EX-GOVERNOR CURTIN.
The death of Andrew G. Curtin will remove a man who held a unique position in Pennsylvania. Known as the "war governor," there may be thousands of Pennsylvanians with but a hazy idea of the reason for the name. Yet Governor Curtin, although a non-combatant, did perhaps as much for the union as any one man in the State. He did not give his life, as did many a poor fellow who had nothing else to offer, but his efforts in raising troops and sending them to the front, even when the government declared that they were not needed, did much toward shedding lustre upon this State as one of the most loyal in the country.

Governor Curtin has been essentially a man of the people. His thoughts were for his fellow-man, and none realized more than he that the shock of battle and physical sufferings were not the greatest source of anxiety to the soldier. Curtin it was who cared for the everyday wants of the soldiers, and who never neglected calls upon him, as the head of a great State, for assistance in the field. It is to his efforts that the children of the dead soldiers are indebted for the excellent provisions made for them in Pennsylvania, and it is he who is referred to with deep affection by the veterans of to-day as indeed the "war governor."

Such a man rises above party, and the news of his dangerous illness evoked a thrill of sorrow in the breast of every soldier, particularly in Pennsylvania.
Born in the year in which Napoleon met his overthrow at Waterloo, Curtin seems to have lived in the midst of the storms of battle all his life, and his name is associated with the most stirring period of this country's history, as well as those of European countries. His mourners will comprise all Americans.

GIVE CANADA CREDIT.
The following is taken from the Pittsburg Press:
"Although Canada is still a separate country, it is closely allied with the United States in some things to be regarded altogether a foreign nation. In the matter of sanitary regulation, particularly, the two countries are hand in hand, and it is satisfactory to know that the dominion authorities are on the alert to keep disease from its shores, when immigrants might bring it with them. The meeting of the American Health association, in Montreal, brought to general notice the action taken by Canadian authorities in this regard. The quarantine station at Quebec is said to be one of the most complete on this continent, and, in the opinion of Surgeon General Wyman, of Washington, this has had much to do with keeping the United States free from epidemic from foreign countries. It would be vain for the health officers at New York to be vigilant if there were a loophole for disease on the Canadian border. If a dangerous pestilence were to become entrenched in Canada, it would be very difficult to keep it on the British side of the border and there would be trouble in the United States in a very short time. "We must give our neighbors credit for using every care to keep out pestilence, and for acting hand in hand with United States officials in disinfecting the baggage of immigrants, and taking other action may be deemed necessary. With a quarantine system in this country that could hardly be better, and similar vigilance in Canada, it has been possible to keep cholera out of this country at a time when it was raging in so many parts of Europe, and there is reason to hope that the same promptitude in action will prevent its ever getting to this side of the Atlantic again, further than on ships-board. There is nothing new in the minds of the international meeting at Montreal, but the announcement of Canada's vigilance gives us all a very comfortable confidence in the health authorities of both countries."

MORE MEN NEEDED.
The Philadelphia Record in speaking of the United States Navy and its insufficient number of marines says: "A navy of ships without men is equally as absurd and useless as would be a city of bricks without citizens. Uncle Sam is attempting, however, to build up a great navy out of steel walls minus American blue-jackets and marines. The queen of our fleet, the peerless cruiser Minnesota, lies idle in her cradle at the Cramps' shipyard for want of a crew. Half of our great men-of-war are rusting in our navy yards. Congress turned a deaf ear to Secretary Herbert's fervent prayer for an increase of 2,000 men in the enlisted force, not only in the face of the present distressful condition, but in deliberate view of the fact that seventeen new vessels will be added to the navy within the next two years. It is a costly economy that expends over $2,000,000 on a cruiser such as the Minnesota and then leaves her to lie around and rot like old lumber. Ships of iron do not constitute a navy, but hearts of iron; and they alone are the bulwarks of Liberty."

