

The Advocate.

JOHN F. MOORE, Editor.

THURSDAY:

November 11, 1867.

Important Project.

On the outside of the present issue of the Advocate will be found an article under the above caption, which we commend to the attention of the citizens of our county. As will be seen the purpose of the company is to get a line of Railroad from our coal regions to the City of Buffalo. There is now in operation a road from Lafayette, in McKean county, to Carrollton, a station on the line of the New York & Erie. From Lafayette to Johnsonburg, on the line of the P. & E. R. R. the distance is but twenty miles, and to St. Mary's, but twenty-four miles. St. Mary's is but ten miles east of this point, and Johnsonburg eight miles west. At both of these places coal is abundant, and only awaits a market to have thousands of miners employed in digging it. Then we have the Shawmut and the Kersey coal Companies which would derive immense benefit from such an outlet. Taking all together, we think that some nearer connection with the lakes, would be of incalculable benefit to our county. It looks to us as very probable that we will have a road completed to one of the above points in this county—possibly to both—before another winter closes in. Let our citizens take hold of the matter and see what can be done.

Work to be Done.

Among the causes of the popular uprising against Radical supremacy, is the just indignation of the masses of the North at the injustice and oppression practiced upon their fellow countrymen of the South. Our national character is not cruel and vindictive, nor can the teachings and the example of a faction make it so. At the close of the war, when wounds were smarting and the mold was still fresh on the graves of the fallen, there was naturally in the popular heart some degree of resentment and hard feeling. But that has all passed away, and, except in the bosoms of ruthless demagogues and blood-thirsty fanatics, the general desire is for peace and good will between the two sections. This conciliatory spirit is not due exclusively to the generous impulses of the people, but is partly founded upon their appreciation of the proper course to be pursued to insure the general prosperity and the safety of the country. A party that lives and thrives upon the elements of convulsion may wish to keep alive the embers of strife and to provoke the discord that enables them to retain their usurpations; but the intelligent masses, having changed their swords into plowshares, and having passed from the fields of war to those of industry, desire tranquility and order, and are unwilling to injure their interests for the sake of inflicting torments and insults upon their unarmed and unresisting countrymen.

Therefore, when the Democracy shall have regained the ascendancy in the National Congress, which will be the inevitable consequence of the present sentiment of the people, it cannot be expected that the fabric of injustice wrought by the Radicals in the South will be permitted to stand. Just so surely as it is based upon injustice, unconstitutionality and unrepugnance, just so surely must it be swept away, leaving no more trace of its existence than if it had never been. The whole process of what the Radicals call reconstruction, unconstitutional from the beginning, is to be speedily and completely undone. The work of the conventions, with all the questions of negro suffrage, representation in Congress, local government and judicial action involved, must be either declared null and void, or be reviewed or passed upon by the people of the South under those constitutional forms and proceedings that would be used by the people of any of the States of the North.

—In Ohio, Minnesota, Kansas and Wisconsin, the voters show that the Radicals are largely opposed to negro suffrage; yet they acquiesce in the 'policy' of their leaders, which is to force negro suffrage upon the people of ten of the Southern States. Is this the tendency of "grand moral ideas"? Do such Radicals pretend to be Christians? Can they say that they are governed by the golden rule—"Do unto others as you would wish others to do unto you?"

The Impachment Question.

WASHINGTON, November 25.

