A HANDSOME PRESENT.

Charles S. Lord, Secretary of the Business Men's Association, Given a Gold Watch.

Charles S. Lord, secretary of the Business Men's Association, was given a complete and happy surprise at the banquet of the Business Men's Association last Thursday evening when George M. McDonaid, at an opportune time, in behalf of the Blaw Collapsible Steel Centering Co., presented him with a very pretty and valuable gold

Mr. Lord as secretary of the Association had sent banquet invitations to Albert C. Lehman, vice-president and general manager, and Benjaand general manager, and Benja-min L. Hirshfield, secretary of the Blaw Collapsible Steel Centering Co., and being unable to be present themselves they sent a letter and gold watch to Lawyer G. M. McDonald, in-structing him to represent the company at the banquet and present letter and watch to Mr. Lord. The letter to Mr. Lord was read at banquet, part of which is as follows:

We cannot let this opportunity pass however, without having someone at the banquet to convey to you and the members of the Association our cordial esteem, our appreciation for all that you have done for us, and our best wishes for the future growth and prosperity, not only of your Associa-tion, but of the town of Reynoldsville. tion, but of the town of Reynoldsville. We feel that our connections with Reynoldsville are such that we are part and parcel of your community, and we want to be second to no one in our loyalty and desire that Reynoldsville may grow and prosper.

"We are also availing ourselves of this concentration to availing ourselves of this concentration to available to your Mr.

this opportunity to express to you, Mr. Lord, our keen appreciation and gratifor the many kindly courtesie which you have shown us, to congrat-ulate you upon the splendid energy and zeal which you have excercised in build-ing up the town of Reynoldsyille. We state a literal truth when we assure you that were it not for you personally we should not now be located at Reyn-oldsville. Through all the discouragoldsville. Through all the discouraging negotiations preceding our location in your city, your energy and patience were most remarkable. We feel that we should express our appreciation of your personal worth and efforts in some tangible way, and we have forwarded to Mr. McDonald a small token of our personal esteem, with the request that he deliver to you at the same time that he conveys this message. We realize that the intrinsic value of this token is not great, but we trust that you will is not great, but we trust that you will accept it in the spirit of cordial fellow-ship with which it is tendered, and that it will encourage you to continue your energetic efforts on behalf of the town of Reynoldsville and the community in which we are now mutually interested."

Eighteen Years Old.

May 11, 1892, THE STAR was launched on the journalistic sea by the present editor and with this issue completes its eighteenth year. During the eighteen years we have endeavored to give the town a good local paper. Of course we have not been able to edit THE STAR to the satisfaction of all the people at all times. During our news-paper experience we have been given good advice(?) occasionally by people who have never been in the business, and perhaps have never written a half column of news for a paper, yet they know just how a newspaper should be run. Come to think of it, there are a number of people who thoroughly understand the newspaper business—in their mind-who are not very success ful in any other line of business and are not engaged in the newspaper business

We are contemplating some improve-ments on THE STAR in the near future. but at present are not ready to make any promises only that we expect to continue giving the reacers of the paper all the interesting and important news of Reynoldsville and vicinity every week, just as we have been doing for eighteen years.

company, was the signal for an outburst of cheering and a tribute of good will rarely accorded. It was fully appreciated by the recipient of the compliment. The guest of honor on the occasion was the Hon. John W. Reed, judge of the courts of Jefferson county. In the address which he gave at the close of the banquet, Mr. Reed paid Reynoldswills citizens a high compliment for the ville citizens a high compliment for the spirit of co-operation existing here, which had secured the many industries that now assure its future prosperity, and which is still manifest in the work now going on for the development of the remaining natural resources. His remarks were aimed to encourage the union of all forces for local improvement. Judge Reed's presence and address gave to the banquet a dignity without which it would have been peculiarly lacking. The regard which the local people have for his advice and presence was manifested at the close of his speech by an enthusiastic outburst
