REYNOLDSVILLE, PENNA.

A Little of Everything.

The new Parisian "hobble skirt" has made its appearance in Reynoldsville.

H. W. Henderson, of Corsica, has been elected principal of the Summersville schools.

John Lewis Horn, veteran of the civil war, died from sunstroke at Hawthorn Thursday.

D. B. Moore, one of the best known old settlers in the Glendale district, has been very ill for some time.

The Luther League will hold a lawn fete on Saturday evening, July 23rd on the Lutheran Church in w. Everybody invited.

John Ross is suffering from blood poisoning in the right foot, caused by scratching his ankle on a rusty pipe two weeks ago.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lavo, July 17th, 1910, a son. Mr. and Mrs. Lavo are former Reynoldsville people who now reside in Williamsport.

On account of a wreck near Mosgrove Saturday night the Pennsylvania passenger train due here at 9:40 did not arrive until an early hour Sunday morning.

Warren and Lock Haven are among the surrounding towns that have adopted the plan of oiling the public streets in order to keep down the dust nuisance. The plan seems to work out in a manner that is most satisfactory and quite inexpensive.

As a result of the Fourth of July celebration in Reynoldsville the Business Men's Association will add about $90 to its treasury. The accounts are not all settled yet, and no final audit is possible, but the bulk of the bills are in and there is a comfortable margin of safety.

Joseph, son of K. C. Schuckers, was slightly burned about the face Friday evening through the explosion of gas in an old and unused water well on the premises of the Schuckers home on Main street. The well is about 40 feet deep and decayed matter at the bottom continually gives off gas which explodes when fire is lowered into the well.

County Superintendent Jones has gone to State College, where he will take a course in methods of Agricultural Instruction. Mr. Jones has already done much to introduce the teaching of agriculture into the rural schools, and it is his intention during the summer to get into touch with the latest ideas in this work. He will also spend some time at the University of Pennsylvania before returning.—Republican.

U. G. Sheafnocker, former sheriff of Jefferson county, was a visitor to town one day last week looking after business interests. While Mr. Sheafnocker did not talk politics during his visit here, the Record has reason to believe that he will be a candidate for one of the county offices at the next county primaries. Sheafnocker made a good sheriff and if he decided to be a candidate he will no doubt receive the support of a large circle of friends.—Brookville Record.

What's The Matter With Hope Fire Co.

Famous Organization Is Split Wide Open and the Business Portion of Town Is Without Protection of a Well Drilled Company—Drastic and Immediate Measures Needed.

What's the matter with Hope Fire Company?

The man who can answer that question satisfactorily will earn the gratitude of the citizens in general for it will make possible a reconciliation of all opposing elements and a re-organization of the company.

As it is now, the business portion of Reynoldsville is practically without a fire company. The equipment is here and by long force of habit the truck is usually rushed to the scene of a fire in quick time, but it is noticeable in the last three or four fires that less than a half dozen firemen responded to the alarm or did anything with the equipment after it had arrived at the place of the fire.

The company has not had a business meeting for over a year and none of the former members seems to know or care much about the affairs of the company. Various reasons are given for the indifference. Disension over the system of electing a chief is one. Dissatisfaction with the equipment is another. Several are plainspoken in their demands that council provide the company with finer quarters for their headquarters. One or two hint at grafting in past years. A few say they have "done their share" and that it is up to the younger element to carry on the work.

Council recently purchased a number of chemical fire extinguishers and a few of the firemen are not quite certain they care to handle the things. In short, there are so many reasons, some frivolous some malicious, that it would be pretty safe to disregard all and state that the trouble is simply a condition of internal jealousy and strife that renders it impossible to work in harmony, and makes re-organization with new members not allied with present factions the only solution.

Council has considered the proposition and concluded to leave it alone. The Business Men's Association appointed a committee to look into the matter and the committee is now somewhat gingerly feeling its way along and seeking a remedy.

It is astounding that a town which has suffered so heavily from fire as Reynoldsville has in recent years should find itself after all its experience without the protection of a well drilled company. The situation demands immediate attention and drastic action. There is too much property at stake in Reynoldsville to allow the factional quarrels of a few to stand in the way of a continuance of the life of the Hope Fire Company.

Funeral of Thomas L. Mitchell.

The body of Thomas L. Mitchell, mention of whose death at Detroit, Michigan, was made in our last issue, was brought to Reynoldsville on the early morning train Friday and taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Cora Mitchell, on Grant street, where funeral services were held on the afternoon of the same day, at three o'clock, conducted by Dr. A. J. Meek, pastor of the First Baptist church, and burial was made in the Reynoldsville cemetery. Five brothers and a cousin acted as pall bearers, as follows: James E., Joseph B., Bruce, Fred and S. Wallace Mitchell, and Dr. McClane.

