

QUAY WOULDN'T HAVE IT.

Has no Designs on the Presidential Nomination.

AN INTERVIEW WITH THE SENATOR.

His Only Ambition is to Enjoy Life After His Duties are Completed.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.—Recently stories have been set afloat mainly from Washington, connecting Quay's name with the Republican nomination for president. Quay was asked to day about the reported combine to nominate him and he replied: "I wouldn't take it on a gold plecter."

When questioned for his reasons he replied: "Well, for two reasons. The first is that I am not fit for it, and the second is that I would not live thirty days in the office. My only ambition is to take a rest and enjoy life after I complete my duties."

"Does this mean that you will not seek a re-election to the senatorship?" "That," answered he, "depends on circumstances."

In reply to queries as to a current story to the effect that he would be in the next cabinet, the senator said: "There is not a word of truth in it."

Allen G. Thurman Dead.

The "old Roman" Passed Peacefully to Rest Yesterday Afternoon.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 12.—Ex-Senator Allen G. Thurman died this afternoon.

He had been in fairly good health for one of his age, since his recovery from injuries received in falling a month ago, and yesterday morning he was sitting up reading when he suddenly became ill and a physician was called. He soon became unconscious and never recovered his senses.

Death was the result of a gradual wearing out of the heart, said his physician, and the end was the collapse which speedily resulted in his death.

Engineer Fatally Injured.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.—While a freight was being shifted in the yard of the Pennsylvania railroad at 53th street to-night, the caboose jumped the track. An express which leaped here at 10:27 for Pittsburgh was speeding by at the moment, and the engine struck the caboose.

The engine of the express was completely wrecked and John Shenberg, of Philadelphia, engineer, was so badly injured that he died shortly after being taken to the hospital. The tracks were blocked by the wreck and the express was delayed several hours. No passengers were injured.

Wrecked Quakers.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.—The testimony given before the senatorial investigating committee this afternoon shows that the social evil flourishes in Philadelphia to an appalling extent, and that, too seemingly, through the indifference if not also with the actual connivance of the police. It was sworn to before the committee that in thirteen police districts comprising the heart of the city, there were 623 houses of ill-fame, and of these enormous number 280 are in one district.

State Convention April 23.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.—At a meeting of the executive committee of Republican state committee held here this evening, it was decided to hold the State convention at Harrisburg, April 23, 1896, for the purpose of nominating two candidates for representative-at-large in congress, 32 candidates for presidential elector, selection of eight delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention and for the transaction of routine business.

State Grange Session.

WILLIAMSPORT, Dec. 12.—The convention of the State Grange Patrons of Husbandry, occupied the day in discussing of resolution and hearing of reports. The report of the treasurer showed that the expenditures of the organization are less now than at any previous time. A feature of the day was an address by Hon. David Labin, of California, who spoke in favor of a bounty on agricultural products. This evening the convention held a late session behind closed doors.

Princes of Wales Injured.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—The Princes of Wales met with an accident that for a time caused much concern to those who were aware of the affair, but the injury turns out to be trifling.

The Prince was shooting on Sir Edward Lawson's estate in Buckinghamshire, when he got some grains of powder in his right eye. The eye is now assuming its normal condition.

Railroad Poolers in Session.

NEW YORK, December 12.—The trunk line presidents are in session in the New York Central building for the purpose of organizing the board of control of the recently formed Joint Traffic association, and also to select the arbitrators under the terms of the new agreement. The board of control will probably fix the salary of the arbitrators at $15,000.

Gomperz Elected over Mettride.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The American Federation of Labor yesterday elected Samuel Gomperz president over the present incumbent, John McBride, by the very close vote of 2,064. One thing of special interest was the fact that the socialists voted for the defeated candidate.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE.

National Convention City Will be Selected January 16th.

OUTSIDERS MAY NOT BE ADMITTED.

