Kensey, June 22d 1865. Ma. Entroy. -The time is approach. rons, to fill the various offices which be. come vacant this fall, it is hardly necessucy to say, that in making our nomina. tions, it should be of primary imporrance to select men who are not only of sound political faith, but whose qualiflections are such, that they will discharge the duties of the respective offiselves and their county.

Impressed with the view, we sak that in bahalf of the citizens of old Fox, you announce as a candidate for county Treasurer, J. C. Chapin Esq., a man every way competent and for whose long and active service in the cause of De. moranay, this would be but a cheap re.

For the Adoccate. THEM COW BELLS.

How I love to hear those cow bells, After I have gone to bed, When upon my welcome pillow, I have laid my weary head,

As cows chase each other round : Or neath my window erop the clover, Keeping up their jingling sound.

Last night two generous cows persisted To sevenade my soothing rest, So very kind my distant neighbors, They would not favor at request.

How each could ring her chiming bell One was base, the other tenor, And they harmonized so well.

Till I no more of it could erave, And I wondered if their owners, Knew the pleasure those bells gave.

Were ringing in some slumberers ear, All the long hours of the long night, Some one would their music hear.

I could never be so generous, As the owners of those bells; Were I possessed of such sweet music, Exclusive I'd enjoy its swells.

I'd not even have then jingled, From shades of night to break of day, Where some weak exhausted sufferer, Was wearing with disease away.

Lowing, jingling here and there, Waking people from their slumbers, To bless their owners with a prayer.

Yet if I did a contribution, Me, I would have my friends endow, Bad with the money I would straightway Buy a pasture for my cow.
