He Made a Sale.

Yankee hustle has perhaps rarely been better exemplified than in the case of a sewing machine agent who exploited the vicinity of Dever, Me. He tackled a honse in which lived an old bachelor who hadn't a sewing machine. The agent was persistent and the hacheler obdurate until finally the latter said he positively wouldn't buy a machine unless a woman to run it was also provided. Then the agent hunted around and in six weeks had found an elderly but excellent maiden lady, who had been waiting for some good man to speak out to her, and actually succeeded in getting her married to the bachelor. Then he made a sale of a machine, though it might seem that he ought to have given one to the bride as a present. This story is vouched for by the Maine papers -Exchange.
