New Game Laws.

The approach of the hunting season brings as usual, many requests for information regarding the open season, etc., for game in this State, and in order to afford this information for our readers we give place to the following table of animals and birds declared to be game birds and animals in Pennsylvania, when they may be killed, the number, etc., taken from the digest of the Game, Fish and Forestry Laws for 1909:

Bear, number, unlimited, open season October 1 to January 1; blackbirds, all kinds, unlimited, September 1 to January 1; doves, mourning or turtle, unlimited, September 1 to January 1; deer, male with visible horns, one each season, November 15 to December 1; English, Mongolian or Chinese pheasant, ten in one day, twenty in one week, fifty in one season, October 15 to December 1; ruffed grouse, commonly called pheasants five in one day, twenty in one season, October 15 to December 1; rabbits, ten in one day, November 1 to December 15; quail, commonly called Virginia partridge, ten in one day, forty in one week, 75 in one season, October 15 to November 15; Hungarian quail, closed for two years; web-footed wild fowl of all kinds, unlimited, September 1 to April 10; wild turkey, one in a day, two in one season, October 15 to November 15; woodcock, ten in one day, twenty in one week, fifty in one season, October 1 to December 1; squirrel, fox, black or grey, six of combined kinds in one day, October 15 to December 1; shore birds, unlimited, September 1 to January 1; snipe, Jack or Wilson, unlimited, September 1 to May 1; plover, unlimited, July 15 to December 1.

Game killed in this Commonwealth may be had in possession only during the open season for such game and not thirty days thereafter.

The Starling, English sparrow, kingfisher, crow, raven, eagle, buzzard, crane, heron, bittern, Cooper's hawk, sharp-shinned hawk, duck hawk, pigeon hawk, great horned owl, barred owl, red or pine squirrel, coon, possum, woodchuck or groundhog, fox, wildcat, weasel, mink and skunk are not protected by law and may be killed at any time.

Jefferson County Shown in Figures.

The tabulated figures in the county commissioners' office, made from the returns of the last assessment in Jefferson county, to the commissioners by the assessors of the several townships and boroughs, aggregate the following: Whole number of persons subject to taxation, 21,051.

Acres of cleared land in the county, 261,791.

Acres of timbered land, 181,347.

Value of all real estate, $13,505,109.

Value of all real estate subject to taxation, $12,422,019.

Value of real estate exempt from taxation $1,083,090.

Number of horses, 6,408, valued at $246,961.

Number of cattle, 7,034, valued at $94,361.

Value of salaries and emoluments of office, $953,034.

Value of all property taxable for county purposes, $13,716,375.

Amount of county, poor and building taxes assessed at 6 1/2 mills, $89,837 43.

Amount of money at interest in the county, $2,604,166.

Value of property taxable for state purposes, $2,612,966.

Obituary.

Mrs. Clara Cartin, who has lived in Nanton for the past year, passed to her rest after a brief illness, Saturday afternoon about three o'clock, Aug. 28th, 1909. The immediate cause of her death was cholera morbis, although she had been ailing for some time. Drs. Kean Robertson and Creighton, assisted by the husband, two sons and friends, did all that could be done to prolong her life, but our Heavenly Father saw best to order it otherwise.

Clara Cartin, whose maiden name was Estell, was born and reared in Bellville, Blair Co., Pennsylvania, birth occurred June 16, 1863, therefore she was 56 years, 2 months and 12 days old at the time of her death.

In 1874 while living in Reynoldsville, Pa., she was married to H. J. Cartin. To this union was born three sons and six daughters. One son and four daughters have preceded her to the river that we all must cross.

She leaves a husband, two sons, Charley and Clyde, who were with her during her last sickness and were tireless in their efforts to minister to her comfort and welfare and prolong life; two daughters, Mrs. Bernice McFarlan of Chicago, and Mrs. Casson Miller of Arizona; also five sisters and two brothers, Clarence and Clyde Estell, proprietors of the Globe Sign Works of Calgary. The Estell brothers accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Estell were present for the funeral. A wealth of flowers contributed by friends and relatives adorned the casket, giving their silent testimony to the purity and beauty of the life that had gone and the love of the friends left behind, for she was truly loved by everyone that knew her.

The funeral services were conducted at the house by Rev. Bishop of the Methodist church, after which the body was laid to rest in the Nanton cemetery.—The News, Nanton, Alberta.

Mrs. Cartin, who was a sister-in-law of Mrs. A. M. Applegate of this place, will be remembered by a number of Reynoldsville people, having resided here a number of years ago.

While enroute from Sagamore to Reynoldsville last Saturday in an automobile James A. McCreight had a tire burst just as he was about to stop in front of the Hotel Pantall. He got it fixed and proceeded on his journey. Monday he was returning to Sagamore on the same car, and just as he was approaching the same hotel, the same tire exploded again within twenty feet of the place where it exploded on Saturday. Mr. McCreight says he thinks the blasted atmosphere of Punxsutawney is in cahoots with Frea's garage.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

PAUL JONES' PROMISE.

