Miss Rose Mitchell, music teacher, has just returned from a two weeks' visit with her brother, Dr. Mitchell, of Pittsburgh. Miss Mitchell attended the Alumni banquet of Grove City College while in Pittsburgh.

Funeral of Isaac Butson.

The funeral of Isaac Butson, a coal miner, who was killed in B. & S. shaft No. 2, near DuBois, on the afternoon of March 29, 1910, by a fall of rock, was held in the Baptist church at Rathmel at 2:00 p. m. Friday, conducted by Dr. A. J. Meek and Rev. John F. Black.

Isaac Butson was the oldest son of John and Alice Butson, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cricks, of this place. He was born in Reynoldsville February 22, 1885, and was 25 years and 7 days old at time of death.

On March 28, the day before his death, Isaac wrote a letter to his brother, John Butson, who is located at Phillipsburg, N. J., part of which we publish, as it expresses the love, appreciation and thoughtfulness of a noble son for his mother:

"Mother was pretty sick for awhile, and is not as well as she ought to be yet, but she keeps going around the same as ever. She is as good a mother as ever walked, and there is one thing, John, we should never forget the love she has for us, and we should try and return some of the love, and always do what is right and manly, and cause her no more trouble, and give her nothing to worry about. We never know what mother has done for us, and no matter what we do, or how much we do, we never can pay her back. I always did all I could when home to support mother and the children and tried to be a man after father died. I think I have done good for five years, and so did you and the rest. I only hope, John, you will never forget or neglect home or mother. Leave drink alone, as it is no good for any one, and always remember the dearest place on earth is 'Home, Sweet Home.'"

Miss Marie Altman went to New Bethlehem Monday to accept a position.

Miss Anna O'Conner has typhoid fever. She contracted the disease in Brookville.

Miss Alice Dunlap, who is employed in Big Run, spent Sunday at her home on Grant st.

Eugene Brennan, of Allegheny City, spent Sunday at his home in West Reynoldsville.

Miss Berna Hoover, student in Indiana State Normal, is spending a few days at home of J. R. Milligan.

Mrs. F. P. Miller and Miss Ida Reynolds were in Kittanning yesterday attending the funeral of an aunt, Mrs. Sallie Reynolds.

M. C. Coleman was in Kittanning last week. It was reported that Mr. Coleman expected to go to Valley Co., Montana, to take up a homestead, but he has given it up.

Squire W. L. Johnston and wife, E. L. Johnston and wife were at Piollett, Clarion Co., last week attending the funeral of Mrs. John D. Henry, twin sister of Squire Johnston.

Peter Crawley, formerly of this place, who has been employed in a large tannery in West Virginia, which was destroyed by fire a few days ago, is visiting his brother, John Crawley, in West Reynoldsville.

On Monday C. R. Hall and Dr. J. W. Foust viewed a road near Oliveburg, and Ed. C. Burns and Alex Riston viewed a road near Highland Park. On Friday C. R. Hall and Alex Riston will view a road in Knox township.

H. J. Pollitt, former citizen of Reynoldsville, who has resided at Indiana, Pa., a couple of years, moved back to this place last week. Their many friends extend to Mr. Pollitt and family a hearty welcome to our midst again.

Robert J. Thomas, of Butler, a barber, who for a number of years resided in Reynoldsville, was in town several hours yesterday. He was called to Brookville the latter part of last week on account of the serious illness of his sister, Mrs. Sarah Vasbinder, who died Saturday and was buried Monday.

Walter E. Shannon, of West Reynoldsville, who held a clerical position in the office of Martin C. Phalen, supervisor of the Low Grade Division of the P. R. R., for four years, has resigned that position and on Monday went to Battle Creek, Mich., to accept a position as mechanical engineer for the Grand Trunk Railway.

George C. Hunter, who was operated on two weeks ago last Saturday in the Mercy Hospital for appendicitis and expected to get home the latter part of last week, is now critically ill with pleuro-pneumonia. Mrs. G. C. Hunter went to Pittsburgh on the 1:28 p. m. train on the P. R. R. yesterday, and her father, M. S. Sterley, went down on the 4:38 p. m. train.

DEATH FROM BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Morgan Thomas, Who Formerly Resided Here, Died in Clearfield Co.

