DIED IN WILLIAMSPORT.

Mrs. W. A. Winner Died Suddenly From Heart Trouble.

Mrs. Margaret Winner, wife of W. A. Winner, of Williamsport, Pa., and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Williams, of West Reynoldsville, died early Thursday morning, June 17, 1909, of heart trouble. She had been in her usual health and had attended prayer meeting the previous evening, taking part in the meeting by quoting this verse of scripture, "Boast not thyself of to-morrow, for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth." Her sudden and unexpected death was a great shock to the husband, aged parents, brothers, sisters and friends.

Margaret Williams was born at Strattonville, Clarion county, December 8, 1881, and was 27 years, 6 months and 9 days old at time of death. Her parents moved to this place a number of years ago, when Margaret was quite young, and she was well known here and had a host of friends who were sorry to hear of her death.

June 23rd, 1903, six years ago, Margaret was united in marriage to W. A. Winner, of Williamsport, in which city they spent six short and happy years of married life. Deceased united with the First Baptist church in this place when a girl and was a faithful and consistent christian ever after.

Funeral service was held at late home of deceased in Williamsport Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Williams, pastor of the Baptist church of which Mrs. Winner was a member. The funeral sermon text was the verse Mrs. Winner quoted at prayer meeting the evening before she died. Interment was made in the Williamsport cemetery.

Robert S. Williams and wife, parents, and the following brothers and sisters attended the funeral: G. G. Williams, wife and daughter, Miss Ida, Milton E. Williams and wife, I. M. Hoch and wife, Misses Wilda and Sara Williams, of Reynoldsville, Walter D. Williams and wife, of Oak Ridge, and Mrs. M. B. Young, of Clarion.

Train Runs Into Slide.

Last Saturday night the eastbound passenger train on the P. R. R., due here at 6.22 p. m., run into a slide in the big cut west of Bennezzette. The engine and tender jumped the track. The tender was crosswise on the track when the train stopped. No one injured and the passengers were not given much of a shaken up although the train was running about forty-five miles an hour when the engine struck the dry earth and rock pile on the track. It was almost a miracle that there were not some lives lost. P. O. O'Conner was conductor and Andy Donny engineer on the train. The train was two hours late arriving in Driftwood.

This was what is known as a dry slide, which does not occur very often on railroads, and it was very much of a surprise to Engineer Denny. During wet seasons trains approach big cuts, where there is danger of a slide, cautiously, but in dry seasons they are not looking for slides.

Bold Thief.

Last Saturday W. A.
