The Little Schoolma'am.
Speak of the queen and empress,
Or of their ladies rival;
Not one of them has half the power
Or subjects half so loyal.
As she, the little schoolma'am
Who trips along the way
To take the chair she makes a throne
At nine o'clock each day.
Her rule is ever gentle,
Her tones are low and sweet;
She is very trim and tidy,
From her head unto her feet,
And it matters very little
If her eyes be brown or blue;
They simply read your inmost heart
Whenever she looks at you.
The children bring her presents,
Red apples, flowers, daisies,
For all the merry girls and boys
This queen of theirs adore.
The darling little schoolma'am,
Who reigns without a peer,
In a hundred thousand classrooms
This gaily flying year.
MARGARET E. HANOVER.

Forney, founder of the Philadelphia Press, was found dead in her cell in the Kansas City jail Tuesday morning. She was a slave to morphine and opium and had committed a number of thefts to obtain the drugs. She was arrested for drunkenness.

A Queer Present.
One of Patton's prominent young men, (the name of whom will not be mentioned in this issue) received on Tuesday a chestnut filled with worms. Some people would naturally think it was rather a suggestive "Christmas present" (?) What do you think? Pretty nearly time to draw the line.

What the Great House of Cook Salmond & Cowden are Doing.

That great firm of Cook, Salmond & Cowden, of Altoona, in preparing for the Holiday trade, it would seem that nothing that can fill with joy a Child's heart has been forgotten, and we wish it were possible that every young heart in this place and in all the world could be made as happy by receiving what it most covets on Christmas morning. They are doing all that one House can do towards this laudable object, supplying the means for the lowest possible expenditure, as their entire stock of Toys is marked as low as they can be handled as well as all other Holiday goods. It would pay you to go a long distance to see their house, it is decorated so beautifully.

Teachers' Institute.
Program of Teachers' Institute to be held in Beltsano, Saturday, December 15, 1894: How to hold the attention of the pupil, J. P. Orner; How to keep good order, Weston Edwards; Essay, Miss Ina Nipp; Writing, C. H. Thompson; To what extent would you prohibit whispering? Mary Shaffer; Recitation, Miss Anna Gibson; Should we have a longer school term? T. L. Edwards; How should a teacher's salary be determined? A. W. Rowland and T. M. Reese.

An Oversight.
In the article in last week's issue of the COURIER in regard to the Beech Creek passenger train running to Patton a mistake was made in the title of H. S. Herriman's name. Instead of saying "assistant general passenger agent," it should have been "general passenger agent." Credit was also largely due to Hon. James Kerr, who took an active part in endeavoring to have the train extended to this place.

Officers Elected.
Below will be found the officers elected for the ensuing year in the Clearfield lodge of Free Masons, No. 314: Worshipful Master, J. E. Harder; senior warden, W. L. McJunkin; junior warden, B. F. Chase; secretary, L. K. McCullough; treasurer, D. W. McCurdy; representative, John Jannic; trustees: A. O. Smith, E. L. McCloskey, B. F. Chase.

Be on Hand.
All members of the Commercial club are earnestly requested to be present at a meeting in their rooms in the Good building on Friday evening at 8 o'clock sharp. Business of much importance will be transacted.

Church Notice.

To Correspondents.
Owing to the crowded condition of the COURIER caused by holiday advertisements the following communications were laid over till next week's issue: St. Augustine, Chest Springs, Dysart and Hastings. All correspondents are requested to mail their communications one day earlier.

Heavy Forkers.
One day last week Wm. Little, who resides at Chest Springs, killed two hogs, aged only eight months, which weighed 251 pounds apiece. This is an extraordinary weight for hogs at that age. The porkers gained in weight on an average of about one pound per day apiece.

Stray Notice.
Came to my premises in Clearfield township, Cambria county, Pa., during the month of August, a white buck lamb. It has right ear cut off and a slit in left ear. MARY THOMAS, Patton, Pa., Dec. 10, 1894.—55-4f