Proposition to Provide Accommodations Only for Persons Actively Engaged in the Cause.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13.—Chairman Harty has issued a call for a meeting of the Democratic national committee, to be held at Washington, January 16, 1896, for the purpose of fixing the time and place for the meeting of the Democratic national convention in 1896, and for the transaction of other business. The resolution offered by Gen. Collins, of Massachusetts, in the Democratic national convention of 1892, requesting the Democratic national committee to provide accommodations only for delegates, alternates, members of Democratic national committee and members of the press, will be acted upon.

State Finances.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13.—At the State treasury a summary of receipts and payments for the fiscal year ending November 30th has just been completed. Total receipts were $11,746,411.10 as against $12,322,784.57 last year. There was transferred to the sinking fund $390,371.50, leaving $11,356,039.60 for general expenses of the commonwealth.

Charged by the Jury.

WELLSBORO, Pa., Dec. 13.—Mrs. Chas. H. Howell is a free woman, the jury having rendered a verdict this evening of "not guilty," and therefore she was great applause in the court room. The prisoner was immediately discharged from custody. She was charged with poisoning Miss Lizzie Kapp, a friend.

Ambrose's Successor.

AGTOWA, Dec. 13.—To-night Geo. B. Bowers, Esq., was elected city solicitor pro tem, in place of W. A. Ambrose, who has been missing since November 27.

Men were taken to secure some $700 city money left by Ambrose in one of the city banks. The examination of his books has not been concluded.

A Double Tragedy.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13.—Max G. Goldwicz lay shot his wife and then killed himself. The woman's recovery is doubtful. The shooting was the result of the recent quarrel.

John A. Goldsmith Dead.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—John A. Goldsmith, the famous horseman, died this afternoon.

BIG STRIKE COMING.

All the Street Railway Systems of Philadelphia May be Ined in This Evening.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—Unless the unexpected happens to-morrow evening will witness the inauguration of the greatest street railway strike Philadelphia has ever had. If the strike should take place it will practically tie up the railway transportation system of Philadelphia. The employees of the major traction company numbers about 7,600 men and of this number it is claimed that 4,100 belong to the Amalgamated association of street railway employees and it is further claimed that if strike is ordered 90 per cent of the motormen and conductors will go out.

The decision to strike was practically agreed upon at a meeting to-day.

President Cleveland at Home.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The president and his relatives returned to Washington today at 2:30 p. m. on the light-blue tender Violet. The party killed 53 ducks, 42 partridges, five geese and four brant.

One member of the party said that no alarm need have been felt for the safety of the president during the term of the storm, that raged at Hatteras. The Violet was well sheltered during the day in the capacious and everybody had a good time. The trip from Norfolk to Washington was without incident.

Drunk Poison in a Mistake.

GETTYSBURG, Dec. 15.—Ex-Congressman and Ex-Chief of the House of Representatives Edward McPherson, died yesterday from the effects of poison taken in mistake for other medicine. He was accustomed to take a tonic under a physician's certificate and accidentally got a bottle containing tincture of nuxvomica.

He instantly discovered his mistake and medical aid was summoned at once but all efforts were unavailing. A wife and five children survive him. He was 65 years old.

The Burial of Thurman.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15.—The funeral services of the late Judge Allen G. Thurman were conducted at the family residence at 10:30 Saturday morning by Rev. J. L. Glover, who has for years been a most intimate friend of the deceased. After the services the Thurman club called in a body to pay their last respects to the "old Roman." The house was open for two hours to friends and neighbors.

Cashier Mail Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—Robert E. Mail, recently elected cashier of the First National bank, of this place, and closely identified with the banking business of the community for the past twenty years, died Saturday.

Old Time Postage Rates.

In 1813 postage rates in the United States were: Single letters by land, 40 miles, 8 cents; 90 miles, 10 cents; 150 miles, 12 1/2 cents; 300 miles, 17 cents; 500 miles, 20 cents; over 500 miles, 25 cents. Double letters, twice the single rates, one ounce at the rate of four single letters.

