."

"Well, but General Sherman"— began the newspaper man. But Sherman waved him off.

"Go over and get a good dinner. We have plenty and always strive to treat our friends well. But be sure you don't miss that 2 o'clock train!" And Halstead obeyed.

Japanese Delicacies.

Under the head of "Japanese Delicacies" the Berlin Prometheus gives a list of some of the queer things which are served to citizens of the Flowery Kingdom who "have a refined taste." In the provinces which are so distant from the sea that fresh fish cannot be obtained readily, and where meat is not abundant, snakes and lizards are considered good food and are prepared in many ways. Grasshoppers rank among the real delicacies. They are always kept in captivity without food for a day, then bathed and decapitated and made legless. Heads and legs must be torn off, never cut. They are served in various ways, but dry, with a salad dressing, is the most popular. An insect of the bee family which lives in the earth is also much sought. This is served with sugar or honey when eaten raw, but it is also made into a porridge. The chrysanthemum exists not only in the poetry and art of the Japanese, but has an important place on the table, where it is met as salad, candy and stew.

The Right Hand Seats.

The Philadelphia Record quoted an observant street car conductor to the effect that the right hand seats are always filled first. He could not account for this except on the theory that, as most persons are right handed and accustomed to turning to the right, it might be simply force of habit. "There is another probable reason which he did not think of," says the Record. "It is generally believed that the right side of a car is safer. An old traveler once said to the writer: 'In traveling always sit in the middle of a car and on the right hand side. The middle is safer than the ends in a collision, and the right side is not likely to be "side swiped" by projecting objects on trains, cars or any vehicles passing on the adjacent track.'"

Observations on Baldheads.

"If you care to observe the bald-headed row," remarked the theater goer, "you will find that there is great variety in baldheads. There are elliptical bald spots, circular bald spots, elongated egg shaped bald spots, bald spots that are almost square and bald spots whose shape can hardly be described for the reason that they include the entire circumference of the head, with the exception perhaps of a slight row of finishing fringe between the head and the neck. If it wasn't for the baldheads the theater would be a bore before the rising of the curtain."—New York Press.

A Remarkable Race.

The Lapps are very fond of stimulating drinks. They think nothing of drinking fifteen or twenty cups of coffee a day, while their consumption of punch is on a vast scale. It is no uncommon thing to see numbers of helplessly drunk natives in the streets of Tromso, especially when the sale of reindeer flesh has been profitable. Yet robbery and, indeed, crime in general are practically unknown among them. The innate honesty of the people is quite extraordinary.—Wide World Magazine.

The Label Failed.

Gunner—You can't get the best of those blamed baggage smashers. I labeled my trunks "China" and thought they would handle them with unusual care. Guyer—And did they? Gunner—No, but blamed if they didn't ship the trunks all the way to Shanghai, and I haven't seen them since.—Chicago News.

A Slander.

Every time a girl wants to find anything in her top bureau drawer she gets a stick and stirs everything in the drawer round and round. If what she is looking for doesn't come to the surface, then she is satisfied it isn't there.—Atholton Globe.

Intuition.

"What became of that rich uncle of yours?"
"I think he's dead, but I don't know."
"Gee! How did he lose all his money?"—Cleveland Leader.

The Example.

Professor (lecturing on hygiene)—To bacco, gentlemen, makes men ugly, short winded, idiotic, paralytic, and I can tell you this from experience, for I have smoked for many years!

Why, Indeed?

Mrs. Meeker—Wake up, John! I hear a noise downstairs. I'm sure there are burglars in the house. Meeker—Nonsense, my dear! Why should burglars want to make a noise?

The Greatest Success Known in Treating Rheumatism.

Uric-O Expels the Poisonous Uric and Rheumatic Acid from the System,
Insuring a Permanent Cure.

The rheumatic person is skeptical regarding the claims of almost any remedy advertised as a cure for rheumatism and one can scarcely blame him for being so. All the plasters and liniments combined never actually cured a case of rheumatism. They may relieve it in one quarter but it is sure to break out somewhere else. The only true way to cure rheumatism is to drive it from the system, for as long as the uric and rheumatic acid remains in the blood, one is never free from the trouble. Uric-O seeks out the rheumatic poisoning in the blood, muscles and kidneys, renders it inert and harmless and drives it out of the system. It is composed of perfect antidotes for the rheumatic acid poison in the system, and the secret of its wonderful success lies in the fact that it is designed to cure rheumatism only.

Uric-O is sold and recommended by Stoke & Feicht and by druggists everywhere at 75c and $1.00 the bottle. They will furnish samples and literature upon request or same can be obtained by writing to the Smith Drug Co., 110 Smith Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y.

For Those We Love.

There are many persons who consider that the only persons to whom they should ever make a show of temper are the members of their own family. They consider fights with outsiders as lowering and beneath them; but to their brothers and sisters or other members of the household it is perfectly proper to say just exactly what you think and say it in just as disagreeable a manner as possible.

And yet when the matter is thought about in the right way it is easy enough to see that our loved ones are the very persons before whom we should hold our tongue. It is only human to strike a cruel blow at an enemy, one for whom we care nothing and whom we really hate; but to cut with cruel words the ones we love best and whose happiness we cherish most, is devilish. To love our enemies is the highest form of christianity; but to torture our best friends is the lowest form of meanness. Of course there are liberties of speech in the home that would be out of place elsewhere. But they do not include unkind words and the expressions of ill nature. If you can sacrifice your desire to give expression to your ill tempers before strangers, you should certainly be willing to make a similar sacrifice for the ones you love.—Ex.
