SOME RESULTS OF ROMANCES IN THE SHOW BUSINESS.

The First Real Living Skeleton, His Wife and Their Three Skin and Bone Sons. An Old Museum and Side Show Manager Tells His Memory Tale.

According to Manager T. E. Sackett of the Bijou theater, Isaac W. Sprague was the first unnaturally or abnormally thin skin and bone man to be exhibited to the public under the title of a "living skeleton." It was during the palmy days of Barnum's Greatest Show on Earth, and while that celebrated showman was raking the contents in search of curiosities in 1864. Incidentally Mr. Sackett was in those days with Tony Pastor, who was acting as doorman, manager and all around man for Pastor. He had previously been out with Millie Christ, the two headed girl, and had an eye for freaks. When the Tony Pastor show reached Florida, Stone & Murray's circus came there, and the old inhabitants will remember Stone & Murray's show. It was contemporaneous with Dan Rice's, Thayer & Noyes' and afterward with the John Robinson circus. With Stone & Murray was Isaac W. Sprague, the living skeleton. Mr. Sprague had been discovered by Barnum in Massachusetts. He was the first living skeleton on record since the discovery of the world by Adam. And Sprague was a real living skeleton too. He was nothing but skin and bones, yet he was healthy and jolly.

In 1865 Barnum collected several centes, including Sprague, and sent them for a tour of the world. Sprague was the big card. Next to him was a skeleton woman, nearly as attenuated as Sprague, whose name was Elizabeth Sackett. Among the other freaks with which Barnum expected to do and did astonish the world was Joyce Heth, the colored woman he picked up in the south, supposed to be 125 years old; the "woolly horse," and Annie Swan, the first giantess ever on exhibition.

Sprague, on the steamer going over to London, fell desperately in love with a skeleton woman. She returned his affection, and, according to Manager Sackett, who was on the voyage, it was a sight for the sentimental to observe the billing and cooing of these attenuated specimens of Pharaoh's "lean kins." The love affair gave Barnum a business hint, which he was not slow to take advantage of. On their arrival in dear old London the showman advertised and heralded the astounding fact far and wide that on a certain day there could be seen at St. James hall (where they were showing) something that the world had never before witnessed, namely, the marriage of two living, breathing skeletons. He also announced the fact that never before in the annals of show business had such a thing as the wedding of freaks been performed in public. This was a fact too.

Of the enthusiastic crowds which such a unique amusement drew, or the interesting conduct of the living skeletons, wedded in the presence of "assembled thousands," Manager Sackett is silent. But he tells of a fact, however, which is of much interest that was recorded in medical works, but never before has been the subject of newspaper publication. That was that a year after the marriage of the skeletons the wife bore a child which also was a "living skeleton."

Stranger still to relate—but Sackett stakes his fortune on the truth of it—two other children were also born to Mr. and Mrs. Sprague, and they were also of the skeleton mold. For many years afterward the parents traveled with their unnaturally thin offspring, and added to the stock of the world's astonishment, including both crowned heads and those that were bald. The original Sprague and his wife are dead, but the three skeleton children, now young men, are showing about the country, healthy, happy and rich.

This is the only case or succession of cases in medical annals where a father and mother transmitted the disease of wasting atrophy to their offspring.

Mr. Sackett also tells of another weird case that came under his observation in his prizing show days. Major Burnell, a celebrated showman of the sixties, found a pair of freak twins in the south, the offspring of colored people. One of the twins, a boy, was black as Kongo stock. The other, a girl, was a pure albino. The major engaged the twins for his show and exhibited them for years. The albino girl grew up and married an albino in the west. The offspring of the marriage was a baby as black as the ace of spades. Of course this enhanced the showing price of Charley and his albino wife, and Major Burnell increased their salaries accordingly.

D. K. Prescott was the discoverer of the far famed Sleeping Beauty, whom he found in Tennessee in the sixties. He brought her to St. Louis. She was a young girl of surprising beauty, with but one fault discoverable. She slept ten tenths of the time. She was the greatest puzzle the medical men had ever seen. It was one of these latter who deprived her of a fortune and Prescott of one of his most popular curiosities. The young doctor was left alone in the show room one day while the beauty was sleeping as usual. His curiosity prompted him to take out his lancet and puncture her arm. The blood started out and the beauty awoke with a scream. Her mother rushed in from an adjoining room. Seeing that her daughter's blood was flowing, she shouted away. This ended the showing of the Sleeping Beauty. Her mother took her home, and she never slept in public any more.—Buffalo Courier.

THEIR OWN PHYSICIANS.

Sold Doctoring Promoted by the Use of Medicines in Compressed Tablets.