Our Great Naval Hero and the Duchess of Chartres.

The Duchess of Chartres was an enthusiast in the cause of American liberty and a warm friend of its great naval champion, Paul Jones, whom she nicknamed the "Untried Knight of the Sea." The duchess was a royal princess and a very great lady, and Captain Jones was a sailor, self educated and the son of a Scotch gardener, but in the exchange of gifts and compliments which, according to the custom of the day in France attended their friendship, he was not to be outshone.

At a luncheon which she gave just before he sailed from France in the Ranger on that famous cruise of his which carried the war to the very shore of Britain it was the good fortune of Paul Jones to share in a conversation touching a French naval engagement in which the grandfather of the duchess had borne a conspicuous part and to defend and explain his maneuvers on that occasion, showing a knowledge of every ship and every captain engaged and winning on the spot the ardent personal adherence of Mme. de Chartres.

At the close of the feast she presented him a valuable watch which had been her grandfather's. Taken by surprise, the American captain nevertheless accepted it with a grace that charmed the courtly company, promising that in return, if fortune favored him, he would some day "fly an English frigate at her feet."

It was a daring boast, but in A. C. Buel's biography of Paul Jones it is related how he kept it. Within two years occurred the marvelous victory of the Bonhomme Richard over the Serapis, concerning which the victor wrote the duchess a letter, ending, "The enemy surrendered at thirty five minutes past 10 p. m. by your watch, which I consult only to fix the moment of victory."

That was a phrase to delight a society that revelled in pretty phrases, and the duchess was amply satisfied. When Paul Jones reached Paris she gave a grand banquet in his honor. Just before it ended he reminded her of her gift and his promise. A servant was sent to his room and returned with a long leather case, which the duchess took amid the exclamations and eager curiosity of the company.

"Your royal highness perceives the impossibility of keeping my promise in kind," explained the knight of the sea, smiling. "The English frigate proved to be a forty-four on two decks, and she is now at Lorient with French colors flying. The best I can do toward keeping my word of two years ago is to place in your dainty hands the sword of the brave officer who commanded her. I have the honor to surrender to the levellest of women the sword surrendered to me by one of the bravest of men—the sword of Captain the Hon. Richard Pearson of his Britannic majesty's late ship, the Serapis."

Fooled.

He was a doctor and was patiently waiting for his first patient. Thought he: "If the mountain will not come to Mahomet, Mahomet must go to the mountain. And as patients will not seek me out I must needs seek them out."

He strolled through the cheap market and presently saw a man buy six nice cucumbers.

"Here's a chance!" said he and followed him home.

Patiently he waited for four long and lonely hours, and about midnight the front door quickly opened, and the man dashed down the steps.

He seized him by the arm and cried earnestly: "Do you want a doctor?"

"No!" replied the man roughly. "Want more cucumbers?"—London Answers.

The Bride's Linen Room.

If a groom elect has not provided an extra room to his house for storing his bride's linen he should build it in time, for in these days whenever a girl marries her mother closes her lips grimly, goes after her pocketbook and does the right thing with nine dozen towels, fifteen dozen napkins, eighty-four pairs of sheets, etc. She doesn't expect her daughter to open a boarding house, but she has proper pride and intends to do the right thing by the girl even if it breaks her.—Archibon Globe.

Couldn't Forget It.

"Saturday night some miscreant juggled off a whole cord of my wood, and somehow I can't forget about it!" declared Silas.

"Have you tried to forget it?" inquired his friend.

"Yes. Sunday morning I went to church hoping I could get it off my mind, and before I had been there five minutes the choir started in singing 'The Lost Chord,' so I got out!"—Judge.

Lunch and Luncheon.

"We don't have dinner in the middle of the day at our boarding house any more."

"You have lunch, I suppose?"

"No, luncheon."

"Well, that's the same thing."

"Oh, no, it isn't! Lunch is a light dinner, and luncheon is a light lunch."—Puck.

Cure For Loneliness.

The redheaded girl is a winner—and the man who gets one will not be lonesome. He will soon find out whether he has drawn a Titan haired angel or a combination of a cyclone and a sunset.—Baltimore Sun.

Do You Know

That your heart is wound up for life, that while you sleep it works, that it beats 100,000 times every day and moves 18,000 pounds of blood through your body every day? Do you know that just now you ought to do all you can to make your heart do its work naturally? For the better the weather, the more care your heart needs. If you take Nature's Herbs it will brace you up, surprise you through the hot weather and give you the very best of refreshing health. There are many of our Reynoldsville people using Nature's Herbs now with the best of results, and there are 500 people or more in the town that would feel better if they would use Nature's Herbs. For there is nothing that takes the poison out of the blood, aches and pains out of the body, and stiffness and soreness out of the joints and muscles like Nature's Herbs. Right through this hot sultry weather is a good time to take them. They will do you lots of good.