In addition to the five brothers mentioned above, the deceased is survived by his mother and three sisters, Mrs. G. Newell Meeker, of Louisville, Ky., Misses Lucile and Alice Mitchell and two little daughters, Misses Imogene and Cora, who reside with their grandmother, Mrs. Cora Mitchell.

Love and Lafevre, crack tennis players of Brookville, met K. C. Schuckers and Clyde C. Murray on the Murray grounds in this place Friday evening and were defeated. The score in four sets was 7-5, 6-4, 6-1 and 6-4, all in favor of the Reynoldsville players. This was the third game between these teams, and gave the local players the best out of three.

Thirty-one of the friends of Mrs. Lizzie Smith picniced in the grove at her home in Beechwoods Tuesday. The day was an ideal one for an outing. The ladies carried with them so many good things to eat that after feeding the five thousand for not only dinner but supper also, there remained of the fragments twelve baskets. All returned home feeling they had spent a most enjoyable day.

Ladies' and gentlemen's clothes cleaned and dyed. Suit pressing a specialty, at Dahler's dyeing and pressing establishment, Reynoldsville.

We still have some barefoot sandals, prices 50, 60 and 65 cents. Adams.

Late C. A. STEPHENSON

A. M. WOODWARD WAS IN RUNAWAY AT CLEARFIELD.

Collar Bone and Ribs Broken And Badly Broken.

A. M. Woodward, of the drug firm of Woodward & Brenner, was badly injured recently when his driving horse ran away at the upper end of Ogden avenue.

Mr. Woodward, who had been out in the country on business, was returning home when the accident occurred. On the state road just above Ogden avenue a bolt in the shaft became loosened and the shafts dropped down, striking the horse on the heels. Old Dobbin, who is more or less feisty anyhow, with the idea, no doubt, of sharing the limelight with the more dangerous automobile, started on a rush down the road. A little girl named Thurston was in the buggy with Mr. Woodward and both occupants were thrown out onto the brick street. Mr. Woodward had his collar bone and three ribs broken, besides receiving numerous cuts and bruises. The little girl was unhurt.

Mr. Woodward made his way, under great difficulty, to the home of Sheridan Beahan where he was offered every comfort possible until medical aid was summoned and his injuries attended to. He was then removed to his home on Turnpike avenue, where he is getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances.—Clearfield Public Spirit.

Contracted Skin Disease.

A little Polish lad in West Reynoldsville is confined to bed with a serious skin disease which, it is believed, was contracted through swimming in the Sandy Lick creek.

Notwithstanding repeated warnings against swimming in the impure water of this stream, scores of local boys are in every day, and run the risk of suffering just as the Polish boy is now. Parents would do well to prohibit their children from going into any stream into which the refuse from a tannery flows, as it does into the Sandy Lick above Reynoldsville and at Falls Creek.

New Wholesale House.

W. T. Cox, of Reynoldsville, has opened a new wholesale house for groceries in the Evans block, on Main street and has been doing a rushing business from the start. He represents Russo Brothers, of Baltimore, Md.

It has long been contended that on account of the central location of Reynoldsville, it is the best natural wholesale stand to supply the towns within a twenty mile radius in this part of the state. Mr. Cox has had extensive experience in the grocery business and understands the needs of such merchants as few others do. It is to be hoped that he will succeed in building up a large trade for it he does so the town will benefit fully as much as he will by gaining a reputation as a wholesale center.

Postmaster to Apply For a Postal Bank

Thousands of Dollars are Now Sent to Europe from Reynoldsville Every Month and Much of It May be Kept at Home Through the Establishment of a Postal Bank.

Smith M. McCreeght, postmaster at Reynoldsville, will shortly make application to the postoffice department at Washington, D. C., for the establishment of a postal savings bank at the local office. It will take some time for the system to be put in operation but Reynoldsville will probably be among the first offices in the country to adopt it.

The establishment of this bank in Reynoldsville will keep in the town thousands of dollars that are now going elsewhere, notably to foreign countries. In this place, as in every other that has a large foreign population, a surprisingly large amount of money is shipped every month to European countries by foreign laborers who distrust American banks and this money, it is believed, will be kept at home if the foreigners can be made to understand that they are depositing it with the U. S. government and have absolute security, beside a two per cent rate of interest on their money.

The opening of the bank will not affect any local bank to any extent, since there is a provision that money deposited in the postal bank may be re-deposited in some local bank. The home bank must pay a slightly greater rate of interest for the use of the money than is given by the postal bank to its depositors.

So successful has been the week's engagement of the Great Zartoon at the Star theatre which closed last night and so numerous have been the demands upon the psychic wonder that he has been prevailed upon by Manager Bailey to remain in DuBois three days longer and will appear again at the Star Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A remarkable feature of Zartoon's work, aside from accurately telling the past, present and future, is his ability to cure afflictions and correct bad habits. He has promised one DuBois lady to cure her of a growth on the neck and ten days ago in Tarentum restored hearing to a woman who had been deaf for 18 years.—DuBois Courier.
