An Honest Young Lady.

Last Wednesday evening Thomas O'Hare, noted baseball player of Reynoldsville, lost a gold fob, which is made out of $2.50, $5.00 and $10.00 gold coins, with gold medal attached, presented to him by the Fond du Lac baseball club of Fond du Lac, Wis. Miss Bowers, of DuBois, who was in town that evening with a sleighing party, found the watch fob. As Mr. O'Hare's name, with name of club and date of presentation, was engraved on the medal, Miss Bowers promptly found Mr. O'Hare and returned the fob to him, which he would not part with for $100.00. Mr. O'Hare appreciated the honesty and kindness of the DuBois young lady.

Some men seem to think if they get into a "scrape" and the editor mentions it in his paper that he does it out of malice toward them. In nearly every case of this kind nothing could be farther from the truth than such a belief. It is the editor's business to publish local happenings, good or bad, and if a man furnishes material for a bad item he has no one to blame should it appear.—Punxsutawney Republican.

Thomas A. Mayes, of Hazer, one of the hustling Republicans of the northern end of Jefferson county, was in Reynoldsville one day last week and called at THE STAR office. Mr. Mayes was a Republican candidate for the nomination for sheriff two years ago and made a good run, but lacked sufficient votes to give him the nomination. He was not discouraged, however, and will be in the race next time for the same office.

The Town "Knocker" Has Lost His Job.

Since reading the two articles from the pen of "One of Many," as the last article was but a repetition of the first, only in much milder form, we have become wise and are willing to be honest in the matter and acknowledge we have lost our job. Too many cold, hard facts staring us in the face to try to knock further. In our first article we were honest in setting forth facts that interested every person in the community alike, and we have not heard of any citizen who has the community's good at heart, fault the article for having represented anything but facts that should be considered by every loyal citizen for our community's prosperity. "One of Many" in his first article wanted to represent us as old timers lacking business courtesy, and when he made such a mess of it that no one believed his article, he then went out of town, like he does to buy his goods, to get help to smooth up his illy written first article, but he and his help failed to give us any facts substantiated by proof where the candid reader could accept the statements he made as reliable. Our people are too well acquainted with facts contradictory to his article to accept such statements. Even pessimistic "One of the Guilty" has been led by the reading of his article to becoming a real town boomer and what we shall say is the result of investigation and are the real facts.

We have classes of people, same as are found in all other towns and cities, those who go to other towns and cities to purchase certain articles; they are people who have plenty of money and can well afford to bear expenses necessary to secure the articles they wish. The same is true in the large cities of this country, and the people from the larger cities even go to Europe to get shopping but none of these do so expecting to get more courteous treatment or cheaper goods than can be secured from the home merchant. We have another class that do not have as much money and yet try to keep space with their neighbor by going to surrounding towns to do their shopping.

Then we have the staple class, who labors with one purpose in view, making their community prosper and at the same time ready to add to the happiness of every person with whom they come in touch. Their motto is, "Live and let live." They are the delight of any community.

And lastly, we have the class who are dissatisfied with everything they see, fault find everything and criticize their fellow beings, making themselves obnoxious to the community. Some of them even trying to rob the community of what they subsist on, the class that every wide awake individual does not want to see around. We have all the above classes and we are glad we have, the community would be without balance without them.

Then we have as intelligent, courteous and up-date-class of business men as can be found in any town of our population in Pennsylvania, and with the courteous corps of clerks that they are surrounded with in their business, gives us a business situation second to none in this part of the state, and then we have the goods. Five-sixths of the stores in our town has twice the stock necessary to supply the demand of a community the size of Reynoldsville. We are glad of this as our merchants are prepared to meet the demand of any reasonable customer. We are glad our merchants buy goods in quantities as large as surrounding towns and buy from same factories and at same price at he retail stores of the cities. We have handsome store rooms that cost very much less expense than does the same floor space in surrounding towns. We have good advertising mediums in our newspapers, which are used judiciously, so as not to increase the expense of goods, as the customer pays for advertising as well as other expenses. Keeping expenses to the minimum has been the purpose while at the same time keeping up the standard of merchandising has been our motto. We ask the candid reasoner, need we fear outside competition on price quality considered. Is it any wonder we feel like shouting a word of praise for the town? Should we not be ashamed to offer words of criticism with such facts staring us in the face? We expect to continue to promote what we believe will be for the best interest of all. We have passed through a hard panic that has made business dull. No more so than labor, or real estate, or fact, everything we call business was at almost a complete standstill. But I ask you, is there one other town that has had as few financial failures in the past eighteen months as Reynoldsville? Does this not show careful business management? Why should we not all be proud of our town and stay right with it? We have some of the most loyal citizens to be found anywhere.

We heard a mechanic say some days ago that he had an offer of $3.50 per day but had refused it because it would require him to leave Reynoldsville and he did not want to do that.

We have no more use for the fault finder; we have joined the "Boomer's Club" and have no time to listen to his foreign business notions, as we will be busy cheering for our home town. NOT GUILTY NOW. A BOOMER.