A Chicago morning paper says a secret political order, founded by William H. Harvey, the author of "Coin's Financial School," will file articles of incorporation with the secretary of state at Springfield, Ill., within the next few days. It is to be known as the "Patriots of America," and its sole object is the restoration of the bimetallic standard.

Charters, it is said, have been made out and will be sent immediately to at least 1,000 lodges in various parts of the United States. The immediate purpose of the order, as voiced by its founder, is to take such steps as will compel recognition of the claims of the bimetallicists from the representatives of the Democratic or Republican parties, or both, when they assemble in national convention next summer.

Since September a persistent and thorough canvass of every county in the United States has been in progress, and thousands of letters were sent out to the sympathetic leaders of all parties from Harvey's office in the Park Department building. Thousands of replies came in from every state.

Two Maine hunters went into Mr. Ames' restaurant and asked for "a dozen on the half, quick?" Two ordinary oysters were opened. In the third lay a pearl, a small, knife struck something. When the shells fell open a most extraordinary pearl was disclosed. It was a startlingly lifelike reproduction of a human head. There were the partly bald head, deep set eyes, long straight nose and thin lips disclosing beautiful ridges like teeth, and a pointed beard of Italian, Spanish or European of high degree. The hunters said it looked very much like the death mask of Columbus. Mr. Ames agreed with them.

The pearl protrudes about half an inch from the surface of the shell, to which it is firmly attached at the back of the neck. It is surrounded by a circular band of muscle which looks very much like one of the styles of ruffled collars worn by the noblemen of the middle ages.

A new crank line made his appearance in New York in the person of Antonio Vulp, an Italian, 18 years old. He is what may be called a "millionaire" in his own mind, as he claims to be worth $1,000,000. He is a dry goods store window.

He lodged in and out among the women so often that the policeman thought he was a pickpocket. He watched him closely, hoping to catch him in the act. He finally noticed that he only brushed against the woman who wore large buttons on their coats. To his surprise he saw that all of those women had lost at least one button. Presently he caught the young Italian in the act of pulling one of the buttons from a woman's coat and arrested him.

On the way to the station house the prisoner threw a handful of large buttons into the street. When he was searched at the station, 40 other buttons were found in his pockets.

Heerker Martens' Acquisition Has a Coat Like Astrakhan.

Clarence G. Martens, a broker who has a stock farm near Mount Vernon, N. Y., has just bought a horse which has all the appearance of a huge black sheep. He is about 15 1/2 hands high and his hide is covered with a woolly coat black and as soft as silk. When Mr. Martens drove him through the streets of Mount Vernon recently, he attracted crowds of curious people.

"He is an inland Welsh colt," said Mr. Martens, "and is 4 years old. I have never owned him, but the man from whom I bought him assured me that he can trot in 2:30. He was bred in California and is by Noble Wilkes, dam Rosanna Wilkes, by Guy Wilkes."

The horse's coat looks exactly like a piece of astrakhan wool. Mr. Martens says that he will wear it next spring.

Proposed Permanent Negro Exhibition.

A movement has been started at Washington by some colored people, having for its object the establishment in that city of a permanent negro exhibition. Their plan is to get congress to take the matter in hand and establish the exhibition with the necessary appropriation, and they will ask that the affair be kept under the control of the government. The Exposition association of Atlanta is to be asked to allow the removal after their fair closes of the negro exhibit, which has attracted so much interest there. This, if accepted, is to form the nucleus of the permanent exhibition.

To Tax Land for Veterans.

A bill will be introduced in the Virginia legislature imposing a specific tax on oleumargarine and compound lards for the benefit of disabled Confederate veterans. It is calculated that $50,000 per year will be realized by it.

"COIN" FOUNDING AN ORDER.

The Patriots of America, a Secret Organization, to Further Bimetallism.

A Chicago morning paper says a secret political order, founded by William H. Harvey, the author of "Coin's Financial School," will file articles of incorporation with the secretary of state at Springfield, Ill., within the next few days. It is to be known as the "Patriots of America," and its sole object is the restoration of the bimetallic standard.

