Freight Wreck on Pennsylvania,

Last Thursday morning as a Pennsylvania freight train was going east on the Low Grade division two freight cars and the caboose on rear end of train jumped the track and after tearing up the track for some distance the cars rolled over an embankment some distance below the track. There were three men in the caboose, but they escaned with a few bruises. The first of the three cars to jump the track was a heavy steel car, supposed to have left the track on account of spreading of

Mrs. Shaffer Had Narrow Escape. Mrs. Joseph Shaffer, wife of Adams Express Agent Shaffer, was injured by a runaway borse last Wednesday and had narrow escape from serious, if not fatal, injury. On account of the slippary condition of the sidewalk, Mrs. Shaffer, who was returning from a trip up town about 11 00 a. m. Wednesday, stepped out on to Main street at Second street and was walking down Main street when a runaway horse with sleigh came dashing along. She did not notice the horse was running off until too late to get out of the way and she was knocked down on the street. Her back was injured and her body badly bruised in several places. Mrs. Shaffer was in a dazed condition for four hours. She was carrying a basket which she swung up in time to shy the horse to one side and thus saved herself from being run over by the horse

Thos. O'Hare to Manage the Fond du Lac, Wis., Team.

Tom O'Hare, well known baseball player of Reynoldsville, is to be manager of the Fond du Lac, Wis., baseball team the coming season. The following is a clipping from a Fond du Lac news.

"Tom O'Hare will guide the destinies of the Fond du Lac baseball team in 1910. The proposition made by the local association has been accepted by Mr. O'Hare and only some minor details are to be adjusted when the contract will be signed.

Fund du Lac is particularly fortunate in securing the service of Mr. O'Hare, who is a first-class ball player, a perfect gentleman, and who can control his players and hold the confidence of the public. He will be player-manager, and will occupy his old position in left field, where his work last year classed him as the best outfielder in the league.

O'Hare took the local club a few weeks before the season closed last year after it was impossible to secure results that would have done credit to the players. Lack of discipline early in the season had put the team in a rut that no one could overcome."

Will Soon Be Trunk Line.

The Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northorn Railroad Company can now run trains from one end of its line to the other, as the link between Corryville and State Line Junction was completed and opened for traffic on New Year's Day. Up to that time the Shawmut trains were obliged to use the Pennsylvania tracks between Corryville and State Line, as the road was in two sections, the New York state section and Pennsylvania section. This makes a continuous line of road from Waylandand Hornel, N. Y., to Brookville, Conifer and Ramsaytown to the south, and before the present year passes it is fair to presume that trains will be running along the Allegheny river towards Pittsburgh, making the Shawmut one of the great trunk lines of the two great states of Pennsylvania and New York. From the present outlook this is to be a most important year for the Shawmut interests.-Brookville Republican.

The evangelistic meetings in the Baptist church will be continued all this week, except Saturday evening. Rev. H. I. Stewart, of New Bethlehem. who is assisting Dr. Meek is an able preacher and a pleasant speaker. The meetings are very interesting and helpful. Fifteen persons have started in the new life since the meetings began and there are others under deen conviction. To-night: Rev. Stewart's theme will be, "Does Every Man Have His Price?" Thursday evening, "Five Foolish Girls," and Friday evening, "The

They All Approve.

Reynoldsville and Punxsutawney newspapers are again agitating the question of holding the annual teachers' institute alternately in Brookville, Reynoldsville, Punxsutawney and Brockwayville, each town getting a whack at it every fourth year. The plan "listens good" and would, no doubt, be highly acceptable to the majority of those most concerned. The

THE OTHER SIDE.

A Reply to "Who is the Real Town Knocker," in Last Week's Issue.

We do blame the other fellow and do not forget that we are guilty, but why are we guilty? Now I will try to tell

"Says I to myself, says I-"

You ask who furnishes the possibility of our employment as a merchant, a banker, a professional man, or any busfness which we may be engaged in? We acknowledge that it is the community in which we live, but just because we live in a certain community, does that signify that we have to pay six times the price for what we want? Take the groceryman. You go into the store, the clerk is in the back end, opening a box at his lessure, you have to stand and wait and wait until he gets ready. to wait on you, and then they object to delivering anything smaller than a sack of flour. In the surrounding towns the grocerymen go to the people's back doors every morning and take orders and that same morning your goods will be delivered to you.

The butcher comes next. A lady goes into the meat market; it is almost dinner time and she is in a hurry. The butcher is in a back room cleaning a chicken; the lady has to walt there also; finally he comes to wait on her, his apron covered with chicken blood, and he is very busy picking his teeth with his fingers, but that does not make any difference about the price. He will charge, you 22c a pound for chicken when you can get the same thing in Pittsburgh for 15c a pound, and we have to pay him more for butter and eggs than the city people pay for theirs. Then the premium comes next: take soap for instance. Our merchants will give us five cakes for 25 cents and no more, but let us send to Pittsburgh or Buffalo for ten dollars' worth of different articles and we will get $5.00 back as a premium. And there are endless other things too numerous to mention. Do our merchants expect us to pay exhorbitant prices and not receive any courtesy? We all have a right to spend our money where we please, and we all want to spend it right here in Reynoldsville if our merchants will make it possible for us to do so: if not, we will enjoy a little trip to another town and do our purchasing. You quote, "Where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise." We have all been in ignorance for a long time but have had our eyes opened. It is our merchants who are hurting our town more than any one else.

I for one pay cash for every purchase and will gladly stick by my own town if the merchants will make it possible for me to do so. ONE OF MANY.

The Mission of the Grange.

The Grange is by many people misunderstood. It is not a combination of armers for selfish aggrandizement; it is not a farmers' trust; it is not a political or sectarian adjunct. The Grange is an organization of farmers and its intent and purpose are to promote a higher womanhood and manhood, to remove the isolation from the farm home, to educate and elevate the American farmer, to increase our attachments to our pursuits. The Grange is for a source deal-nothing more or

Will Ask for an Increase.

A dispatch from Indianapolis, Ind., to the daily papers yesterday, says:

"Ten per cent increase in wages for the bituminous miners of North America probably will be the demand formulated in the annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America, which will open in this city to-morrow.

"The miners say that since the scale under which they are now working was made six years ago, prices of everything have been nearly doubled, and even the coal they buy from the operator is higher. They instance an ordinary suit of miners' clothes, which cost them $2.25 six years ago, now costs $5, while beef and pork that they bought then for 8 and 10 cents now costs 17 to 22 cents. The sentiment in favor of an increased scale seems to be general among the delegates here now.

"Contracts between the miners' organization and operators in 20 states expire this year, most of them on March 24th, and a uniform increase will be demanded throughout."

Art Calendar Free.

The art calendar which is being mailed free by the Colonial Trust Company of Pittsburgh to anyone who sends a two-cent stamp to cover postage, is an unusually beautiful reproduction of a famous painting.

The subject of the painting is "Motherhood." The coloring is masterfully handled and wonderfully well produced. The calendar is so arranged that all the months may be noted at one time. This is one of these exceptionally handsome art productions that are worthy of a longer life than the year they chronicle. Send a two-cent stamp to the Colonial Trust Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., and get this fine calendar

High Educational Value.

Aside from its entertainment feature this concert has a high educational value, and is at once an inspiration and a grand object lesson to every child in the city in the possibilities of their own voices under cultivation. It stimulates a greater love for all that is beautiful in music, and helps singing in the church, the school and home. Indeed, so potent is its influence among children that superintendents and principals of schools and boards of education have ordered the schools closed on the afternoon of the Roney Boys matinees-an endorsement that no other concert company in America has received.
