Killed by Flyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roskosky, residents of Onandaga, the small mining village north of Punxsutawney, were instantly killed Monday afternoon by being struck by the southbound flyer leaving DuBois at 2:27. They stepped from the northbound track to avoid a freight and stepped directly in front of the flyer. Engineer Griffiths did not see them in time to bring his heavy train to a stop. Both the man and wife were badly mutilated. The train was stopped and the bodies of the two foreigners were taken to Punxsy.

FATAL CUPIDITY.

A Tragic Case of Treasure Hunting in Egypt.

A certain Egyptian native discovered the entrance of a tomb in the floor of his stable and at once proceeded to worm his way down the tunnel. This was the end of the man. His wife, finding that he had not returned two hours or so later, went down the newly found tunnel after him. That was the end of her also. In turn three other members of the family went down into the darkness, and that was the end of them.

A native official was then called, and lighting his way with a candle, penetrated down the winding passage. The air was so foul that he was soon obliged to retreat, but he stated that he was just able to see in the distance ahead the bodies of the unfortunate peasants, all of whom had been overcome by what he quaintly described as "the evil lighting and bad climate." Various attempts at the rescue of the bodies having failed, we gave orders that this tomb should be regarded as their sepulcher and that its mouth should be sealed up.

According to the natives there was evidently a vast hoard of wealth stored at the bottom of this tomb, and the would be robbers had met their death at the hands of the demon in charge of it, who had seized each man by the throat as he came down the tunnel and had strangled him.—A. E. P. Weigall in Putnam's.

GRATITUDE OF THIEVES.

Their Longing For Association With Honest Men.

The thief in the community is very much like the boy whose meanness or ruffianism has caused the other little children to band together to ostracize him. He may move about with a sullen swagger, carry a chip on his shoulder and a vicious gleam in his eye, but there is always a sob in his throat. So the thief is longing and aching to get back in the circle out of which he has been ruled.

If any honest man wants to meet lively gratitude let him knowingly give the countenance of his company to a crook. It will be a favor never forgotten. Every lawyer practicing at the criminal bar knows this. One very well known practitioner of genial personality and large tolerance occasionally takes a client to dinner at a good restaurant or braves an appearance with him at a theater. There have been embarrassing results, due to the criminal's gratitude.

"After one of these evenings," the lawyer laughingly told me, "I'm kept for days dodging and returning presents sent by the crook—watches, scarf pins, cuff links, now and then a valuable painting or a Persian rug—all belonging to somebody else."—Everybody's Magazine.

The Wolf in Disguise.

Once upon a time a wolf who was going after the farmer's chickens took the advice of a fox and disguised himself in sheep's clothing.

"For" said the fox, "if the dogs see you they will take you for a harmless lamb and let you pass."

When the disguised wolf was near the chicken house he heard the dogs bark and saw them running toward him at the top of their speed.

"I am a fool," said the wolf. "For now the dogs think I am a lamb and have no fear of me. I will change my mind, get out of this lumbering clothing and make a winning fight."

But before he could get the garment off the dogs were upon him and took his life.

Moral.—It is easier to change your mind than your clothing.—New York Herald.

The Regimental Barber.

A major in an English regiment has a great contempt for incapacity of any kind and is somewhat impatient. A sergeant complained to him that he could get no man to undertake the duty of barber to the company.

"Is there no gardener in the company?" asked the major testily. "See if you can find one, and send him to me."

The man was duly sent, but on receiving orders to act as barber ventured to expostulate.

"Great guns!" cried the major. "If you can cut grass you can cut hair! Go and do it!"

Very Red Tape.

A burglar entering a house by a ladder in a small Prussian town fell and broke his leg when making off with his booty. An inquiry into the accident revealed that, contrary to the bylaws of the town, the house owner's ladder was not provided with strong iron spikes at its base. The house owner was therefore ordered to pay all the hospital costs and further to give the burglar a substantial sum.—London Standard.

Broad Minded.

"So your husband is in the pageant Mrs. Jones. I didn't know he belonged to the Church of England."

