Delicate Children

They do not complain of anything in particular. They eat enough, but keep thin and pale. They appear fairly well, but have no strength.

What can be done for them? Our answer is the same that the best physicians have been giving for a quarter of a century. Give them Scott's Emulsion.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

Issued by President McKinley Friday of Last Week.

The President last Friday issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation: By the President of the United States:—A proclamation: The approaching November brings to mind the custom of our ancestors, hallowed by time and rooted by our most sacred traditions, of giving thanks to Almighty God for all the blessings He has vouchsafed to us during the past year.

Few years in our history has afforded such cause for thanksgiving. We have been blessed by abundant harvests, our trade and commerce have been wonderfully increased, our public credit has been improved and strengthened, all sections of our common country have been brought together and knitted into closer bonds of national purpose and unity.

The skies have been for a time darkened by the cloud of war; but as we were compelled to take up the sword in the cause of humanity, we are permitted to rejoice that the conflict has been of brief duration and the losses we have had to mourn, though grievous and important, have been so few, considering the great results accomplished, as to inspire us with gratitude and praise to the Lord of Hosts. We may land and magnify His holy name that the cessation of hostilities came so soon as to spare both sides the countless sorrows and disasters that attend protracted wars.

I do, therefore, invite all my fellow citizens, as well as those who may be at sea or sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe Thursday, the twenty-fourth day of November, as a day of national thanksgiving, to come together in their several places of worship for a service of praise and thanks to Almighty God for all the blessings of the year, for the mildness of seasons and the fruitfulness of the soil, for the continued prosperity of the people, for the devotion and valor of our countrymen, for the glory of our victory and the hope of a righteous peace, and to pray that the divine guidance which has brought us heretofore to safety and honor may be graciously continued in the years to come. In witness whereof, etc.,

WILLIAM MCKINLEY. By the President, JOHN HAY, Secretary of State.

Electric Party. The editor of the COURIER had the pleasure of attending an election party at the home of Postmaster Ed. A. Mellon Tuesday night, which was composed of just six Republicans and six Democrats. A very pleasant evening was spent in playing progressive pedro when all were escorted to a table heavily laden with refreshments, turkey and other delicacies of the season, which were highly enjoyed by the guests. The remainder of the evening was spent in receiving the election returns, discussing the situation and seeing who could tell the biggest yarn.—Wm. Stratiff, of course, carrying away the medal. At a somewhat late hour all departed for their homes, declaring that they had never before spent such an enjoyable evening and thanking Mr. and Mrs. Mellon for their kind hospitality, which will always be remembered by the boys.