Charters, it is said, have been made out and will be sent immediately to at least 1,000 lodges in various parts of the United States.

WILLIAM H. HARVEY.

the United States. The immediate purpose of the order, as voiced by its founder, is to take such steps as will compel recognition of the claims of the bimetallicists from the representatives of the Democratic or Republican parties, or both, when they assemble in national convention next summer.

Since September a persistent and thorough canvass of every county in the United States has been in progress, and thousands of letters were sent out to the sympathetic leaders of all parties from Harvey's office in the Park Department building. Thousands of replies came in from every state.

HE HAS AN IRON SKIN.

Feet Case of Patrick Wood, a Painter in New York.

In the Hospital for Incurables on Blackwell's island, New York, Patrick Wood is suffering from an odd hardening of the skin. The medical term for it is scleroderma. The doctors say he is to all intents and purposes as firmly imbedded as though he wore a suit of mail. He is 45 years of age, and his skin has been solidifying for the past two years. He was a painter. When he tried to twist his neck, his skin felt positively brittle.

His malady grew so rapidly that he had to give up his trade. Deprived of making a livelihood, he was forced into the almshouse. The doctors decided that massage treatment should be given. Four strong-armed men rubbed the hapless Wood for hours, but the skin grew harder under their manipulation.

Dr. D. Le Roy Oliver had him removed to the hospital. There he was given thyroid extract, two grains at a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

HIS NEWEST PERFECTION.

How One Smartest Man on Earth Turned a Nail Question.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

There may be some question, perhaps of Imperator William's success in locking distinction between his subjects, as a time until he now takes 108 grains a day. Under this treatment he has shown signs of improvement. He is also troubled with partial paralysis, brought on by his system absorbing oxide of lead employed in paint. Wood is of a cheerful disposition.

A RIVAL TO VOLAPUK.

Esperanto Is the Name of a New Universal Language.

Esperanto is not the name of a new liquor or of a new appetizer, nor that of a popular comic song, but it is the name of an artificial language which is fast gaining adherents in France, and that is already able to boast of many followers in Russia, Germany, England, Norway, Sweden, Italy, Spain, the United States and even in some parts of Africa.

Among those most proficient in the language is a Frenchman, bearing the aristocratic name of D'Eysaquier. He says that Esperanto is by no means a new language, nor even a recent discovery. This international language has been in existence nearly ten years, and there are at least 10,000 adherents in different parts of the world.

The author or originator of Esperanto is a Russian gentleman, Dr. Zamenhof of Warsaw. He calls it a universal language. He says that one may learn his grammar in an hour and all his vocabulary of words in a few days.

Max Muller writes it with the greatest ease, and so does Tolstoy, who is one of the leading contributors to the official organ of the language, The Esperantist, which, by the way, is strictly opposed to the Volapuk organ, for it has literary tendencies.

The fact is, Esperanto hopes to dethrone Volapuk altogether. Verses may be written in it, and translations of the "Iliad" and "Hamlet" have been published. This new language, which means "person who hopes," is perhaps better known in Russia than in any other country. Russia is its birthplace.—New York World.

A REMARKABLE PEARL.

Taken From an Oyster and Looks Like a Picture of Columbus.

A most peculiarly shaped pearl of great size and value was found by Charles N. Ames while opening oysters in his cave at Pittsfield, Me., the other day. The oyster containing the pearl was raised and gathered in Narragansett bay at the mouth of the Providence river.

Two Maine hunters went into Mr. Ames' restaurant and asked for "a dozen on the half, quick?" Two ordinary oysters were opened. In the third lay a pearl, a small, knife struck something. When the shells fell open a most extraordinary pearl was disclosed. It was a startlingly lifelike reproduction of a human head.

There were the partly bald head, deep set eyes, long straight nose and thin lips disclosing beautiful ridges like teeth, and a pointed beard of Italian, Spanish or European of high degree. The hunters said it looked very much like the death mask of Columbus. Mr. Ames agreed with them.

