HIGHER EDUCATION FOR WOMEN.
The following in regard to the education of women in Catholic Universities is taken from the New York World:
"The action of the Catholic University at Washington in opening its doors to women is likely to puzzle those who have looked upon it as the most conservative of all conservative educational institutions.
"Whatever the immediate cause it is hardly doubtful that the action of the university is in harmony with the spirit of modern Americanism, and is attributable to the increasing desire of all educated Americans to give women the highest education of which she is capable.
"It has been said that the question of higher education for women was settled when the first woman learned the alphabet. Indeed everything after that was merely a question of time. And in the United States the time has come when fathers no longer discriminate among their children on account of sex, but are anxious that both their daughters and their sons shall be as well educated and intelligent as possible."

AN UNSATISFACTORY RACE.
The international series of yacht races for the America's cup has been a disappointment. It is true the cup remains on this side of the Atlantic, but it is not at all satisfactory to keep it here under the circumstances. The first race was won by the Defender beyond cavil, and it gave promise to an interesting series, with great hopes of keeping the trophy. The second run was marred by an incident which permitted the Valkyrie to cross the line first, but which justified the Defender in protesting and the yacht committee in awarding the race to the Yankee boat. It would have been much more satisfactory if a recall had been arranged. The third event was a distinct disappointment. The Valkyrie simply refused to run, on account of alleged obstructions, and the Defender went over the course alone. It is a great pity that such a clear course as Lord Dunraven asked for should not have been given him, but it must be remembered that the Defender had precisely the same difficulty to contend with if there was a difficulty such as the visitor complained of.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.
A cure for consumption has been reported to the State Department by United States Consul Chancellor at Havre. He says the cure was first brought to the attention of the world at a congress of physicians and scientists at Bordeaux to consider the question of combating consumption by vaccination. Professor Marigliano, an Italian savant, read a paper which attracted much attention, claiming to have discovered an efficacious process for the treatment of consumption by the injection of tubercular serum, which he says renders the subjects of this most formidable disease immune. The consul recalls the comparative failures of other attempts to treat consumptives successfully, and says this particular process is still in the experimental stage.

WANAMAKER ON GOOD ADVERTISING.
"I do the heaviest advertising in dull times," says John Wanamaker, in writing on that subject. "Then it is when people look most keenly for bargains, and are anxious to know how much things cost, and when they can save money. I advertise particular things, give prices and take as much pains with my announcement as I do with my stock. One big dinner won't keep up the reputation of the house—but steady, good cooking does it. I never permit interest in my announcement to lag, and never miss an issue in my chosen publications. Advertising has made my store one of the largest in the country."

AUSTRALIAN TIN.
The stanniferous tin-bearing area in New South Wales is estimated at 5,500,000 acres or 8,500 square miles. Up to the present, most of the tin has been obtained in the New England district. The value of the tin and tin ore raised in the colony and exported, from the beginning of 1875 to the end of 1894, was $51,289,250.

EBENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 17, 1895.
The jury commissioners were in town today filling the jury wheel and drawing the list of jurors for the December term of court.

E. P. Baker, one of Susquehanna township's prominent citizens, was in attendance at court last week as a juror.
G. N. Schnell and H. Milton Neff, of Hastings, drove to Ebensburg on Thursday.
Bernard Wills, one of Loretto's prominent young men, spent a few hours in town Monday.
Henry McNulty, of Barnesboro, was in town yesterday attending to some business affairs.
Porter Kimports, one of Cherry-tree's influential citizens, spent Monday night in Ebensburg.
David Costlow, of the firm of Costlow & Hite, liquor dealers of Johnstown, shook hands with his many friends here on Friday.

W. A. Bard, of Loretto, accompanied by his mother, visited Ebensburg and took in the show on Wednesday.
Miss Edna Jones, of Greensburg, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jones, who are sojourning in Ebensburg for the benefit of Mr. Jones' health, for the past few days, left today for Johnstown where she will be the guest of Miss Quinn.
Messrs. Chas. Hibbs, Chas. Noel, Chas. Roshner and J. L. Lee, of Irwona, rode their wheels from that place on Sunday morning and were in Ebensburg for breakfast and about 9 o'clock started for Johnstown where they spent a few hours and then returned and passed through town on their way to Patton.

Wednesday was gala day in Ebensburg. Washburn's circus was here with the elephants, lions, tigers, etc., and gave two very good exhibitions, one in the afternoon and one in the evening, both of which were very well attended and everybody was pleased.

FARMING NOTES.
Of Interest to the Farmers Who Read the Patton "Courier."
Potatoes should be cooked for swine; for fattening cattle they can be fed raw or cooked when given with hay, meal or other substances. Wash them for cows in milk, and feed about 25 pounds a day. They are not good for very young cattle or lambs.
The Hubbard squash may be stored away in the same manner as the pumpkin, which it greatly resembles. It is one of the most serviceable and esteemed of all the varieties of squash, and will keep through the entire winter.
It is not true that one-half the farmers feed and care for their stock in such a way as to make themselves poor in a few years? One can hardly think they are trying stock raising for profit, and it is not possible for such to keep long out of debt. Let the follies we see be our lessons.
The orchard is an excellent location for a poultry house, as the hens have a range, and in the summer they can resort to the trees for shade. Fruit growers who use hens in the orchards state that the trees are protected from insects, and that the fowls destroy large numbers of them.
Some farmers object to animals that are heavy consumers of food, preferring the light feeders. A good appetite indicates health and thrift, and as the greatest increase is secured when animals are capable of consuming large quantities of food no objection should be urged against them. Something cannot be had for nothing, and the best animals are those that have good appetites, and are of breeds that are capable of giving corresponding results from the food they consumed.

Queer Egg Problem.
Some mighty intellects in Germantown says the Philadelphia Record, are now wrestling the following problem. It is not very difficult of solution, but has already been the cause of considerable profanity these warm days out in that peaceful suburb: A woman took a basket of eggs to the city for sale. Upon being asked how many she had she replied: If I take the eggs out of the basket two at a time, I have one left. If I take them out three at a time I have one left. If I take them out six at a time I have one left; but if I take them out seven at a time I have none left." How many eggs had she in the basket?

Children, especially infants, are soon run down with cholera infantum or "summer complaint." Don't wait to determine, but give DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Cure promptly, you can rely on it. Use no other. C. W. Hodgkins.

The Editor Meant Well.
A Western Alabama editor was writing up a local theatrical entertainment recently, and he wanted to be particularly nice about it, so he mentioned the names of several young ladies of the town, and wrote, "they all filled their parts to perfection." Then he went home. When the paper appeared it was found that the printer had put an "n" in the place of an "r" in the word "parts."—Atlanta Constitution.
