EVERYBODY HOPEFUL.

A few days ago a prominent merchant of this section returned from a trip to New York and says that the commercial men there are feeling better than they have for many months. It is generally reported by the newspapers that a gradual recovery from the business torpor of the last two years has commenced, and although there is no direct indication of it yet in Patton it may be accepted as true. When the hard times were felt in the great commercial centers first, and it was months after the slump in New York when it commenced to pinch right hard here, and it is reasonable to expect the recovery, whatever it amounts to, will be quite tardy. This hopeful feeling has become general all over the country. It is not more prominent in the large cities of the East than it is in the West. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, in an editorial review of this week, used in the first paragraph the following encouraging words: "The trade revival which began to manifest itself two or three weeks ago became more marked as time passed. On the stock market the improvement is particularly noticeable. Not only is the volume of sales larger than they were early in this month, but the prices are higher. This is true of nearly all the solid stock. Even railway earnings have already begun to feel the improved conditions. In the latest issue of the New York 'Financial Chronicle' there is a review of the January statement of railroad gross and net earnings, in which that paper finds there is an increase in both items, for the first time in nineteen months, with the exception of last August. It is believed that February's severe weather will make the showing for that month less favorable. The indications, though, are that the March exhibit will be decidedly encouraging."

BARRING OF BLOOMERS.

The woman in bloomers has collided with the police away off in British Columbia. She was riding a bicycle at the time. It was the first pair of bloomers which had broken upon the view of the citizens of Victoria, and the town turned out to see Miss Ethel Delmont go by arrayed in her new garments. When Miss Ethel returned home, after a refreshing spin on her wheel, she found a policeman there with the warning that if she appeared again in public clothed in bloomers she would be summoned to the police court, and required to answer to a charge of creating a disturbance on the public streets. This seems like a queer charge, but it shows as if the police of Victoria think that bloomers are loud. The outcome of the authorities' antipathy to balloon trousers remains to be seen. The Woman's Council is thinking about taking up the matter and making a test case of it being of the firm conviction that woman's right to wear bloomers must not be abridged.

L'Art de la Mode.

The current number of L'Art de la Mode fully upholds the reputation established by the publishers as leaders in original and authentic styles. There are many fashion journals in this country, but L'Art de la Mode claims to be the only fashion journal which imports and publishes exclusive French styles. They further claim that these styles are absolutely original in every respect and have never previously appeared in any other journal. A glance through its artistic pages is convincing that L'Art de la Mode is the brightest and most attractive up-to-date fashion journal published in America. For sale by all newsdealers. Single numbers 35 cents. $3.50 per year.

FARMING NOTES.

Of Interest to the Farmers Who Read the Patton "Courier."

Milking machines continue to be patented, but none of them appear to have come into general use.

Every farmer should have a hive of bees, not only for the honey, but in order to complete the fertilization of blossoms, the bees being agents for that purpose.

The supposition that an orchard will thrive with small application of fertilizers has deprived farmers of yields which would have been possible with a larger amount of plant food. What is most desirable in orchard is potash, and it will not be extravagant to apply as much as 1000 pounds per acre.

Corn is crop that entails a large amount of work, and especially when the farmer is busy. A corn harvester is now one of the implements used in the West. It cuts down the stalks and bundles them, ready for shocking, the same as with wheat.

Wood ashes is a fertilizer particularly adapted to dry weather. In dry seasons no fertilizer produces better results on strawberries and potatoes. As we can not forecast the season, it is a satisfaction to know that they have no bad effect should the season be wet. This is one of the things which can be used on almost any crop, on any land at any time.

Poultry manure is usually kept dry mixed with earth, but it will be more serviceable if kept moist (not wet), and collected daily. It may be mixed with peck of kainit to five bushels of the mixture. The hard lumps in the dry dropping are due to silicates, which form when it is kept a long while in a dry condition.

The May number of Toilettes, that favorite fashion magazine, has just come to hand. Its outward appearance alone would compensate the purchaser for his, or we should say her, outlay. For here are depicted, besides a charming spring costume by Doucet, some of the most fragrant flowers of May (apple blossoms) in sweet profusion, giving welcome promise of the summer dawn, and of our early release from winter's grim dominion. The inside pages, too, which were again lately increased to 36, show a delightful variety of early summer styles, all arranged in artistic groups, and minutely described in a few words as to combinations colors and material. Every inch of available space seems to be used to the best advantage, with the one great object in view of giving the largest possible variety of brand new designs, consistent with the most artistic make-up and finish. Price 30 cents, at all newsdealers.

"The Only" for 1906.

The COURIER is pleased to announce its clubbing arrangements with The Pittsburg Post, the great home newspaper of Pennsylvania, and to persons who want the best daily or semi-weekly paper published in the city, we recommend The Post.
