KNOXDALE MAN CHARGED WITH BRUTAL MURDER

Wm. Jones Arrested at Eleonora and Taken to the Brookville Jail.

HIS WIFE THE ALLEGED VICTIM

Information Made Against the Man by His Daughter, Mrs. B. M. Kunselman.

William Jones, of near Knoxdale, Jefferson county, was arrested last Wednesday near the home of his sister, Mrs. Carrie Stahlman, at Eleonora, on charge of murdering his wife in October, 1908. Elmer Minch, of Ringgold township, made the arrest and took Jones to Brookville jail.

Mrs. B. M. Kunselman, of Porter township, daughter of William Jones, made the information against her father, who claims to have been an eyewitness to the murder. The reason given for so long silence is that Jones threatened to kill his daughter if she made information against him.

It is stated that for some time Mr. Kunselman noticed that his wife was addicted to spells of weeping, apparently without cause, and he made inquiry concerning the trouble, which he soon found was of a mental nature, as his wife appeared to be brooding over some matter which bore heavily upon her. At last Mr. Kunselman persuaded his wife to tell him what worried her and after getting her story he advised her to make information against her father, and before Squire Howard, of Ringgold township, Mrs. Kunselman made the information, which charges that on the 6th day of October, 1908, William Jones struck his wife in the pit of the stomach with his fist, while she was sick in bed with typhoid fever, and that the blow caused her immediate death.

Jones had a hearing before Squire Howard Saturday and was held for court on the murder charge. The case will be tried at the January term.

RAISE STOCK OF THE C. & M.

$250,000 Additional Stock to be Sold by B., R. & P. Railroad.

The Clearfield and Mahoning railroad, which is leased to the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railroad, is to increase its capital stock from $75,000 to $1,000,000, and stockholders of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh will meet November 22 to vote on guaranteeing dividends of 6 per cent on the additional $250,000 stock to be issued. The money raised by the sale of the stock is to be used to improve the line that is to be leased to the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, one of the New York Central roads, in the operation of through service over the Franklin & Clearfield railroad.

A trackage agreement has been made with the Jamestown, Franklin & Clearfield and the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, which leases the Clearfield road, by which the Lake Shore is granted trackage rights from Falls Creek, Pa., to Clearfield, 31 miles, for which the Lake Shore is to pay $42,000 a year and to maintain the line. The agreement, which extends over a period of 25 years, provides for 2 per cent on the cost of future improvements, made by mutual consent, to be paid in addition to the annual rental.

Announcement is also made that the New York Central interests will use the passenger and freight stations of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh at Falls Creek and DuBois, Pa. For the present only local service will be installed on the new Clearfield road. When through service is established it is expected that another agreement will be made covering through rates and methods of interchanging traffic.—Pittsburgh Post.

Election Was Very Quiet

Little Local Interest In Yesterday's Contest Was Manifested.

MUNSON CARRIED THE TOWN

There was very little interest in the election in Reynoldsville yesterday and the vote was small, only 277 votes polled in the borough. There were 105 in precinct No. 1 and 172 in precinct No. 2.

There were 24 Socialist votes polled in precinct No. 1.

The Democrat candidate for Judge of Supreme Court ran ahead of the Republican candidate in this borough. The vote in the borough was against the amendments.

WEDDED AND GONE.

Charming Watsonville Girl Started for Keystone State.

Mr. and Mrs. George White, nee Bertha L. Dempsey, are away on their long journey to Reynoldsville, Pennsylvania, where the young man is engaged in business. They are bride and groom of a day, with prospects good for half a century of life under the same or similar circumstances.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dempsey, of this city, and besides being possessed of all the attributes necessary for "home" making is famed for the sweetness of her nature. Mr. White, the young groom, is to be complimented on the good judgment he displayed in crossing the continent to secure so good a wife.

The young couple were married by Rev. F. A. Keast of the Methodist church and the ceremony was performed at the bride's home last evening in the presence of immediate relatives of the bride. Later the wedded pair started for their Pennsylvania home.—The Evening Paragonian Watsonville, Cal., Oct. 22, 1909.

An Open Door.

If you want to visit a man in his home to talk over a business proposition with him, it will make some difference in your reception whether you walk in or sit down with him by his invitation, or whether you sneak in by an open cellar window and intrude upon him when he doesn't want to see you.

A few business men still cling to the cellar window method, says the Philadelphia Record. They try to get into the homes through circulars and imitation newspapers surreptitiously slipped under the door, or through form letters in plain envelopes, designed to resemble personal letters thrust in by the postman.

The better way is to enter the homes through a reliable and readable newspaper. A favorable welcome to a business proposal does away with half the work of selling. THE STAR's standing as a family newspaper is such as to insure for the advertisers in its columns the benefits of the "open door" and an attentive hearing.

Teachers May Lose Pay.

Dr. Schaeffer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, in answer to an inquiry, has advised the superintendent of Montgomery county, that he finds no authority in the law for the payment of $2 a day to teachers who go visiting schools during institute week, and if auditors should object to such payment directors would be personally responsible for the amount thus paid without due order of law. Heretofore it has been held that visiting schools was equivalent to attending the institute.