There is no medicine so often needed in every home and so admirably Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in which incurs a cure in about one-third of the time otherwise required. Cuts bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when Pain Balm is kept at hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious. A troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two. A lame back may be cured and several days of valuable time saved or a pain in the side or chest relieved without paying a doctor bill. Procure a 50 cent bottle at once and you will never regret it for sale by C. E. Belcher's City Drug Store.

Four Big Successes.
Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four medicines have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery, for consumption, Coughs and Colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for Liver, Stomach and Kidney. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at Dr. Belcher's City Drug Store.

Notice of Purchase.
Notice is hereby given that I have this day purchased the household goods, kitchen utensils, hay in mow, straw in mow, and one pair of sleds and all personal property whatsoever of George Soudley of Chesterfield township. That I will leave the same goods and chattels on the premises subject to my order and control, and hereby notify all persons not to disturb or in any manner interfere or meddle with the same.—4612 MARY A. SOULEY, September 22, 1894.

FARMING NOTES

Of Interest to the Farmer who Reads the Patton "Courier."
If the manager is kept stuffed with hay the horses are liable to take the heaves.

It is not too late to continue hoeing late cabbage. Scatter corn meal on the heads of cabbage as a partial protection against the cabbage-worms.

Flax is put on more rapidly in warm weather and while the grass lasts than after cold weather comes. Begin feeding and fattening your stock early.

It will pay to make deep furrows in the wheat field with the plow, if the land is somewhat flat, in order to drain off the surplus water and avoid liability of the plants being thrown up by frost.

When an animal becomes choked while eating potatoes, turnips, etc., it is stated that by holding up its head and breaking an egg in its mouth relief is obtained immediately, according to one who has tried the experiment.

Next spring's lambs will be what the farmer may make them. If the ewes are kept in good condition, and not too fat, with warm, dry quarters, and not crowded, they should not fail to produce strong and vigorous lambs.

It would seem that these broad acres of Uncle Sam's dominion should be equal to the demand our millions make for things to eat, but there is still imported a large portion of our supply of potatoes, beans, eggs, cheese, seed bulbs, etc. This our own soil.

Beehives should be kept in a dry place and where the temperature will be even. Cold does not kill bees as quick as will dampness. They create a large proportion of animal heat in the hive, and should not be in a location that is too warm.

Sheep will eat nearly all kinds of young and tender herbage, and they graze very close to the ground. They prefer a variety of food while on the pasture, and will not confine themselves to a single diet. When kept in the barnyard in winter they should be given a variety also as much as possible for the season.

During the last five months of 1894 the United States shipped to Great Britain 164,000 live cattle and 750,000 cwts. of dressed beef, a large increase over the same period of 1893. The cattle aggregated probably $15,000,000 in value and the dressed beef $7,500,000. The sheep exportation reached $5,500 for the same time, valued at about $600,000.

The great amount of wheat that may be used for feeding is sufficient to materially reduce the quantity grown. We have according to the census report, 18,500,000 horses and mules, 42,000,000 hogs, 24,600,000 cattle, and 16,500,000 milch cows, not including sheep. The amount consumed in a year, even allowing for the use of corn also, would create a demand at home nearly equal to that which we export.

The proper temperature for churning depends upon circumstance. Experiments demonstrate that for churning ripened cream the warmer the cream to 70 degrees the sooner the butter comes, but the softer the butter. The lower the temperature, though it will require a longer time, the firmer the butter. From 50 to 60 degrees in summer is nearly correct, though each churner must determine for himself, as the temperature of the churn and of the atmosphere must be considered. The temperature in the churn rises after churning begins owing to friction.

A sheep is an animal that is easily overfed, and one if overfed requires a longer time to recover from the effects than almost any other animal. There is no class of stock that is more injurious to leave feed before. In all feeding, whether for growth or to fatten, only such a quantity as they will readily eat up clean should be given. More than this is positively injurious. In fattening, in nearly all cases the better plan is to gradually increase the grain ration, and not put on a full fattening food too rapidly.
