

GET BUSY AND BOOST.

Get busy and boost for your own home town.
Don't stand on the corner and run it down.
Don't cuss the Mayor and say the town's dead.
That's only what some foolish knocker has said:
But boost for your City and cry "Forge ahead"
And let the knockers knock.

Get busy and boost for your home market place.
Don't go round with a long drawn face
Crying out that prices are far too high,
Thus giving your merchants a blackened eye,
But boost like a jolly boy. "Never say die."
And let the knockers knock.

Get busy and boost for your own town's rights.
Don't join the knockers in their petty fights,
If you listen to them and let the town go,
When it fails they'll say, "I told you so."
"This town is noted for being slow."
For knockers always knock.

Boost for your home town—help win the fight.
Boost all the time with all your might,
Build up a city of blazing light,
Turn on the knockers and put them to flight;
They'll bump their own heads as they drop from sight,
For knockers always knock.

A GOOD MAN AND TRUE.

When the voters of Jefferson county cast their ballots next Tuesday, we believe they will honor themselves and the county by returning to the legislature S. Taylor North of Punxsutawney. In the long years that have passed since Jefferson county has been represented in the Pennsylvania legislature, no man has served with a more brilliant record, or accomplished more for his constituents in two brief terms than Mr. North did when in the legislature a few years ago. When he declined re-nomination, there was regret expressed by every paper in the county, and words of commendation for his able services were openly expressed by the best citizens of the county. On every question that affected the welfare of his people, his vote was cast with those opposed to corruption in politics. In the face of such a record for cleanness and upright dealing with his constituents, the idle charges now made that he stands as the representative of special interests are simply absurd and will do more harm to the parties making them to Mr. North. North has won the confidence of the people and they will recognize his merit by sending him to Harrisburg to again work for the county's interests.

Edwin S. Stuart will go down in Pennsylvania history as one of the purest and best governors that ever filled the executive chair of the Keystone state. He has shown many times the same brand of moral courage that the people admire in Roosevelt, and if Pennsylvania's vote was doubtful politically to-day, Stuart would be looked on as available presidential timber. And, Stuart, who has proven himself a clean and honorable man, comes out unhesitatingly in favor of John K. Tener for governor of Pennsylvania. Tener never had a higher compliment paid his character and Stuart's action will serve to steady thousands of wavering Republican voters.

It is now said that Congressman James A. Tawney will be the next governor of Minnesota. It is to be hoped that "Jim" will not drop out of politics, otherwise there would be no opportunity for periodical reference to the fact that he was once a member of the Reynoldsville brass band.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

John K. Tener, Republican candidate for Governor, in a speech at Reading on Thursday, said: "If elected, I will urge the building of State roads throughout the State connecting county seats and cities, not an automobile road from Philadelphia to Pittsburg, but one that will go into every county and be maintained by the State."

Most of The Star's subscribers have their subscriptions paid up to the current year, but a few have been negligent and allowed themselves to get in arrears. We would like to call the attention of the delinquents to the fact that there is a ruling of the postoffice department which forbids sending papers to subscribers over two years in arrears unless a stamp is affixed. This ruling may be rigidly enforced at any time.

THE MAIL ORDER HOUSE THE DEADLIEST FOE OF THE SMALL TOWN.

The mail order business is the quack doctor of commerce. It promises much and guarantees nothing. Like patent medicine, the directions are always on the inside and you always have to buy a nonreturnable package before you can find out what they are.

No Mail Order House helped to build the little white school house in your district, or turnpike the road just past your door. No Mail Order House ever took you by the hand when you were in distress and told you to let that little account go until after harvest next year. No Mail Order House ever sold you a vehicle and spent every cent of its profits right in the community where you and your neighbors could get it all back again. No Mail Order House ever shined its patent leather shoes under your table and rejoiced with you when you were glad, nor spoke encouraging words in affliction, nor stood with uncovered head beside the graves when your children died.

No, the Mail Order House is after money. Every dollar it gets its hands on will be jerked out of your neighborhood forever. The Mail Order House may bear on its face the semblance of friendship, but no human heart beats under its cloak of hypocrisy. Sentiment to it is unknown. The whole institution is as cold and bloodless as a corpse.