"No, mum, he don't. But there, he's very broad minded, and he don't mind being an ancient bishop in the cause of charity."—Punch.

An Opportunity For Him.

Mose Foreace ardently—Tell me, Miss Angle, may I contribute to yer future happiness? Miss Angle—Well, Mr. Foreace, as I accepted Abe Gingerbread last ebenin' dere is weddin' presents to be thought ob, to be shuah—Judge.

The only conclusive evidence of a man's sincerity is that he give him self for a principle.—Lowell.

PRYOR'S BAND AT PITTSBURG EXPO

Fine Music Attracts Throngs at Big Industrial Exhibit

If the attendance is to be taken as criterion the success of the Exposition is assured. The music, of course, is one of the leading features and the concerts of the Russian Symphony Orchestra in Music Hall have been attended by large crowds both afternoon and evening. The Monitor and Merrimac naval battle has created nothing short of a sensation, while the industrial exhibits have received none but the highest words of praise.

Arthur Pryor and his band will begin a week's engagement in Music Hall on Monday, September 13, and, owing to the hit made by this organization last season, a large attendance is expected. Mr. Pryor comes from a musical family, his father having been a bandmaster. Young Pryor's early training was obtained under his parent. He became proficient in the playing of the trombone and it was his mastery of this instrument that brought him to the attention of musicians and the public generally. He toured Europe with Sousa, winning the title of the "Trombone King." With his development as a musician came his interest in all musical problems. He is a composer of note and ranks among the foremost in the composition of band music. Those under Pryor are affected by his apparently limitless energy and the members of his organization are drawn from the leading bands of the country.

Mr. Pryor is a typical American. He is resourceful, always searching for novel features, and he can be depended upon to give something out of the ordinary each year. He comes back with many new novelties, all of which have met with great success in the east.

The Monitor and Merrimac production in the Hippodrome building has exceeded all expectations and those who have seen the production speak of it in the highest terms. The first entertainment is at 1:30 and the last immediately after the final concert. The machinery and electrical displays, the archaeological and industrial exhibits, together with numberless amusements, all tend to delight and please the visitors.

The Battle of the Nations.

The conflict called the "Battle of the Nations" was the battle of Lepsic. It was fought on Oct. 16-18, 1813, between the soldiers of Russia, Prussia, Austria, Sweden, Denmark and Holland, under Schwarzenberg, on the one side, and Napoleon's army of allies, on the other. It was one of the greatest battles of modern times. A half million of men were engaged, and the casualties on both sides were 94,000. It resulted in overwhelming defeat for Napoleon and the liberation of Germany. Troops from every nation of Europe participated in it, hence the "Battle of Nations."

Over the Limit.

Husband (reading from his paper)—Here, they say, is a comet coming toward the earth, traveling at the rate of a million miles a minute. Wife (awaking from a doze)—Why don't they enforce the speed laws better?—Baltimore American.

It Makes a Difference.

In Lever's "Charles O'Malley" the hero's boast while on his way to a duel, "I can break the stem of a wineglass at fifteen paces," was met by his friend and mentor with the comment, "Yes, but the wineglass hasn't a pistol in its hand."

Fate.

"They used to say I was a man with a future."
"And now?"
"Now they refer to me as a man with a past. Wish I could have a present once."—Cleveland Leader.

Learn to Laugh.

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn to tell a story. A well told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sickroom. Learn to keep your own troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows. Learn to do something for others. Even if you are a bedridden invalid there is always something that you can do to make others happier, and that is the surest way to attain happiness for yourself.—Exchange.

His News.

"The only news I have to tell you," wrote the Louisville citizen, "is that the river has riz an' drowned all yer cattle, an' yer uncle has broke jail; likewise the widder woman you wuz ago-lob' for, marry has runned off with a boob agent. Outside of these here things, we 're all doin' well."—Atlanta Constitution.

Slightly Different.

"Ten years ago that fellow borrowed the passage money to come to this country."

"And now he's worth millions, eh?"
"No. He seems sort of thrifless. Ows for his passage money yet."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