Ask For Better Trolley Service

Citizens of Sykesville Want More For Their Money Than they Get.

No issue of importance to the community contiguous to Sykesville in recent years has awakened such universal comment and commendation as the Post-Dispatch's demand for a trolley service commensurate with the traffic and rates of fare charged.

Since our last issue we have been asked by dozens to keep up the agitation for better service and the subject has been one of general discussion.

It is an undeniable fact that the people along the trolley lines want better service, deserve it and are going to get it before long if possible. In this case the people are asking nothing unreasonable of the companies but are simply asking a service in keeping with the high rate of fare charged and with the companies' franchises as purveyors of transportation suitable and convenient to the demands of the public.

We do not know of a trolley company anywhere which charges more for fares for the distance covered than the local companies, nor of any which give such limited service. Besides this the local lines are very largely patronized and are unquestionable large money makers. Therefore there seems to be no reason whatever for denying the people's demands for a service which will meet their desires and needs.

And this demand should not be confined to those living out along the lines, but the people of DuBois and Reynoldsville, especially the business people and newspapers, should join in insisting that the proper transportation facilities be afforded the many from the outlying districts who trade and visit in those towns.

With proper co-operation all along the line we think that the desired and needed change can be effected.—Sykesville Post-Dispatch.

The Helpless Girl.

The poorest girls in the world are those not taught to work. There are thousands of them. Parents have petted them, and they have been taught to despise labor and depend upon others for a living, and are perfectly helpless. The most forlorn women belong to this class. It is the duty of parents to protect their daughters from this deplorable condition. They do them a great wrong if they neglect to do it. Every daughter should be taught to earn her own living. The rich as well as the poor require this training. The wheel of fortune rolls swiftly around; the rich are likely to become poor, and the poor rich. Skill added to labor is no disadvantage to the rich, and is indispensable to the poor. Well-to-do parents must educate their daughters to work. No reform is more imperative than this.

Cigarettes By Gift or Otherwise.

If the cigarette law of 1905 was enforced there would not be so many boys and young men under age seen on the streets of Reynoldsville smoking cigarettes. Why not enforce it? A person who gives a cigarette or cigarette paper to a person under twenty-one years is breaking the law and is liable for a heavy fine. Here is the law:

"Be it enacted, &c., that if any person or persons shall furnish cigarettes or cigarette paper, by gift, sale or otherwise, to any person or persons under the age of twenty-one years, he or she, so offending, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than three hundred dollars, and not less than one hundred dollars." The law is certainly strict enough if it is put in operation.

The Gullible Public.

The average man or woman has a wonderful appetite for the marvelous when it comes to believing impossible things concerning the ability of physicians to cure disease. The best physicians and the greatest specialists, because they do not resort to the methods of the charlatan and make extravagant assertions concerning their knowledge and skill, and are honest with their patients, are passed by unheeded by the hordes who flock to see the humbugs and pretenders. A physician who could really cure one of the many diseases that the quack pretends to cure, might locate in a cavern on a lonely mountain and have all the business he could attend to. People would flock to him from far and near. He would not be obliged to travel about in search of patients. As a rule the itinerant physician has a smooth way of imposing upon the credulity of the people. He tells them their "symptoms" with a glibness of tongue that fills them with admiration and awe. He is a skilled "hot air" artist, but beyond that his knowledge of physics is extremely limited.

Occasionally these Cagliostro's of the medical profession have the luck to give medicine to a person who only imagines he is sick, or who is on the verge of recovery through former treatment, and he gets a reputation on that. It would be easy to secure a bushel of testimonials (from people who actually believe themselves to have been greatly benefited), testifying to the wonderful medicinal virtues of bread pills!

Your home physician is a graduate of a first-class medical college and has had experience in one of the great hospitals of the country. He reads all the new treatises on the various diseases and keeps up with medical discoveries of the time by a careful perusal of the medical journals. But because he does not proclaim himself from the house-tops as a great physician, you pin your faith on the well advertised patent medicine, or pass by his door on your way to visit the traveling quack.

Moore's Grocery In New Building

Now Occupies One Of The Finest Equipped Buildings In the County.

W. Harry Moore, groceryman, whose store stock and building were destroyed by fire on the night of December 5th, 1908, and who erected a brick building on the old site, moved into the new building the latter part of last week and had an opening Saturday afternoon and evening. A large number of people visited the store during the opening. An orchestra furnished music, Alex. Riston had charge of a lunch counter and a coffee demonstrator served steaming hot coffee.

Mr. Moore's new store room is 25 x 87 feet, hardwood floor, solid oak, dark finish, fixtures, patent bin system for fruits, vegetables, &c., three floor show cases for cigars, confectionery and variety case, patent refrigerator with mirror. There are two other mirrors in other parts of the store room. The front light is prism, tile and plate glass; the rear lights are sheet prism. The sidewalk is American Three Way Prism glass, the first of the kind in town.

It is a question whether there is a finer equipped grocery store in any town outside of the large cities.