All the Mail Order Houses in Christendom would not increase the value of your farm a cent. They are parasites to whom life is only possible as long as they can suck blood out of the communities, to the upbuilding of which they contribute nothing. They create no local market for the products you have for sale. They have no property in your county which can be assessed to help bear the burden of taxation.

The local dealer needs neither advocate nor defense. His methods rest on principles that have built up in this country a system of internal commerce which is the marvel and admiration of the world. His business is legitimate because its success contributes to the general prosperity of the community that built it up.

Stand by your local dealer as he stands by you with his time, his skill and his money. He helps to build up the community and he makes it a better place for you both to live. His own success depends on your own prosperity. He has no use for mavericks—unbranded junk. He swears by the goods branded with the trademark of the most skilled manufacturers on earth—goods the like of which no other generation ever saw, and he has an abiding faith in the theory that the best goods in the world to-day are none too good for that major-general of all industries—the American Citizen.—Paxton Record.

In several instances since we have assumed charge of the office, we have been called to time for the omission of certain items which really should have been in, for slight typographical errors which crept into the paper, and in one or two instances for omitting items which had been handed in for publication. We wish once for all to offer a general apology to all concerned for these omissions and errors, which were in every instance due to oversight or to an exceptional rush of job work and advertising which made it practically impossible for us with the present office force and facilities to pay proper attention to the news features of the paper. The office force is at present working day and night on the large annual institute announcement for 1910, and it will probably be two weeks before it is finished. In time we will get caught up with the work and be able to present a more carefully edited paper.

OUT OF THE GINGER JAR.

A good rule for every farmer is the two-foot rule.

Those who are on pleasure bent,
May soon lack funds to pay the rent.

With horses as with married folks, it is desirable that when hitched they stay hitched.

Some there may be who are unable to come back, but it is not the San Jose louse.

Our friends are like our clothes—unless they wear well we get little satisfaction out of them.

If a team of horses pull together they are sure to accomplish something; and the same is true of men.

We put hobbles on a horse to keep him at home, but the hobble skirt is not intended for any such purpose.

Too often instead of being sorry for our misdeeds we are merely ashamed that we have been found out.

Did you ever stop to wonder what a lot of mischief you might get into if you didn't have to work so hard for a living?

Wiseacres advise us that there is always room at the top, and the average man when he comes to fifty is apt to find there is room at the top for more hair than he has.

One of the greatest accomplishments is to be a good listener. By letting the other man do the talking we acquire a reputation far above that we may gain in any other way.

One of our contemporaries writes instructively of "the dawn of agriculture." In this latitude the dawn of agriculture occurs about 3.30 A. M. in the summer and at 5 A. M. in the winter.—Farm Journal.

STOKE & FEICHT DRUG STORE

Conducting a HIGH-CLASS PHARMACY

Is not a sinecure by any means. Much experience and an unusual degree of shrewdness are indispensable prerequisites in the conducting of a high-class pharmacy, even more so than in any other retail business because the drug business has more pitfalls than any other. Knowledge of these pitfalls is just as necessary as is the determination to keep out of them, for while a man may honestly resolve to conduct an A-No 1 drug store still he cannot do so if he does not know all the ins and outs of the drug trade.

Thorough drug training, extensive drug store experience and practical knowledge of the drug trade enable us to maintain the standard of this pharmacy at the highest possible point of efficiency.

Do You Ever Wonder?

When you get home with a bottle of medicine do you ever wonder how much care was taken in compounding it, who prepared it, did they use the right ingredients, and did they use the right quantity. These are quite natural questions for anyone to ask, but they are safely answered in every bottle of medicine you get here.

The Medicine You Take

Whatever medicine you get at this store is exactly right.

If you could see how your medicine is prepared here, the care we give every prescription that comes into our store, if you had the professional training to appreciate the quality in all the drugs used and the skill used in preparing, you would never think of going elsewhere for even your simplest drug store want.

People who deal here never have any doubts about the medicine they get.

Our Work Is Exceptional

and our prices are as reasonable as it is possible for us to offer. We believe that the sick are under enough expense, so we never take advantage of any person's need to set our prices. In fact in case of sickness our prices are exceedingly low.
