

WORKING FOR GOOD ROADS.

In an endeavor to stimulate interest in the "Good Roads" movement in the states through which it operates, the Pennsylvania Railroad has issued a pamphlet entitled "Good Roads at Low Cost." This booklet is being given a wide distribution in the country districts throughout Pennsylvania Railroad territory.

"Good Roads at Low Cost" was written for the Pennsylvania Railroad by D. Ward King, who is an acknowledged expert on road making. He is the author of a pamphlet distributed by the Department of Agriculture some time ago.

While the management of the Pennsylvania Railroad has for some time been keenly interested in the subject of good roads, in the past year it has redoubled its efforts in this direction. Meetings of agents have been held at different points, while the General Manager's staff has also taken up the subject of improving the roads radiating from the Company's stations.

The Railroad Company has had D. Ward King, the inventor of the split log drag, which the farmers make themselves, deliver lectures at various stations in the State of Pennsylvania. The split log drag, which can be made by any one following the directions given in the pamphlet just issued by the Railroad Company, has been used with telling effect in many parts of the country. A number of these drags have been placed at various Pennsylvania Railroad stations throughout the State of Pennsylvania in order that road supervisors and others might operate them.

The Railroad's activity in the "Good Roads" movement is actuated by the desire to have the highways leading from the stations in passable condition during all seasons of the year. In the winter months, thousands of miles of dirt roads are almost impassable, and farmers are unable to get to and from railroad stations, thereby causing a congestion of traffic when roads are opened.

The Railroad Company has, therefore, interested itself in good roads with the view that they will open up the rural districts and hasten their development, which will be a forerunner of increased railroad traffic.

A STRONG TEAM.

It is one thing to know the needs of the county and quite another secure them from the legislature. That is why the voters of Jefferson county are to be congratulated on having on the Republican ticket as candidates for the legislature two men of the calibre of North and Wilson. Both these men have spent their lives among the people they seek to represent, they know the needs of the property interests and the laborer equally well, and what is of greater value, they have had the experience in legislative work which will enable them to secure the more readily for their constituents favors desired. Wilson first entered the house of representatives when a very young man and later served as journal clerk in the senate, in both of which positions he proved himself a man of ability and tact. North's record was even more brilliant in the house. When the country members were battling for their rights, North was chosen their leader and succeeded in securing for them the legislation they desired, one very important matter being the reapportionment bill which gave Jefferson county another member in the house of representatives. Jefferson county has not for many years had the opportunity to send two such able men to represent it at Harrisburg.

WALKING.

If you are not a disciple of Thoreau at this season of the year, become one. You who do not know the joy of wandering at leisure through the wild woods, over lonely paths and quiet stretches of fields, or have never poked your way along some woody stream stepping from stone to stone, listening to the music of the flowing water, have yet a new sensation to experience. In the last days of summer there is a charm about the outdoors that is fascinating in the extreme and is heightened by the languor that hangs over everything and proclaims a dying season.

It is passing strange that a country so rich in natural scenery as the region surrounding Reynoldsville should have so few devotees of walking. There are sections within a five or six mile radius of town that are more romantic than ever was delineated by an artist's pencil, and some as wild as ever it was in primeval days. You cannot see these hidden beauties riding along the beaten highways. You must take the paths and follow the streams and leave all trace of civilization behind you. Then, when lost in the heart of some wild wood you will realize the truth of the saying that the "groves were God's first temples," and feel a veneration greater than ever comes from a visit to all-too-often dark and gloomy churches in the town.

"We do not at this time find any insurgency within the Republican party in Pennsylvania," said John K. Tener recently at Punxsutawney. Evidently Mr. Tener does not read the Brookwayville Record or else the Republican of Brookville is right in classing the Record as a Democratic sheet. Brother Adam is having a monkey and a parrot time all by his lonely in the northern end of the county.

Worse Than Bullets.