Morgan Thomas, who resided in Reynoldsville and near Rathmel about twenty years, moving over into Clearfield county over seven years ago, died at his home near Clearfield on Wednesday of last week, March 30, 1910. Bright's disease was cause of death. He had been ill six or seven months. The body was brought to Rathmel Sunday and interment was made in Prospect cemetery. The Improved Order of Red Men of Clearfield had charge of the funeral service at the family residence and members of Mazomania Tribe No. 341, I. O. of R. M., of Reynoldsville, of which deceased was a charter member, met the funeral party at DuBois and had charge of the interment.

Morgan Thomas was born at Porth, Glamorgan Shire, South Wales, G. B., fifty-nine years ago. He is survived by his widow and seven children. Has one sister residing in this section, Mrs. James Sarah, of Big Soldier, who is now visiting kinsfolk in South Wales.

Bank Reports.

Reports of the condition of the three national banks of Reynoldsville at the close of business March 29th will be found in this issue of THE STAR.

Whitmore-Young Nuptials.

Samuel D. Whitmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Whitmore, and Miss Mary S. Young, daughter of Charles H. Young, were married at the Baptist parsonage in Reynoldsville, by Dr. A. J. Meek, March 26th, 1910. Their many friends extend congratulations and good wishes.

North For Assembly.

In this issue of THE STAR will be found the announcement of S. Taylor North, of Punxsutawney, for the Republican nomination for Assembly. Mr. North has a good record and will be one of the strongest candidates in the race for the nomination this year, and, we believe, he will be an easy winner. He is a man whom the citizens of the county can depend upon to do the right thing. He has the courage to stand pat for the best interests of the people in general.

Change at Imperial Hotel.

John C. Conser and Thomas Green, proprietors of Imperial Hotel, one of the best hotels in Reynoldsville, have dissolved partnership, Mr. Conser retiring and Mr. Green is now proprietor of the Imperial. Green & Conser began the hotel business in 1889, twenty-one years ago, as partners in the City Hotel, which they were proprietors of for five years and then bought from John C. Dillman the restaurant near where the Imperial Hotel now stands, which was burned down in December, 1908. In 1896 Messrs. Green & Conser erected the Imperial Hotel on the corner. Several years ago they built a large addition to the hotel, making it the largest hotel in Reynoldsville.

Mr. Conser has a twenty-four foot front lot next to W. H. Moore's grocery store, on which he will erect a two story brick this summer. The first floor will be a store room and the second floor will be a modern flat, which Mr. Conser expects to occupy. Just as soon as possible Mr. Conser will have men at work on his new block.

School Notes.

The following girls sang at the grammar grade assembly on Thursday morning: Zelda Snyder, Grace Hauck, Katie Hughes, Grace Ewing, Catherine Gillespie. Helen Baum presided at the piano.

Miss Stauffer, of West Reynoldsville, and Miss Hanlin, of Pittsburgh, were school visitors last week.

Prof. W. D. Hawk, of the high school, has been elected a member of the faculty of the Brookwayville Summer Normal.

The eighth and last month of school begins to-day (Wednesday.)

Final examinations for the seniors begin April 19 and continue during parts of four days.

Of the 19 candidates who took the high school entrance examination on Saturday, 11 passed.

In Assembly hall on Friday night, April 8, a lecture on "Birds and Flowers" illustrated with 80 richly colored lantern slides will be given. These slides are furnished by the State Museum of Harrisburg and are in themselves works of art. The pictures will be worth seeing. Everybody welcome.

DEATH FROM TYPHOID FEVER.

Frank Lewis Contracted Fever in New Kensington and Died in West Reynoldsville.

Frank Lewis, son of John and Lydia Lewis, of Wiggins, Miss., died at the home of his uncle, John C. Richards, in West Reynoldsville, at 3:00 a. m. Friday, April 1, 1910, from a relapse of typhoid fever. April 2, 1908, Frank Lewis and his sister, Miss Sallie Lewis, came to Reynoldsville to visit relatives and did not return to the parental roof again. About a year ago Frank went to New Kensington, Pa., and accepted a position. Over six weeks ago he was stricken with typhoid fever and after having a three weeks' tussle with the disease, he came to Reynoldsville and took a relapse and had another three weeks' tussle with the fever, which caused his death.

Frank Lewis was born on the old Lewis homestead near Medix Run, Pa., April 11, 1882, and would have been 28 years old the 11th of this month. He is survived by his parents, three sisters and four brothers. Mrs. Milton Schlabig, of this place, is an aunt of deceased.