The inauguration of the impeachment movement in the House to-day attracted a large crowd of visitors to the galleries, and the excitement extending to the Senate, that body adjourned after a very brief session, nearly all the Senators present repairing to the Hall of Representatives, to witness the opening of the great impeachment ball. It was hinted last week that a change of views had taken place in the Judiciary Committee on the question, and that Mr. Churchill, of New York, had gone over to the impeachers. This story was so generally credited that numbers on both sides were prepared for just such a report as was presented. Nevertheless, the rumor was flatly contradicted at the Capitol this morning, and it was not known positively outside what would be the character of the report until Mr. Boutwell (at 2:40 P. M.) rose, and submitted it as the views of the majority of the committee. The excitement at this point was intense. The demand for the reading of the document, however, had the effect of diminishing the crowd somewhat, besides giving evidence that no immediate action would be taken, which turned out to be true, for after a portion of the report had been read, it was agreed to have it printed, and the whole subject postponed until Wednesday, the 4th of December. The very able report of the minority of the committee in opposition to the impeachment scheme was presented by Mr. Wilson and ordered to be printed. There was a great scramble for printed copies of the evidence, only a limited number of which were ready for distribution. The probable action of the House on the exciting question now before them is actively discussed. The impeachers, led by Boutwell, of Massachusetts, and Williams, of your State, claim that they have a majority of all the members on their side. Ashley is remarkably quiet, and seems rather indifferent to the result. Wilson, of Iowa, and Bingham, of Ohio, are marshaling their forces on the Republican side, and hope, with the aid of the Democratic vote, to be able to kill the proposition as soon as it shall come up. So far as can be ascertained there is very little disposition on the part of the Senate Republicans to have the matter sent to them, but the House impeachers are straining every nerve to throw the issue in their hands. The action of the committee was communicated to the President early this afternoon, but it had been anticipated at the White House.

News Items.

—In Jamaica the soldiers and negroes are at loggerheads.

—The official Democratic majority in New Jersey is 17,924.

—Wisconsin Radical organs concede that their majority will fall below 5,000.

—Rev. Paul Bagley wants to do the praying for the Rump Senate. It is a foolhardy undertaking.

—It is said that gold has been discovered beneath the coal vein in West Middlesex, in Mercer county.

—Small bands of Garibaldians still make incursions into the Papal States, but are promptly suppressed.

—Labrador was visited by a hurricane on the 9th of October, which destroyed more than thirty vessels and thirty seven persons perished.

—Reports prevail in London to the effect that the United States Government has proposed to buy the interest of the Hudson's Bay Company.

—Thomas M. Beale, of Milford Township, Juniata county, shot a wild Turkey on Tuesday last, which kicked the beam to the tune of nineteen pounds undressed.

—At a banquet given by the late Emperor Maximilian at Chapultepec, one of the servants, a Mexican, was seen to scratch his head with a fork before handing it to the Emperor.

—Saturday's telegrams from London say that Dr. Livingston was alive last April. He was then exploring the wastes of Africa, hundreds of miles from the seacoast.

—The convicted Fenians—Allen, Larken and Gould, were hung at Manchester, England, on the morning of the 23d instant. All was quiet during the progress of the execution.

—Last Wednesday morning, says the Chillicothe Advertiser, of the 7th, at the German Catholic Church in this city, a widow of sixty-three years of age was married to a sweetheart of twenty-four. That boy certainly needed some one to take care of him. She can be a wife, mother and grandmother to the child.

—There were two thousand French and three thousand Pontifical troops engaged against Garibaldi. The French loss was two killed and thirty eight wounded. The Pontifical loss was twenty killed and one hundred and twenty three wounded. The Garibaldian loss was six hundred killed, a proportionate number of wounded and twenty-three hundred prisoners.

—The artesian well in Louisville is now being enlarged to six inches in diameter and 2,200 feet in depth, which will make it the largest in the world.

[Special to the Age.]

A NEW DAILY.—A new daily Republican paper is to be started at Harrisburg. We notice among the list of managers the name of Wion Forney, Esq. Mr. Forney has for a long time been connected with the press-gang of Central Pennsylvania, and his abilities are undoubted. Anything would be an improvement on that lying sheet, the Telegraph, and we wish the new enterprise financial success and prosperity.

MARRIED.—On the 21st inst., by the Rev. F. Verner, Hon. Geo. Dickinson, to Miss Jane Thayer, both of this place.

—More Cake! More Greenbacks! Again the printer came off with the lion's share. They have our thanks for their liberality, and our good wishes for their future welfare.

In Warren, Pa., by the Rev. J. Hon. ecker, at his residence, Mr. J. E. Lesser, of this place, to Miss S. C. Somers, of Conewango township, Warren county, Pa.

—We cannot imagine the reason of so many weddings in our neighborhood. Matrimony seems to have become a mania in our village lately. Even Lesser has bid adieu to bachelorhood. We hope he and his fair spouse may find the way of matrimonial life as pleasant as writers of love stories paint it. Good bye, Lesser.

DIED.—On Saturday, the 22d instant, at his residence in this place, Mr. Albert Willis, aged 37 years.
