WON DAMAGE SUIT.

Mrs. R. F. Oswald Awarded $5,000 For Injuries Received on a Jefferson County Bridge.
Mrs. R. F. Oswald, of Brookville, daughter of James Lusk, of Reynoldsville, who brought suit against Jefferson county for $5,000 damages for injuries received by falling on a broken board on a bridge over Sandy Lick creek about a year ago, won her suit in the county court last week and was awarded $5,000 damages by the jury.
When Mrs. Oswald first brought suit for damages the case was placed in the hands of a board of arbitrators, which decided in Mrs. Oswald's favor in the sum of $5,000, but the county commissioners refused to pay the amount and the case was tried by a jury.

School Notes.

Mrs. Shields and Mrs. Rodgers visited the schools last week. Let more follow their example. Parents are always welcome.
The sum of $35 00 was realized on the concert by Roney's Boys. This makes about $60 available for the purchase of a physical laboratory.
The Italian Boys are next on the program—February 16th.
There were ten schools without any case of tardiness last week—Rooms 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 12, 12 1/2 and 14. The report shows a very commendable improvement in the punctuality of the High School pupils.

Will Vote on Cash Tax.

The law provides that after March 1st, 1910, all road tax must be paid in cash, unless the people of a township vote to continue the work road tax system. At the February election the voters of Winslow township will have an opportunity to vote for cash or work road tax. Unless we have been misinformed, it must either be all cash or all work, cannot be part cash and part work.

The examination will begin at 9.30 a. m. and the door will be locked at that time and no one will be admitted after door is locked. All applicants must be on time. We understand that there will be about forty applicants.

George M. Kriner Dead.

George M. Kriner, of Sykesville, died at 5.15 p. m. January 29, 1910, of congestion of liver. Funeral service was held in the M. E. church at Sykesville at 1.00 p. m. yesterday, conducted by Rev. Frampton. Interment was made in Salem cemetery. Deceased was 42 years old. Is survived by widow and two sons, aged 15 and 17 years. Mr. Kriner was a member of the Knights of Pythias Lodge of Troutville.

Want Increase of Ten Cents Ton.

An increase of ten cents a ton for "pick" mining and an equivalent increase for machine mining and a corresponding increase for all day work, dead work and yardage; a demand that eight hours constitute a day and a Saturday half holiday be given the miners, was recommended by the scale committee of the United Mine Workers of America in its report to the convention at Indianapolis Monday. It was also recommended that the Pennsylvania miners should either be recompensed for the explosives which they use or should be given an appropriate increase to cover the cost.

State Demonstration Work in Orchards.

State Zoologist Harvey A. Surface, out of 1,800 orchards in 67 counties offered by Pennsylvania land owners, has selected several hundred orchards which are to be used for demonstration work during the coming season. The state pays no rent for the orchards, but gives care free in return for privilege of using for demonstration. There are two lists of orchards, "Public Meeting Orchards" and "Model Demonstration Orchards." Among the orchards selected in Jefferson county are two near Reynoldsville, David Wheeler's orchard in Winslow township, and Fred A. Moore's orchard in Washington township. These two are in the "Model Demonstration Orchard" list, which consists of orchards where state demonstrators can work and care for trees and the orchards will at all times be open to inspection.

Gibson's, thorough knowledge, long experience and up-to-date methods insure good, well-fitting glasses. Call on him at Brookville Feb. 14 and 15, or Reynoldsville 16th.

MRS. J. M. DAILEY DEAD.

Was Mother of Mrs. G. M. McDonald and J. M. Dailey, Jr., of Reynoldsville.

Mrs. James M. Dailey died at her home in Penfield at 10 00 p. m. Thursday, January 27, 1910. Three years ago Mrs. Dailey had a slight stroke of apoplexy from which she never fully recovered, but the immediate cause of her death was acute indigestion. Her death was sudden and unexpected. Funeral service was held in the Presbyterian church at Penfield Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Morrison, pastor of the church, and interment was made in Penfield cemetery.

Mrs. Dailey was born in Beechwoods in September, 1842, and was 67 years old last September. Her maiden name was Martha Davenport. December 25, 1866, she was united in marriage to James M. Dailey, whom, with three sons and three daughters, survives the wife and mother.

In early life Mrs. Dailey united with the Beechwoods Presbyterian church and ever after remained a faithful member of that denomination. In 1879, when they moved to Penfield, where Mr. Dailey located as ticket and freight agent for the Allegheny Valley railroad, now P. R. R., Mrs. Dailey had her church letter transferred from the Beechwoods Presbyterian church to the Penfield Presbyterian church. Mrs. Dailey was a devoted wife and mother, kind neighbor and a noble christian woman.

The surviving sons and daughters are as follows: Miss Jennie M. Dailey, at home, Mrs. George M. McDonald, of Reynoldsville, Mrs. H. C. Leavenworth, of Fern, Washington, W. J. and F. F. Dailey, of Rawhide, Nevada, J. M. Dailey, of Reynoldsville.

In the Aggregate a Large Sum.

