The Mystery of Warts.

When a youngster of 10 years, I was visited by a plague of warts. From my earliest recollection I had had on my middle finger an old daddy wart, but at the age of 10 this had multiplied to 40 or more, one being on my lip and one on my chin. I was considerably worried over my growing family of excrescences, and one day a woodchopper in my father's employ, who acted queerly, never wearing a hat, for instance, said that he could take the warts away with him. I was quite willing to have him try, and he took me to a quiet spot under a willow tree, from which he cut a number of small branches and these he cut again into little bits of an inch in length, making a notch in each one, and this notch he set down over each wart, having at last a collection of 40 or more of these little notched sticks. These he put into his pocket, saying that he would never say just when the prophecy was fulfilled, but within three weeks there wasn't a wart on my face or hands; and there has not been one since that time. What I want to know now, as I did then—and the confounder would not tell me what did it. I have spoken to many doctors about it, but they merely laugh, as though I was giving them a "pipe talk," and yet the warts went away, and all the medicine I had ever tried on them had no effect whatever.—New York Sun.

His Draft.

A Methodist minister visited the Queen Lane pumping station the other day. When he reached the engine room, the engineer said: "What I'm proud of here is my draft. Here she is. Look at her!" He raised a trapdoor in the floor, discovering a black hole about a foot square, and the minister looked in and only a woodchopper in my father's employ, who acted queerly, never wearing a hat, for instance, said that he could take the warts away with him.

One Thing They Didn't Have.

E. H. Sothern tells a good story of his father, the famous Dundreary. When ever the elder Sothern arrived at a town, one of his first means of diversion was to stroll about the streets and have fun with the natives. He was in Chicago during its earliest days, and one day he saw a sign over an undertaker's establishment which read "Everything Furnished For First Class Funerals." (Going inside, he inquired, "Do you furnish everything for funerals?" "Yes, sir," replied the clerk. "Then I want a coffin." "Do you want carriages too?" "Yes, have five carriages ready." "Certainly, sir. Anything else?" "Three dozen chairs." "Anything else?" "You might have a bears head. And now I would like to look at a corpse." The clerk was amazed. "Now," said Sothern, "you advertise to furnish everything for funerals. If you can't do the thing thoroughly, I shall have to patronize another store." And, wishing the clerk good day, the comedian departed.

A Slight For Sockcloth and Ashes.

If there is one thing that America has to be ashamed of, it is the neglected state of her shipping, says H. Phelps Whitmarsh in The Atlantic. "It is a disgrace to the nation. No wonder the foreigner opens his eyes in amazement, no wonder the ancient mariners of the seas frown at the month when they speak of it. The sight of gray old Salem with its empty harbor, its deserted, rotting wharfs and not a deep water pier to its name. The sight of this historic port alone is enough to make any patriotic American go out into the highway in sackcloth and ashes."

Queer Origin of a Hotel.

They say that the best hotel in Texas is to be found at Belton, a town on the Santa Fe road and is kept by "seven sanctified sisters," as the proprietors are popularly called. Several years ago a woman in the place had her husband quarrel over the best way of expanding the Scriptures to a Sunday school class and were so stubborn that they separated and were finally divorced. This family controversy was taken up by the town, which was divided directly between the adherents of the wife, and seven husbandless women, including the original cause of the contention, joined together and rented the town hotel. One of them did the cooking, another was parlor maid, a third made up the beds, and so they divided the work among them and ran the establishment on the co-operative plan.—Chicago Record.

Other Dangers.

"What are you reading about?" asked the man with the wisest manner. "The stock market," replied the youth. "Don't do it." "But I never put up any money. Therefore I can't lose." "It makes no difference. You're likely to become one of those people who tell how much money they would have made if they had only done what they came pretty near doing, because they didn't see how things could go otherwise. And then even your best friends will wish sometimes that you would bet your money and lose it, and keep still about it."—Washington Star.

A Tiny Bale of Hay.

Alfred C. Webber of Lisbon Center, Me., has in his possession a small bale of hay, about 8 inches long and 4 inches deep and wide, and one of the reasons why Mr. Webber keeps this hay in his best room is because it is nicely wired and put between thin pieces of boards so that no chaff can escape, but chiefly because the hay was cut as far back as 1749, on the John Rogers farm in Kittery. It was haled up by Mr. T. Traf-ton, who was a native of Kittery, and who is now a dealer in Massachusetts.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents or one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, if you send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure and mention that you read this generous offer in the PATTON COURIER.

RECAPS ON A TECHNICALITY.

The Blakely (Ga.) Reporter says there is a man in Early county who has been relieved of road duty for years on a "technicality." It is customary to summon a man to work the road nearest to where he sleeps and has his clothing washed. As this man has never been seen with so much as a clean shirt on, the supposition is that he has no washing done, and he is relieved of road duty. We know of no better recaps.
