

When times are dull and people are not advertising is the very time that advertising should be the heaviest. Ninety-nine out of every hundred merchants advertise most when there is least need of it, instead of looking upon advertising as the panacea for their business ills.—JOHN WANAMAKER.

Liberal Subscriptions Guarantee the Success Of Reynoldsville's Independence Day Celebration

THE GILMORES IN THEIR EXHIBITION

The Gilmores, Flying Aerialists, Will Give Sensational Free Exhibitions and a Number of Other Attractions Will be Booked.

FINE BAND OF TWENTY PIECES ENGAGED.

A Duplicate Exhibition of the Old Home Week Fireworks will Be Given in the Evening—Ball Game Arranged for the Morning Attraction—Advertising Committee Is Flooding the County with Bills, Posters and Other Matter.

THE GILMORES, a troupe of dare devil aerialists, who have won fame all over the union through the sensational character of their exhibitions, have been engaged as the star attraction of Reynoldsville's proposed big Independence Day celebration. The company cost a big sum but they are worth it and their recognized merit prevents a repetition of last year's troubles. They carry their own equipment and will give several exhibitions on Main street on the Fourth. It is characteristic of Reynoldsville's celebrations that they are made free to the public in every possible way. It is the desire of the promoters of this event to bring the largest crowd to town that has ever witnessed a similar celebration in the county and to that end they aim to make it as pleasant as possible to the visitors at the least possible expense.

The Gilmores, on account of their wide reputation, will be billed as the leading feature of the day, but they will furnish but one event of a program that will commence at eight in the morning and close in the wee small hours of the morning following. The amusement committee is in correspondence with a number of other attractions and before the day arrives it will be possible to announce a gathering of hippodrome stars rarely seen outside of the cities.

At a cost of $120.00 the music committee has secured the Big Run Silver Cornet band of twenty pieces to play throughout the day. This aggregation of musicians, headed by Hon. Henry I. Wilson, is one of the best in this part of the state and in constant demand for occasions of this kind. All of the committees are now active. The advertising committee headed by H. Alex Stokes, met last Tuesday evening and planned a campaign that will cover Jefferson and adjoining counties with matter about the Fourth in better style than has ever been done since the glorious Old Home Week days. They may have been a trifle late in getting together, due to the uncertainties of the money available, but now that the money is assured the committee is moving like a Curtiss aeroplane.

And the money question is settled. Thanks to the hard work of the finance committee, composed of W. H. Bell, George W. Stokes, Charles M. Milliren, J. M. Dalley, K. C. Shuckers, a sum has been raised larger than ever before has been available for an Independence Day celebration in Reynoldsville. It has been judiciously apportioned among the various committees and every cent will go towards furnishing the people with a legitimate day of jubilee.

Incidentally it may be remarked that local people have an old fashioned idea that a Fourth of July celebration is not complete without plenty of noise and music and a profuse display of Old Glory. It will be safe and sane enough but noiseless—never. Such a day comes but once a year and every one who visits Reynoldsville will be guaranteed a jolly good time with mighty few restrictions on the way to have it.

A ball game is now a certainty between two rival teams near Reynoldsville. More complete announcement of this event will be made next week.

One of the finest features of the Old Home Week celebration was the display of fireworks one evening. The same man who put on an exhibition then has been secured to give another exhibition in Reynoldsville on the night of the Fourth, on equal and possibly greater brilliancy and merit. This feature alone will be worth traveling many miles to witness.

Young Lad's Head Cut Off by Train

John Allison, Of Punxsutawney, was the Little Victim.

John Allison, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Allison, of Punxsutawney, was struck by the B. & P. Flyer Thursday afternoon and instantly killed.

The youngster with several other little tots were playing along the tracks about the time the train came along and instead of getting out of the way they remained on the track as long as possible. Young Allison overestimated the time he could stay on the track and before he could get away from the oncoming train it struck him and cut the top of his head completely off, death being instantaneous.

A number of people witnessed the accident, which happened at Lindsey, and immediately went to the rescue of the youngster but death had occurred before they reached him.

Patronize Home Merchants.

An exchange truly remarks that this is the season when the thoughtless search the pages of illustrated catalogues of the mail order houses, become impressed with the beautiful half-tone pictures and the brilliantly written description of the article and send their cash away for it. Nine times out of ten if they would but take the pains to look over the stock of the home merchant they could find a better article for the same money and deposit the sum that would have been expended for freight and handling, to their credit in the bank. The fact that much of the stuff sold by the catalogue houses goes to pieces in a very short time seems to be altogether overlooked by those who have the mania of buying out of town. The fact that the goods are constructed for appearance only and that the mail order people are amassing vast fortunes while the home merchant ekes out a modest competence, fails to open the eyes of these people to the tremendous profits of these concerns.

Wants to Help Some One.

For thirty years J. F. Boyer, of Fertile, Mo., needed help and couldn't find it. That's why he wants to help some one now. AT THE ADELPHI NEXT WEEK.

Monday evening, June 21, the Unique Stock company, starring Miss Pearl Evans Lewis, and Alfred Webster will open a week's engagement at the Adelphi in Reynoldsville with "My Dixie Girl," a play of the south of absorbing interest. This is the piece in which Miss Lewis starred for twelve weeks in the Masonic Theatre in Louisville with brilliant success and played in all the leading cities of the country.