During the month of January, 1910, we published a notice in each issue of THE STAR notifying all our subscribers that are in arrears that the latter part of January, or early in February, a notice would be mailed to all persons in arrears, so that any person that is sensitive about receiving a statement, which some people call a dun, would have ample time to settle their account before the statements were sent out. A number of our subscribers paid their subscriptions during January, consequently, it will not be necessary for us to spend time and money in sending them statements. There are others who so far have paid no attention to our request to settle, and to all such it will be necessary for us to send statements. Some have already been mailed. Please remember we are not sending out statements for pastime nor to help increase the receipts of our postoffice, but send them with the expectation that all who will receive one of them will pay all arrearage, or part at least. The amount is not large from each one, but in the aggregate it is a large sum for us.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Yount.

Mrs. Catherine Yount, whose home was in Armstrong county, Pa., near Mayport, mother of our townsman, W. H. Yount, died suddenly at home of her daughter, Mrs. Miles D. Gardner, in DuBois, on Tuesday evening, January 25, 1910. Mrs. Yount was visiting her daughter at time of death. The DuBois Express, in speaking of her death said:

"Mrs. Yount had been troubled for sometime with her heart, but was feeling in good health last evening. She ate a hearty supper and following the meal tried on a dress that had been made for her. She retired to her room and took a tablet for her heart trouble. Within a very few minutes she was dead."

Thursday afternoon the body was taken to her home in Armstrong county for interment. Mrs. Yount was about 73 years old. Her husband died several years ago. She is survived by three sons and three daughters.

Verdict for Nine Hundred Dollars.

Joseph Gigliotti, of Sykesville, father of the little child that was so seriously injured by a street car on the DuBois Traction Company's lines at Sykesville last August that it died later, was awarded a verdict in the Jefferson county court last Saturday for $900 in his case against the DuBois corporation for the sum of $10,000 for the death of his child.

An Old Set of Books.

In the Reynoldsville public school library there is a set of Gibbon's great history, the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, which is one hundred and six years old, and is still in excellent condition. The books are bound in leather, and the title pages bear the imprint of a Philadelphia publishing house with the date 1804.

Baptist Church.

Baptism will be administered in the Baptist church this evening. At the 11.00 a. m. service in the Baptist church next Sunday new members will be received into the church and certificates of baptism will be presented. After the sermon communion will be administered.

Some men's Walk-Overs price $4.00, now $1.98. Adam's Boot Shop.

THE OUT-OF-TOWN BUYER.

A Pungent Contribution Citing Some Of the Reasons Why Trade Does Stay at Home.

"One of the Gullys" grows sarcastic, personal and humorous by turns in a recent article in THE STAR. His humor is excellent and will undoubtedly find appreciation; but he is touching on a subject that has reached that stage where it ceases to be food for joke. It has passed the melo-dramatic stage and Reynoldsville merchants are facing a tragedy that can only be averted by the adoption of the up-to-date methods of our sister towns.

The writer, presumably a merchant of this place, can perhaps explain, to the satisfaction of everyone, why—If Reynoldsville shopkeepers are passing out goods of quality, with a varied selection and "hog courtesy" to their customers—a good half of the town's best buyers, those who are after goods at fair prices, do the greater part of their shopping in DuBois. An interview with any of the leading merchants of that place will convince "Mr. Gully One" (he defines his position well) that Reynoldsville trade is a big item to them.

There must be a reason for this. Every person, no matter how low born, has sufficient patriotism in his make-up to watch with pride the successes of home institutions; and no person leaves his home town to buy when the selection is good and the prices are right with the home merchant. Yet the people are going in hordes to other towns to make their purchases and Mr. Gully didn't solve the problem when he wasted lead on the mathematical joke of the 6 to 1 ratio. Just now we are not dealing in soaps but cold hard facts, the realization of which means something to the Reynoldsville merchant.

Mr. Gully depreciates courtesy, as do many other merchants of this place, and this might go a long way towards assigning a reason for the inability of Reynoldsville storekeepers to hold their town trade. The man who does not recognize courtesy, in himself and employes as well, as a business asset, may be a man who does a little business, but he is no "business man." The storekeeper who makes no effort to secure trade by making it a pleasure for the people to deal with him, belongs in the down and out class—a position on the scale which many Reynoldsville "business men" would now find themselves if they took time to wake up and look around.

The trouble lies not with the people, "the real live knockers" (better to be a live knocker than a dead merchant), but with the shopkeepers of this place. The majority of them are so far behind the times that they are liable to be lapped. The Reynoldsville merchant buys in small quantities, hence he pays a bigger price and charges more, showing but a small selection. The natural result is that the townspeople pay their car fare to DuBois and purchase where they have an assortment and save money.

Ask any merchant in the town how business is. The answer is not even "fair"; it is invariably "rotten." And the solution is, more courtesy, an endeavor to get business by showing people that you appreciate their patronage, letting them know what you have to sell and above all things have something for them to buy.

A glance into the advertising columns of a local newspaper will show you that the Reynoldsville merchant has a jolt coming that will or should wake him up. You mark the unprogressive merchant by the conspicuous absence of his name in the advertising columns of the local papers. Count the advertisers and you enumerate the progressive merchants. Reynoldsville's list of the latter could be printed on a postage stamp in sixty point type.

"Guilty One" casts a slur at the cash buyer. He says, "for no one knows better than the business man what class of people buy for cash." Take it from a live one: Handle your cash customers as though they were made of glass and you will have enough cash to spare to hand a snug sum to the Business Men's Association for another "Steal Works." Cater to your credit trade and the sheriff will get you if you don't watch out. ONE OF MANY.