Funeral service was held at residence of John C. Richards at 3:00 p. m. Sunday, conducted by Dr. A. J. Meek and Rev. J. C. McEntire. Interment was made in the Baptist cemetery.

The following out of town relatives attended the funeral: H. L. Schlabig, of Buffalo, N. Y., Milton and Frank Schlabig, of DuBois, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. DeHart and Otto Schlabig, of New Kensington, Thomas Lewis, of Pénfield.

Fluent and Graceful Speaker.

"Sailing an Unknown Sea," the lecture delivered by Dr. R. A. McKinley in the Presbyterian church Friday evening, was listened to by a good sized audience with the closest attention. The lecture is a graphic portrayal of the life and times of Christopher Columbus, condensing into crisp and scintillating sentences the lore of a hundred historical works, interspersed with word pictures of the middle ages and of noted characters of striking brilliancy. Dr. McKinley has a fluent flow of language and a thorough knowledge of his subject which renders him master of his audience from start to close.

Death of a Noble Young Lady.

Sara Marjory Hunter, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hunter, died at the home of her parents in Milton, Oregon, February 23rd, 1910.

She was born in Beechwoods, Jefferson county, Pa., December 30th, 1887, making her 22 years, 1 month and 23 days old at time of death.

Marjory graduated from the eighth grade when but 13 years old and when 16 had finished high school at Beechwoods. She began teaching at 18 years of age, taught two terms in Beechwoods and one at Big Soldier. She attended a spring term at Grove City College and afterwards expected to make a special study of music.

Marjory had been in poor health for several months and last July went to Oregon with the hope of restoring her health, but all that medical skill, nursing, loving parents and kind friends could do, were of no avail.

Marjory was the light of the household. A good, kind, obedient daughter, she was very studious and ambitious. Her character was pure, her ideals high and her death, though not unexpected for the last few months, was a sad and heavy blow to her parents, who have the sincere and heartfelt sympathy of a large circle of friends and relatives in this, their time of sorrow and bereavement.

She voluntarily connected herself with the Beechwoods Presbyterian church when 10 years of age and after going to Oregon associated herself with the Freewater Presbyterian church.

Only a short time before her death she said, "I have not lived long but I have been busy. Not in doing the great things, but in doing the little things the best I knew how."

Marjory is survived by her father, mother, four brothers and one sister, her death making the first break in the family circle.

"A Gentleman from Mississippi."

On Thursday night of this week the theatregoers are to see Harrison Rhoads and Thomas A. Wise's four act comedy "A Gentleman from Mississippi" at the Adelphi Theatre produced by William A. Brady and Joseph R. Grismer. The play will be presented by the special New York City company which includes Robert Fischer in the title role, assisted by Hans Robert, W. F. Canfield, Wm. Forestelle, Arthur H. Ebbetts, James Gordon, Ernest Evers, Harry De Forrest, and the Misses Louise de Rigny, Leah Baird, Jane Fearley, Sophie Petrayor and Jane Otey.

The comedy deals with a United States Senator who comes from his Mississippi plantation to the busy whirl of a Washington official life. A sturdy, unsophisticated gentleman, easily imposed upon, yet quaint, shrewd and overflowing with kindness is "Senator Langdon." This comedy comes here with the endorsement of the entire New York press where the play ran for one entire year, and it is said to be the greatest comedy of Washington life since the days of "The Senator."

Forced to Leave Home.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calomine, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. Its surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. Its positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup—all throat and lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at H. L. McEntire's.

Presented Purse.

A home talent entertainment was given at Rathmel Monday night consisting of recitations, songs, duets, quartettes, etc., and special music by the Reynoldsville Baptist choir. N. F. Dean presided and at the close of the exercises called Dr. A. J. Meek to the front and with a neat speech presented him a well filled purse, the gift of Rathmel friends. Dr. Meek responded in a humorous strain and expressed his sincere appreciation of their thoughtfulness.

Credit for Good Work.

In THE STAR'S write-up of the Adelphi Theater two weeks ago we unintentionally omitted to give the architect, David H. Young, credit due him for the beauty of the place. But if we forgot the designer, we at least appreciated to the full the merit of his work. When we stated that the Adelphi would rank with the finest playhouses in the state outside of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, we paid the architect a compliment all the more sincere since we did not know at that time who had planned and supervised the work.