Not only has the general introduction of medicine in the form of compressed tablets simplified the work of the doctor, but it has also vastly promoted self doctoring. The number of remedies put up in this form for popular use constantly increases. Many druggists make a specialty of these things. You see them displayed near the soda water fountain, put up in small bottles and sold at prices that must yield a handsome profit. Half a dozen remedies for indigestion are thus sold, some containing pepsin as the active principle, others containing soda mint, some bismuth, some charcoal or more powerful disinfectants. Some are designed to remove acidity of the stomach; others to attack a catarrhal condition. Others are sold as stomachics and still others are to promote one or another natural function. A dozen headache cures are sold in this fashion, and the different emollients for the throat are almost innumerable. There are grip tablets, liver tablets, heart, lung and brain tablets. Persons who have exhausted patent medicines all their lives buy these tablets of one sort or another, because most of them are supposed to be well recognized remedies. Most of the tablets are advertised only in medical journals, in accordance with the requirements of the medical code, and many of them, no doubt, have obtained their popularity through their use by reputable physicians.

Quinine, which is now extremely cheap, is sold largely in the form of two grain pills or in larger pills containing iron. Although believed by many physicians to be a dangerous remedy, it has long been self prescribed by all sorts of persons, especially in malarial regions, and it is one of the remedies most frequently bought without prescription. It is self prescribed for malarial in its many forms, to check the progress of the disease, and as a tonic. Stimulants of one sort or another are sold in this form, but more especially perhaps at the soda fountain, which has become a sort of medical dispensary. Many headache remedies are dispensed at the soda fountain. Some are recommended or suggested by the attendant, many persons have their favorites among the various sedatives and febrifuges, and some are called for as regularly as the fruit syrups. New remedies are constantly introduced through the soda fountains, and many old ones have long been included in the annually lengthening list of the soda water dispensers.—New York Sun.

IN A BALLOON.

The Sensations That Are Superinduced by Its Rising and Falling.

A dim sunlight strikes us in the balloon. Suddenly we realize we are in bright sunshine again, with feecy white clouds below us and a deep blue sky above. Look at the shadows of the sign on the clouds! See the light prismatic colors like a halo around the shadow of the car. Here we are all alone, in perfect silence, in the depths of a great abyss—massive clouds towering up on all sides, a snowy white mass below. But no sign of earth—no sign of any living human. Not a sound, not a sign of life! What peace! What bliss! Horror! What's that report? The balloon must have burst. Oh, nonsense! Keep still! It's only a fold of the stuff nipped by the netting being suddenly released; that's all.

Well, we are falling, for see the bits of paper apparently ascending. And we must take care, for the coldness and dampness of this cloud will cause the gas to contract, and we shall fall rapidly. So get a bag of ballast ready, for we are already in the darkness of the cloud. Now the gas bag shrinks and the writer, and the lower folds rattle together, and it gets darker. You can feel the breeze blowing upward against your face or hand held over the edge of the car. Well, that's not to be wondered at, for remember we are falling, say 1,000 feet a minute, which is the same thing as if we were going along ten miles an hour sitting in a dogcart. Not quite the same, you say—you'd sooner be in the cart? Well, perhaps if the horse were going straight at a wall, without the possibility of being able to stop him, you would think otherwise. But look! There is the earth again; so out with your ballast. Grasp! For out there's no good economizing.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Mark Twain's Latest.

The authorship of "The Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc," which has been appearing serially in Harper's Monthly during the last year, and which has been credited to nearly every well known author, is finally determined. Volume 6 of the National Encyclopedia of American Biography, a work of such accuracy that it may be considered official, contains a new biography of Mr. Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) which enumerates this work in the list of his publications.

Good Digestion.

A good digestion is as truly obligatory as a good conscience; pure blood is as truly a part of manhood as a pure plenty; a vigorous brain is as necessary to useful living as a vigorous will, which it often helps to make vigorous, and a well ordered skin is the first condition of that cleanliness which is next to godliness.—H. W. Beecher.

IN THE HEATER PIPE.

THE RETIRED BURGLAR RELATES HIS MOST SINGULAR EXPERIENCE.

He Had an Elegant Lay Out of Wedding Presents at His Mercy When He Made an Unfortunate Step—in the End He Made a Contribution to the Collection.

"In a house that I was looking over in a town up the state one night," said the retired burglar, "I came across something that I never struck but that once in all my experience, strange as it might seem, all just as they were arranged for display. When I turned my lamp into the room, I wished I had brought a horse and wagon; there was a good deal of it that wouldn't have been any early use to me, but it seemed a pity to leave any of it behind. But if I couldn't carry it all off, I could have the fun of picking, and I started to look the things over. They were arranged on tables and chairs and on the floor around on three sides of the room on the side opposite to the side that I had come in at, and on the left in some places were chairs running around those three sides in a sort of irregular order. On the side where I was there were a few chairs. I thought I'd start in on the left and work around to the right, and I started from the door and had gone about three steps when I saw some persons who had been watching those three sides in a sort of irregular order.