She is supported by Alfred Webster and a company of exceptional merit. In presenting them Manager Fisher feels assured that the Adelphi patrons will enjoy one of the treats of the season.

The plays will change each night. Popular prices will rule, 10, 20 and 30 cents. Four vaudeville acts will be given.

The Gilmores are known from shore to shore and have an act that has been witnessed by thousands in every large city of the nation. They are rarely seen outside the big parks and hippodromes because of the high price they demand. Come to Reynoldsville July 4th and see them perform free of charge.

Marital Troubles of A Former Resident

J. A. Blaydon Married to a Popular Trevorton Girl May 20th.

J. A. Blaydon, a former electrician in the Reynoldsville silk mill figured in a sensational marriage at Trevorton, Pa., near Shamokin, May 20th and has been receiving considerable newspaper notoriety as a result since. Reynoldsville people have always held Blaydon in high esteem and will recall that twelve years ago he was married here to a DuBois girl. Five children came of the union. Five months ago Mr. Blaydon secured a divorce from his wife.

Mr. Blaydon is now superintendent of the Trevorton light plant and plays in the Shamokin orchestra, a high-class musical organization. The pianist of the orchestra was Miss Edna Fritz, a daughter of one of Trevorton's most respected families. Friendship between Mr. Blaydon and the girl ripened into love and consummated in May in a quiet marriage. According to the tale told in the Shamokin Dispatch, when news of the marriage became known to the bride's father, he was enraged and made threats against the life of Blaydon. The men met in the plant of the Trevorton light company and Mr. Fritz attacked Blaydon with an iron bar, but was prevented from committing murder by the interference of two other men. According to a Shamokin paper the second Mrs. Blaydon is very pretty. She was always held in high esteem by the community and was regarded as a model girl.

A later issue of the Dispatch contains signed statements from Mr. Blaydon and his bride deploring the publicity and denying any wrong doing that would justify it. The former wife also makes a statement that the children by the first marriage had been well provided for at the time of separation.

Auto Piston Breaks; Boys Near Death

Saved by the Electric Light Suddenly Dying Out and Startling Them.

A number of young men had a very close escape from injury Tuesday night of last week while working around an automobile in F. S. Hoffman's barn. The auto belonged to Carl Kirk and was not working satisfactorily. The body had been removed and the boys were endeavoring to improve its running. The motor had been started at fast speed and the boys were standing alongside leaning over the machine watching its action when the electric light overhead momentarily went out. The young men left in the dark all straightened up to see what was the matter. A moment after the piston rod in the motor broke, smashing the other parts badly and sending iron flying in all directions. That no one was hit was due solely to the coincidence of the electric light dying out and causing the watching boys to draw away from the motor.

A new industry has sprung up in Indiana county which is receiving considerable attention and which has so far proved to be paying and the business is increasing. The industry is that of distilling extracts from wild cherry, birch, witchhazel and other woods. Several years ago William Kintor, of near Kintersburg, started such a distillery with very satisfactory results, wholesale drug manufacturers taking the entire output of the plant. Now Chauncey McAdoo, of near Cookport, is erecting a similar distillery on his farm and wholesale druggists are going to take all the extracts he can produce.

Surprise Party Given Robert F. Morrison

Over Three Hundred People Gather at His Beechwoods Home and Make Merry.

About 300 people, friends, neighbors and acquaintances, about a score of whom came from Reynoldsville, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Morrison in the Beechwoods Thursday afternoon and tendered them a surprise party that was one of the most notable social events ever held in that wide region renowned for its generous hospitality. The guests came from Brookville, Brockwayville, Reynoldsville, DuBois, Falls Creek and the Beechwoods district and spent a glorious day despite the rain which prevented some of the out door pleasure that has been planned. The following report of the day was made by one who enjoyed it in person:

After the company had assembled and enjoyed a season of greetings and renewals of old-time acquaintances, a sumptuous dinner was served. Only those who have enjoyed the hospitality of the kindly Beechwoods people and realize the culinary skill of the housewives can appreciate the merits of this feast. After the cravings of the inner man had been satisfied Jerry Allen, the well known merchant of Allen's Mills, acting in the capacity of toastmaster, made an address in which he paid a glowing tribute to the friends in whose honor the occasion was. He was followed by addresses from Archie McWilliams and other neighbors, many of whom had come a long distance to meet with this kindly intentioned throng in paying respects to the bride and groom of many years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison were presented with two beautiful chairs in which they may be able to pass their declining days in peace and comfort, although they are far from reaching that stage in life's journey. The presentation speech was made by Rev. Gold, pastor of the Allen's Mills Baptist church, to which Mr. Morrison responded with appropriate remarks in which he expressed the gratitude of himself and Mrs. Morrison both for the gifts and for the kindly consideration of their friends in remembering the event. Following this was vocal and instrumental music by Mrs. Francis Morrison and Miss Almada Dougherty, of Beechwoods, Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Gillespie, of Reynoldsville, and Prof. J. G. Dailey, of Philadelphia. The guests departed at a late hour in the day with hearty congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Morrison over the length of their married life and best wishes for its continuance for many years to come.

The following Reynoldsville people attended the party: H. Alex Stokes and family, J. W. Gillespie and family, F. A. McConnell and family, W. H. Bell and family, Thomas Green and family, William W. Wiley and wife, John Conser, Alex Riston, Miss Gertrude David and H. J. Morrison.