Bullets have often caused less suffering to soldiers than the eczema L. W. Harriman, Burlington, Me., got in the army, and suffered with, forty years. A DIGNIFIED CAMPAIGN

Roman E. Koehler, formerly mayor of West Reynoldsville, now editor of the Donora American, was a friend of John K. Tener, the gubernatorial candidate, long before he entered politics, and in the last issue of the American had the following to say of Tener's personal character:

When John K. Tener first entered politics some three years ago and was a candidate for congressional honors, his opponent, who owned and controlled a number of newspapers began a scurrilous attack on Tener, in news columns, editorially and by cartoons. Unknown to Mr. Tener some of his friends prepared to answer these by similar methods. Cartoons suggestive of improper alliances of his opponent were printed and ready for circulation, but Tener himself upset their plans. He requested that they be destroyed. He advised his friends to let the other side do all the mudslinging. And Tener won by a handsome majority.

The present campaign is being conducted along the same lines. The opposition is producing all the slander and vilification, Mr. Tener, in a dignified manner is letting the people know of his plans for their welfare, to be carried out if he is elected governor. To do otherwise would be contrary to his nature and not in harmony with either his private or public record. He is not a "grand stander" nor a "hot air" orator, but he is sincere and will do just what he says he will do. His business rivals and competitors will unanimously vouch for his integrity and fairness.

Since the above was placed in type Mr. Tener has issued a lengthy statement, clearing his name of the accusations of fraud brought against him, showing the charges grossly exaggerated, and voluntarily offering to repay to any person who believes himself defrauded, all the money paid for stock in the company under dispute.

In a local church recently a sermon was preached on "One Thing Reynoldsville Needs." We were not present to hear the minister's conclusions, but our own opinion is that the thing needed most is for every business man in Reynoldsville to give a good imitation of a steam engine in trousers and go after the business around Reynoldsville that is now going to mail order houses.

The Snug Fitting Coat Collar—It's Clothcraft!

THE coat collar is one of the things that make a hit with you when you wear Clothcraft. It sits up to your collar as if molded to it.

But it is only one of the Clothcraft points of superiority. There's the style—the shape—the non-breakable coat front—the non-sagging pockets.

And there's the guaranty of the maker—and ourselves—that Clothcraft is pure All-Wool—nothing else.

Yet you get your Clothcraft suit at $10 to $25. Wouldn't it be foolish to take a chance with ordinary clothes—when you can get Clothcraft with the guaranty—for the same or less.

STOKE & FEICHT DRUG STORE

Conducting a HIGH-CLASS PHARMACY

Is not a sinecure by any means. Much experience and an unusual degree of shrewdness are indispensable prerequisites in the conducting of a high-class pharmacy, even more so than in any other retail business because the drug business has more pitfalls than any other. Knowledge of these pitfalls is just as necessary as is the determination to keep out of them, for while a man may honestly resolve to conduct an A-No 1 drug store still he cannot do so if he does not know all the ins and outs of the drug trade.

Thorough drug training, extensive drug store experience and practical knowledge of the drug trade enable us to maintain the standard of this pharmacy at the highest possible point of efficiency.

Do You Ever Wonder?

When you get home with a bottle of medicine do you ever wonder how much care was taken in compounding it, who prepared it, did they use the right ingredients, and did they use the right quantity. These are quite natural questions for anyone to ask, but they are safely answered in every bottle of medicine you get here.

The Medicine You Take

Whatever medicine you get at this store is exactly right.

If you could see how your medicine is prepared here, the care we give every prescription that comes into our store, if you had the professional training to appreciate the quality in all the drugs used and the skill used in preparing, you would never think of going elsewhere for even your simplest drug store want.

People who deal here never have any doubts about the medicine they get.

Our Work Is Exceptional

and our prices are as reasonable as it is possible for us to offer. We believe that the sick are under enough expense, so we never take advantage of any person's need to set our prices. In fact in case of sickness our prices are exceedingly low.
