RUBERC. S. W. T'S. MEEL.

BY W. H. VENABLE.

Elate in the morn of existence, Pursuing life's pilgrimage loug-We enter a season anspirious, Romantie and ringing with song ; A season delicious and dreamy, Of joys without earthly eclipse-We enter it trustful, ambitious, The honey of love on our lips.

Distinct to the view retrospective Is childhood's contracted domain, Of which recollection, unfaithful, Recalls neither sorrow nor pain-But fondly its pleasures recounting, Her soothing mellifluous tone,

Restores to the credulous bosom A past rather funcied than known

The upland of anticipation-We see it aglow and abloom, Forgetful that flowers will wither And radiance vanish in gloom ; Forgetful that untrodden mountains Deceive, in prospective, the eye ; That torests appear in the distance Like fairy groves close to the sky-

Alas ! that the charming ideals Of confident youth should depart, Reality banish illusion, Despondency burden the heart : I would that life's journey here ended, Nor led to the wors that await For here we are worthlest Heaven you are." And nearest its mercital gate.

ST. MARY'S SFTTLEMENT-CON.

The building of this church and the large building attached, and occupied as a female continary, which is well patronized from abread, is a theme of proud satisfaction to the borough of St. Mary's and township of Benzinger, and deservedly so. Judging from the vast crowds and began to cry, with the little golden that attend this church-the freedom hared girls elinging to her skirts and from restmint to all worshippers-in- and that in hi elines one to the opinion that their religion is use of duty, and a sense of duty must affect the heart.

A modern religionist is apt to critielse too severely on that religion which admits of form and ceremony, and ignores all such religion that does not affeet the emotions and impulses that outwardly flow from such impressions.

" Sir !" said the spinster, loftily.

" I don't think we can agree, ma'am."

" Very well-very well-come girls."

With prime dignity the lady marshalled her two carges out, muttering something about the extraordinary ideas of landlords now-a-days,

While Nahum, wildly rumbling his iron-grey hair with bold hands, soliloquized :

"Well, if Job had been alive, and had a house to let, there never would have been my book of Job written. There goes that everlasting bell again ; I'll haul it out by the roots if this thing goes on much longer. I'll tear down the bell and put the place up at auction."

Barbara blushed again, and hesitated but Nahum was not to be eluded thus. "Shall I take down the 'To Let,'

Barbara?" "Yes," she murmured, almost under her breath.

So Nahum went deliberately out and coolly tore down the bill, to the great astonishment and disappointment of a party of rabid house.hunters who were just ascending the steps.

"And when will we be married, Barbarn ?" he next demanded.

" In the summer, perhaps," said Mrs. Barbara, shyly.

Geologists gave no practical knowledge of the mines of coal and iron ore. but simply said that they must exist there. So soon as means of ingress was afforded, large investments and enter. prises grew up, and at this time not loss than 20 incorporated and private companies for mining, &c., have been formed for actual business. It is safe to predict that within a very few years

Elk county will export at least from 2,000 to 3,000 tons of coal per day glone, whilst that of lumber and other products will exceed $00 to 400 tons

The population must and will, as a matter of course, keep pace, and Elk county in a short space of time, will number its 20,000 inhabitants. Let no one pronounce this as visionary-it only requires the usual per cent. in. crease that has followed all mining districts. It is easy of solution-by a little thinking and cyphering it will be found that within two years one thousand miners will be employe i, and to their own in the next Rump.