The pearl protrudes about half an inch from the surface of the shell, to which it is firmly attached at the back of the neck. It is surrounded by a circular band of muscle which looks very much like one of the styles of ruffled collars worn by the noblemen of the middle ages.

NEW SORT OF CRANK.

He Seems to Find Satisfaction in Searching Out Buttons.

A new crank line made his appearance in New York in the person of Antonio Vulp, an Italian, 18 years old. He is what may be called a "millionaire" in his own mind, as he claims to be worth $1,000,000. He is a dry goods store window.

He lodged in and out among the women so often that the policeman thought he was a pickpocket. He watched him closely, hoping to catch him in the act. He finally noticed that he only brushed against the woman who wore large buttons on their coats. To his surprise he saw that all of those women had lost at least one button. Presently he caught the young Italian in the act of pulling one of the buttons from a woman's coat and arrested him.

On the way to the station house the prisoner threw a handful of large buttons into the street. When he was searched at the station, 40 other buttons were found in his pockets.

THIS HORSE WEARS WOOL.

Heerker Martens' Acquisition Has a Coat Like Astrakhan.

Clarence G. Martens, a broker who has a stock farm near Mount Vernon, N. Y., has just bought a horse which has all the appearance of a huge black sheep. He is about 15 1/2 hands high and his hide is covered with a woolly coat black and as soft as silk. When Mr. Martens drove him through the streets of Mount Vernon recently, he attracted crowds of curious people.

"He is an inland Welsh colt," said Mr. Martens, "and is 4 years old. I have never owned him, but the man from whom I bought him assured me that he can trot in 2:30. He was bred in California and is by Noble Wilkes, dam Rosanna Wilkes, by Guy Wilkes."

The horse's coat looks exactly like a piece of astrakhan wool. Mr. Martens says that he will wear it next spring.

Proposed Permanent Negro Exhibition.

A movement has been started at Washington by some colored people, having for its object the establishment in that city of a permanent negro exhibition. Their plan is to get congress to take the matter in hand and establish the exhibition with the necessary appropriation, and they will ask that the affair be kept under the control of the government. The Exposition association of Atlanta is to be asked to allow the removal after their fair closes of the negro exhibit, which has attracted so much interest there. This, if accepted, is to form the nucleus of the permanent exhibition.

To Tax Land for Veterans.

A bill will be introduced in the Virginia legislature imposing a specific tax on oleumargarine and compound lards for the benefit of disabled Confederate veterans. It is calculated that $50,000 per year will be realized by it.

It Will Be Somebody's Waterloo.

Among the strange coincidences of history none is stranger than that now presented in Maryland, where a man named Bonaparte is fighting for the senatorship against a man named Wellington. And it looks as if Waterloo were going to be avenged.

PHILADELPHIA AND CLEARFIELD R. R.

DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY.

STATIONS	PHILADELPHIA	CLEARFIELD
PHILADELPHIA	7:15 a.m.	7:15 a.m.
Idled Run	7:30	7:30
Mills Haven	7:45	7:45
Croyland	8:00	8:00
Shoalsville	8:15	8:15
Blue Hook	8:30	8:30
Vineyard Run	8:45	8:45
Carrier	9:00	9:00
Brookville	9:15	9:15
McMinn Summit	9:30	9:30
Harveys Run	9:45	9:45
Falls Creek	10:00	10:00
Dubois	10:15	10:15

TRAINS LEAVE RIDGWAY.

Eastward Westward

Train 4, 1:15 a.m. Train 1, 1:15 a.m.

Train 4, 7:50 p.m. Train 1, 7:50 p.m.

J. R. WOOD, Manager. (Gen'l Agt. Pass.)

A LEBGHENY VALLEY RAILWAY.

LOW GRADE DIVISION.

On and after Sunday July 29, 1896, trains between Driftwood and Pittsburg will run as follows: