A man from a neighboring town came to Reynoldsville, filled up on booze. went down to the ball ground to sleep off the effects of the booze and when he had sobered up he discovered that some person or persons, had taken $35.00 out of his pocket while he was drunk. Four or five young men- were arrested and given a hearing before 'Squire W. L. Johnston Saturday evening, but there was no evidence to show that they had robbed the man and they were all discharged.

Reynoldsville needs a motto. Something short, striking and expressive. The idea is to use it on all business stationery and town advertising. At the meeting of the Association Monday night one was suggested, "Reynoldsville Means Business," but the Association would like to have other suggestions and invites the expression of new ideas along the line. Study up a motto this week between William Foster, of and give it to any member of the Association, or to the local papers before the next meeting, April 24th. As an illustration of the value of such a motto Rev. Charles E. Rudy organized a two instances may be cited: Seattle's Sunday School at Chestnut Grove Lu- phrase, "Watch Scattle Grow," is theran church last Sunday afternoon, quoted all over the union. Criminal Court.

The April term of criminal court opened at Brookville Monday with P. R. R. station, had his left wrist Judge John W. Reed presiding. There badly injured Monday afternoon while are a number of petty cases on the handling a truck loaded with big docket, but no murder cases this term. The most serious cases for trial this week are for assault and battery. The work of the court will likely not take up a full week.

Longwell Not a Candidate.

Hon Robert H. Longwell, of Brockwayville, who represented Jefferson county two terms in the Legislature, will not be a candidate this spring. The Brockwaville Record says:

"Mr. Longwell advises the Record that he has positively decided to withdraw from the race for Assembly and turn his attention to business interests. Bob is recognized as the greatest vote getter in Jefferson county and it is a well known fact that were he to be a candidate he could win hands down. Longwell made a good representive and his hosts of friends regret that he will not be in the race for re-election. Notwithstanding the fact that Bob is out of the Assembly fight the Record looks for him to get in in the near future, and he does not deny the assertion, for bigger political game before he is many years older. For the present he will devote his attention to the insurance business."

Thief Used Matches Carelessly.

F. M. Brown's fine residence on Grant street narrowly escaped the fire flend last Thursday evening while Mr. and Mrs. Brown were enjoying "A Gentleman from Mississippi" at the Adelphi. Hon, S. B. Elliott was in the house alone and late in the evening be heard two females enter the rear part of house and go up the back stairs to the maid's room, but supposed it was the maid and a lady friend and paid no attention to them. He did not know that the maid had gone home to spend the night. In the morning when she returned and went to her room she discovered that the matting on the floor had been on fire and that a curtain on wall, used to cover her clothing, was burned, and a number of burned matches were lying on the floor. She claims to have had $90.00 in cash in her trunk, which was stolen. A handful of matches were left on the stand in her room. They were red tipped matches and the matches used in the Brown home were white tipped matches, so the female intruders carried the matches with them. It was some person very familiar with the Brown residence and knew just how to get in the back way and how to get to the third floor, where the girl's room was.

The fire could have had a good start on the third floor before it would have been discovered. The matting had been washed Thursday and was damp yet or the fire would not have died out as it did.

A Just Wage Scale,

The miners' wage scale should be nade on a just and equitable basis. The interests of both employers and employee should be properly considered It is just as much to the advantage of the miner that the cost of producing coal in this region be such as will permit successful competition with other regions as it is to the operator.

What would it profit the miner if he were granted a greater advance than the operator could afford to pay? If such advance made it impossible for the operator to run his mine and sell his coal, he could provide work for nobody.

If the increase is proportionately the same in all competitive districts, all have an equal chance. If not, then the operator who pays the least wages and mines his coal the chespest, gets the contracts, and to him the miner must go for work in the end.

It is best for all that the balance be held true between capital and labor, remembering that the injury of one is not only the concern of all, but that the success of the employer means the prosperity of the employee .- Punxsutawney Spirit.

Annual Congregational Meeting.

The annual congregational business meeting of the Presbyterian church was held in that church last Wednesday evening and there was a large attendance. The following officers were elected: Chairman, D. H. Breakey; clerk, R. W. Clawges; auditor, O. H. Johnston; trustee, five years, G. M. McDonald; trustee, four years, Jos. S. Hammond; trustee, two years, John Ross. It is the custom to only elect one trustee each year, but the four and two year trustees resigned during the past year, making it necessary to elect three trustees this year.

Reports from the various organizations of the church were read, and considering the fact that the congregation was without a pastor several months during the year, the reports were very good.

Make a Noise Like Prosperity.

At the meeting of the Business Men's Association Monday night a communication was read suggesting that the Association "ask all industries in Reynoldsville, no matter how large or small, to blow their whistles morning, noon and evening." The suggestion was adopted and the Association requests that every factory in town, whether operating or not, resume making "the music of prosperity" as suggested. It will have a tendency to remind strangers who may happen to be in Reynoldsvilce of the number of industries of varied character we possess and that they are active.
